

Ronald Reagan Presidential Library
Digital Library Collections

This is a PDF of a folder from our textual collections.

WHORM Subject File Code: FO006
(Foreign Affairs: International Conferences)
Case File Number(s): 541107 (1 of 3)
Box: 11

To see more digitized collections visit:
<https://reaganlibrary.gov/archives/digital-library>

To see all Ronald Reagan Presidential Library inventories visit:
<https://reaganlibrary.gov/document-collection>

Contact a reference archivist at: reagan.library@nara.gov

Citation Guidelines: <https://reaganlibrary.gov/citing>

National Archives Catalogue: <https://catalog.archives.gov/>

541107

0000

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 15, 1988

Dear Mr. Forte:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Right Honorable Rocco Forte
Chief Executive
TrustHouse Forte
166 High Holborn
London WC2
England

54110755

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 15, 1988

MEMORANDUM FOR SUZIE TALAAT
OFFICE OF PRIVATE SECTOR INITIATIVES

FROM: C. DEAN MCGRATH, JR. W. J. McG
ASSOCIATE COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Private Sector Initiatives' British-American
Conference: Invitation to Rocco Forte

Counsel's office has reviewed the letter of invitation to Mr. Forte to attend the Private Sector Initiatives' British-American Conference. While we have no specific objection to the proposed invitee, we could not, in the limited time available, investigate whether it would be appropriate for the President to personally invite Mr. Forte.

541107

F0006

(11)

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Ms. Austin:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Ms. Virginia ^XAustin
President
Association of Junior Leagues
825 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10022

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Mr. Mark:

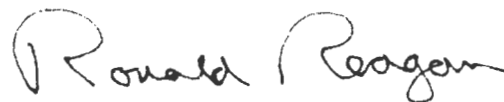

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Rueben Mark
Chairman, President and
Chief Executive Officer
Colgate Palmolive Company
300 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10022

E WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Mr. Morrow:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard M. Morrow
Chairman and
Chief Executive Officer
Amoco Corporation
200 East Randolph Drive
Chicago, Illinois 60601

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Mr. Spencer:

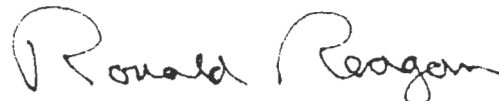

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edson W. Spencer
Chairman and
Chief Executive Officer
Honeywell, Inc.
Honeywell Plaza
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55408

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Mr. Whittemore:

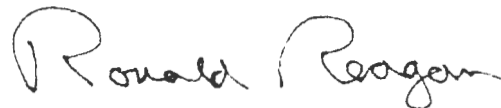

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edward W. Whittemore
Chairman and
Chief Executive Officer
American Brands, Inc.
1700 East Putnam Avenue
Old Greenwich, Connecticut 06879

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear John:

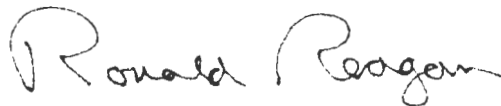

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. John M. Richman
Chairman and
Chief Executive Officer
Kraft, Inc.
Kraft Court
Glenview, Illinois 60025

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Mr. Hall:

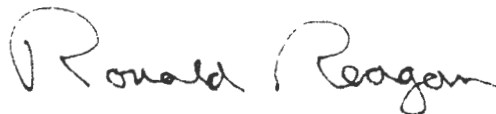

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Donald J. Hall
Hallmark Cards
25th and McGee Streets
Kansas City, Missouri 64108

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Mr. Mills:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robin D. Mills
President
Glenbrook Laboratories
90 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10016

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

MEMORANDUM FOR PAT THOMAS

FROM: SUZIE TALAAT
SUBJECT: Additional Presidential Invitations

I would like to request a Presidential invitation for the following people
(Presidential salutations are indicated):

Ms. Austin
Ms. Virginia Austin
President
Association of Junior Leagues
825 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Mr. Mark
Mr. Rueben Mark
Chairman, President and CEO
Colgate Palmolive Company
300 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Mr. Morrow
Mr. Richard M. Morrow
Chairman and CEO
Amoco Corporation
200 East Randolph Drive
Chicago, Illinois 60601

Mr. Spencer
Mr. Edson W. Spencer
Chairman and CEO
Honeywell, Inc.
Honeywell Plaza
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55408

Mr. Whittemore
Mr. Edward W. Whittemore
Chairman and CEO
American Brands, Inc.
1700 East Putnam Avenue
Old Greenwich, Connecticut 06879

John
Mr. John M. Richman
Chairman and CEO
Kraft, Inc.
Kraft Court
Glenview, Illinois 60025

Mr. Hall
Mr. Donald J. Hall
Hallmark Cards
25th and McGee Streets
Kansas City, Missouri 64108

Mr. Mills
Mr. Robin D. Mills
President
Glenbrook Laboratories
90 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10016

~~Max
The Honorable Maxwell Rabb
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Rome
Via Veneto 119a
00817 Roma
Italia~~

omit

TO: REVIEW UNIT
~~STRIPPING DESK~~

OTHER Suzi
x6676

LETTER NUMBER PSI/RR invite Addons

LETTERS DATED 04/11/88

NUMBER OF LETTERS 8

DISKETTE 4PGR

INITIALS jfc

Please change the date of the conference from
May 2-4, to May 2-3
Thank you!

Erin

Dear:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public-private partnerships and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2³, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

RR

rec'd
4/11/88
RR in or out

541107 (11)
F0006

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Don:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Mr. Donald Koll
President and
Chief Executive Officer
Koll Development Corporation
901 Via Lido Soud
Newport Beach, California 92663

RETURNED TO Jalaat Per Mc G... ON NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

880411.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 11, 1988

Dear Don:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Donald Koll
President and
Chief Executive Officer
Koll Development Corporation
901 Via Lido Soud
Newport Beach, California 92663

Handwritten signature
4/11/88

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Date: 4-12-88

TO: Central Files -

FROM: C. DEAN McGRATH, Jr.
Associate Counsel
to the President

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Carr:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Mr. Oliver T. Carr, Jr.
Chairman
The Oliver Carr Company
Suite 900
1700 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006

RETURNED TO
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

Salaat
per McEnrth ON _____

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear John:

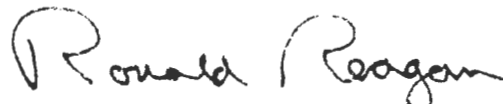

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Honorable John J. Creedon
Chairman of the Board
Metropolitan Life
One Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10010

Salut per Dick Smith

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Douglas:

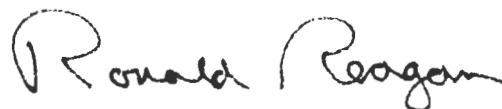

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

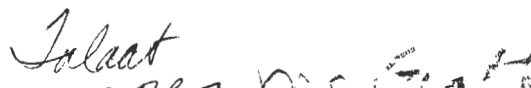

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Honorable C. Douglas Dillon
Brungs and Company
Room 2300
1270 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10020

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Furlaud:

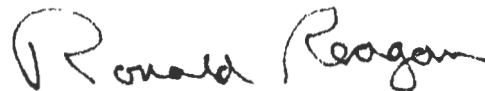

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard M. Furlaud
Chairman of the Board and CEO
Squibb Corporation
Post Office Box 4000
Princeton, New Jersey 08543

Jalaat
RETURNED TO per [unclear]
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

ON

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Hennessy:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edward L. Hennessy, Jr.
Chairman of the Board
Allied-Signal Incorporated
Post Office Box 300R
Morristown, New Jersey 07960

Salant
RETURNED TO per [unclear]

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Houghton:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Mr. James R. Houghton
Chairman and CEO
Corning Glass Works
Corning, New York 14831

880412

Talant
RETURNED TO per Mc Grath
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

OK

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Lang:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Mr. Eugene M. Lang
President and CEO
REFAC Technology Development
Corporation
Room 1007
122 East 42nd Street
New York, New York 10168

RETURNED TO Salat per
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM. Mc Guath

ON

380412

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Bill:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

General William Lyon, USAF
Chairman
William Lyon Company
19 Corporate Plaza
Newport Beach, California 92660

880419

RETURNED TO Jalaat ON _____ NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

per McGrath

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Mills:

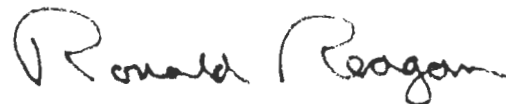

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robin D. Mills
President
Glenbrook Laboratories
90 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10016

RETURNED TO Sabat per 19-05-76 ON _____
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Spanos:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Mr. Alex G. Spanos
Chairman of the Board
A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.
1341 West Robinhood Drive
Stockton, California 95207

RETURNED TO Calcutt per [unclear] ON _____
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

April 12, 1988

Dear Mr. Watt:

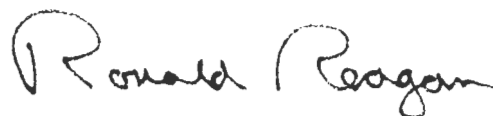

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 3, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Raymond A. Watt
Chairman of the Board and CEO
Watt Industries, Inc.
2716 Ocean Park Boulevard
Santa Monica, California 90405

RETURNED TO
NOT REVIEWED BY ORM.

Salat per Mc Guffe

ON _____

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 1, 1988

MEMORANDUM FOR PAT THOMAS

FROM: SUZIE TALAAT ST

SUBJECT: Additional Presidential Invitations

I would like to request a Presidential invitation for the following people
(Presidential salutations are indicated):

Mr. Atwater
Mr. Horace B. Atwater, Jr.
Chairman of the Board and CEO
General Mills, Inc.
P.O. Box 1113
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440

Mr. Gates
Mr. William Gates, III
Chairman and CEO
Microsoft
16011 Northeast 36th Way
Redmond, Washington 98073

Mr. Hoch
Mr. Orion L. Hoch
Chairman and CEO
Litton Industries
360 North Crescent Drive
Beverly Hills, California 90210

Mr. Howell
Mr. William R. Howell
Chairman and CEO
J.C. Penny Company, Inc.
1301 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10019

Jim
Mr. James E. Olson
Chairman of the Board and CEO
AT&T
550 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10022

541107
FOO06

May 2 - May 4 of British - American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives

Same condition as 3/3/88
*- No legal objection
John H.*

page 2

Mr. Rawl
Mr. Lawrence G. Rawl
Chairman fo the Board
Exxon Corporation
1251 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10020

Mr. Weadock
Mr. Daniel P. Weadock
Executive Vice President
ITT Corporation
320 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Mr. Weaver
Mr. Charles Weaver
Chief Executive Officer
Clorox Company
P.O. Box 24305
Oakland, California 94623

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 31, 1988

Dear Mr. Atwater:

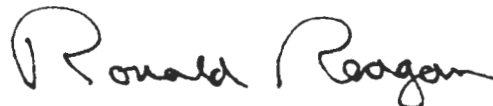

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Horace B. Atwater, Jr.
Chairman of the Board and
Chief Executive Order
General Mills, Inc.
Post Office Box 1113
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440

EF

541107 (4)
FC116

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 29, 1988

Dear Mr. Magowan:

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Peter^V Magowan
Chief Executive Officer
Safeway
Fourth and Jackson Streets
Oakland, California 94660

880329

E WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 29, 1988

Dear Mr. Miller:

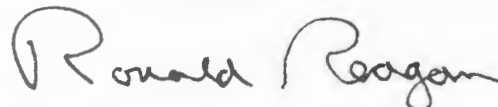

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. William R. Miller
Vice Chairman of the Board
Bristol-Meyers Company
345 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10154

880329

880329

E WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 29, 1988

Dear Mr. Oreffice:

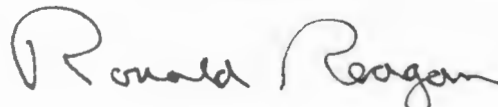

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Paul F. Oreffice
President and
Chief Executive Officer
Dow Chemical Company
2030 Dow Center
Midland, Michigan 48671

880329

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 29, 1988

Dear Mr. Stafford:

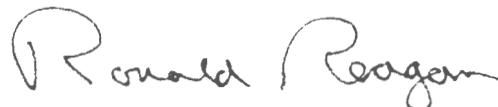

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Stafford
Chairman of the Board and
Chief Executive Officer
The Pillsbury Company
Pillsbury Center
200 South Sixth Street
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402

922229

WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 29, 1988

Dear Mr. Zimmerman:

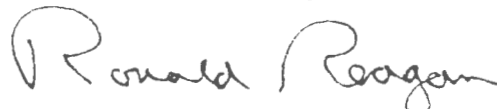

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Richard M. Zimmerman
Chief Executive Officer
Hershey Foods
100 Mansion Road, East
Hershey, Pennsylvania 17033

880329

FE

541107 (6)
FO006

W/S

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 23, 1988

MEMORANDUM FOR PAT THOMAS

FROM: SUZIE TALAAT ST

SUBJECT: Additional Presidential Invitations

I would like to request a Presidential invitation for the following people
(Presidential salutations are indicated):

Dr. Auletta
Mr. Giovanni Auletta Armenise
President
Banca Nazionale dell'Agricoltura
Via Salaria 231
00198 Roma
Italia

Mr. Staniar
Mr. Burton B. Staniar
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
Westinghouse Broadcasting Company, Inc.
888 Seventh Avenue
New York, New York 10106

British American Conference on PST

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 22, 1988

Dear Dr. Auletta:

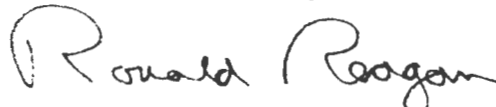

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Ronald Reagan". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned below the word "Sincerely,".

Dr. Giovanni Auletta Armenise
President
Banca Nazionale dell'Agricoltura
Via Salaria 231
00198 Roma
Italia

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 22, 1988

Dear Mr. Staniar:

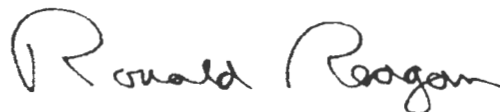

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Mr. Burton B. Staniar
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
Westinghouse Broadcasting Company, Inc.
888 Seventh Avenue
New York, New York 10106

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

March 22, 1988

MEMORANDUM FOR PAT THOMAS

FROM: SUZIE TALAAT

SUBJECT: Additional Presidential Invitations

I would like to request a Presidential invitation for the following people
(Presidential salutations are indicated):

Rick
The Honorable Richard R. Burt
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Bonn
Derchmanns Avenue
5300 Bonn 2
Federal Republic of Germany

Max
The Honorable Maxwell Rabb
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Rome
Via Veneto 119A
00817 Roma
Italia

Jeff
The Honorable Geoffrey Swaebe
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Belgium
27 Boulevard du Regent
B-1000 Brussels
Belgium

Joe
The Honorable Joe Rodgers
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in France
2 Avenue Gabriel
75382 Paris
Cedex 08
France

FROM
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C.

880322

The Honorable Richard R. Burt
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Bonn
Derchmanns Avenue
5300 Bonn 2
Federal Republic of Germany

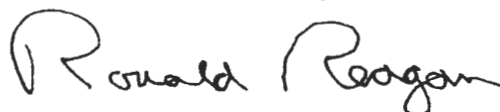

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Richard R. Burt
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Bonn
Derchmanns Avenue
5300 Bonn 2
Federal Republic of Germany

FROM
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C.

880322

The Honorable Maxwell Rabb
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Rome
Via Veneto 119A
00817 Roma
Italia

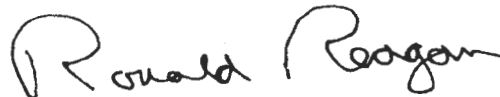

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Maxwell Rabb
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Rome
Via Veneto 119A
00817 Roma
Italia

FROM
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C.

880322

The Honorable Joe Rodgers
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in France
2 Avenue Gabriel
75382 Paris
Cedex 08
France

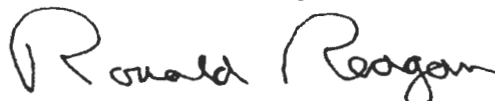

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Joe Rodgers
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in France
2 Avenue Gabriel
75382 Paris
Cedex 08
France

FROM
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C.

880322

The Honorable Geoffrey Swaebe
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Belgium
27 Boulevard du Regent
B-1000 Brussels
Belgium

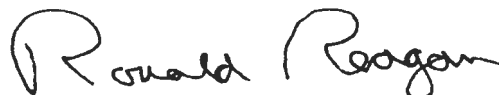

As governments around the world continue to examine new approaches to public problems, they are increasingly discovering how much can be accomplished through voluntary action in the private sector. In the United States, our program has focused on methods to expand charitable giving, personal voluntarism, public/private partnerships, and corporate social responsibility.

In our continuing dialogue with British leaders in the business and charitable communities, we have discovered many common interests between our two countries and have learned much from each other's successes.

In order to continue this progress, on May 2 - May 4, 1988, a British-American Conference on Private Sector Initiatives will be held in London, England. The Conference will be attended by business leaders and government officials from our two countries. His Royal Highness Prince Charles and Prime Minister Thatcher have cooperated in planning this Conference with leaders of philanthropic organizations in the United States and Great Britain. I am particularly pleased that my wife Nancy will also be addressing this unique Conference.

I heartily endorse this meeting, and I hope you will seriously consider attending. It will provide an unprecedented opportunity for the business and philanthropic leaders from both nations to discuss new solutions to the important challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Geoffrey Swaebe
American Ambassador
U.S. Embassy in Belgium
27 Boulevard du Regent
B-1000 Brussels
Belgium