Dear Father Sarelis:

Your letter of May 20, 1981, written to President Reagan on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Costas Kassapis and their missing son, Andreas Kassapis has been referred to me for response.

The question of Americans missing in Cyprus since the events of 1974 has been of great concern to the United States Government. We have made numerous high level inquiries regarding these Americans and have been repeatedly assured that there are no Americans being held in Turkey or in the northern sector of Cyprus as a result of the hostilities of 1974. On the general issue of missing persons, you may be interested to know that on April 22, Ambassador Hugo Gobbi, Special Representative of the UN Secretary General on Cyprus, announced intercommunal agreement on the terms of reference for a Committee on Missing Persons. We expect the date for the first meeting will be fixed soon after coordination with the International Committee of the Red Cross and appointment of Committee on Missing Persons members.

In our view, the issue of missing persons can only be conducted with the cooperation of both Cypriot communities. Consequently, we are gratified by the United Nations' announcement and hope that subsequent discussion will resolve questions on missing persons of great concern to both communities.

The specific case you refer to, that of Andreas Kassapis, has been the subject of repeated reviews. It is our understanding that the report referred to in your letter of a released prisoner having met Andreas Kassapis in a Turkish prison is many years old. It was investigated at that time and unable to be substantiated. We continue, however, to seek information on the issue of missing Americans, although there have been no recent developments. We regret the absence of any definitive information about Andreas Kassapis, but we expect that the Missing Persons Committee will be able to address his case during the course of its work and hope this review will provide conclusive information.

Sincerely,

C. Edward Dillery
Director, Office of

Dear Mr. President,

It is with a heavy heart and yet with a glimmer of hope that I address myself to you at this time on behalf of my parishioners, Mr. & Mrs. Costas Kassapis and their son Andreas (Andrew). I trust that this letter will reach your desk and your personal attention as opposed to being laid to rest in an aide's file.

Mr. President, as a non-Republican who cast his vote for you and in the promise that your candidacy represented namely the returns of those conservative ideals which have made America great in the history of civilization, I appeal to you to use your influence and the prestige of your office to locate Andreas Kassapis, an American citizen of Cypriot descent whose whereabouts is unknown since his capture, detention and subsequent imprisonment on August 21, 1974 during his summer vacation when Turkey invaded the island of Cyprus.

Andreas' name was among those acknowledged as being held by the Turkish forces and soon to be released not long after the initial invasion, but this was subsequently denied officially by Turkey. Perhaps you may not be aware of the fact, but Andreas is one of eight Americans who were known to be in the custody of the occupational Turkish military authorities on Cyprus and are now "missing persons". Recently a released prisoner revealed that he met Andreas in a Turkish prison on the mainland of Turkey. It is my understanding that our State Department has a file on this entire issue.

I appeal to you once again, Mr. President, to press for Andreas' release so that he may be reunited with his family.

Sincerely yours,

Rev. Charles P. Sarelis
Protopresbyter

Dear Mr. Suvar:

The White House has asked me to reply to your June 9 cable to President Reagan concerning the recent performances of the Turkish State Folk Dance Ensemble in the United States.

The Department of State was delighted to have this prestigious troupe make its first American tour as an official guest of the United States Government. We regret exceedingly that the four scheduled performances in California were cancelled. Fortunately, the two performances in Washington and New York took place without difficulty. Those appearances won enthusiastic critical acclaim and did much to enhance popular awareness of the rich cultural heritage of Turkey.

Despite initial difficulties, the American tour of the Turkish State Folk Dance Ensemble ended on a decidedly high note. On the whole, the tour was an outstanding success which further strengthened Turkish-American relations. This result is all the more gratifying in the context of the Ataturk Centennial Year, to which President Reagan paid tribute in his statement of April 2 (copy enclosed).

Sincerely,

C. Edward Dillery

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

Beginning on May 19, Turkey will launch a year of celebration to commemorate the Centennial Anniversary of the birth of Mustafa Kemal Ataturk, the Founder of the Republic of Turkey. Ataturk was a great national leader in times of war and peace. He was, and he remains, first in the hearts of his countrymen. For Turkey and its people, the Ataturk Centennial Year is as important an event as the 1976 Bicentennial was for us.

In observance of this Centennial Year, events are being planned in the United States and other countries to acknowledge the significance of Ataturk to the western world. Indeed, the turbulence of our era calls to mind the enduring wisdom of Ataturk's goal -- "Peace at Home, Peace Abroad."

The visit of Turkish Foreign Minister Turkmen in this centennial year gives us cause to take note of the great value and importance of Turkish-American relations. The United States of America and the Republic of Turkey have been firm friends and allies for more than a generation. Beginning with Harry Truman, every American President has viewed a strong and stable Turkey as an essential goal of American policy. This is no less the case in the Reagan Administration. In recent years, the United States has been working vigorously with other nations to provide Turkey the resources necessary to regain economic health and to meet its important goals as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The United States fully supports the efforts of the Turkish Government to eradicate terrorism, and to carry out basic reforms that will assure the long-term stability of Turkish democracy and the well-being of the Turkish people.

In commemorating the Ataturk Centennial, the United States and its people extend best wishes to the Republic of Turkey and its people.

SUBJECT: Briefing Materials for your Meeting with Turkish Defense Minister Bayulken Thursday, June 9, 1981, 9:30 a.m.

FB038

FB006-12

Attached are the excellent materials prepared by the State Department for the meeting. In your April 2 meeting with Turkish Foreign Minister Turkmen, the main topic of conversation was the Middle East, and the different approaches of the United States and Turkey. You listened carefully to Turkmen explain that certain members of the PLO were thoughtful statesmen. It would be worth exploring with Bayulken the Soviet threat to Southwest Asia, as opposed to the Arab-Israeli aspects. What would be Turkey's reaction to further Soviet advances toward the Persian Gulf, without any change in the Arab-Israeli situation? (C)

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
BRIEFING PAPER

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Visit of Turkish Defense Minister Bayulken:
June 9, 9:30 a.m.

I. SETTING AND OBJECTIVES

Turkey has long been a major ally because of its location and strong ties to the West and to NATO. Recent events in Southwest Asia (SWA) have enhanced that importance. Following a period of tension in the 1970's due to the arms embargo, we have restored a healthy bilateral relationship. Since last September, Turkey has had a military government led by General Evren. The Turkish people overwhelmingly support their military leaders, who are determined to lead the country back to institutional stability, democratic government, and economic health. The USG strongly supports the Evren regime in those efforts. The Turks know this, and the issue of military rule will not come up in your meeting.

The Bayulken visit is the latest high-level meeting between the Reagan Administration and the GOT. It gives us the chance to reassert undiminished USG support for Turkey, and to seek greater GOT cooperation in dealing with the broad strategic threat to Southwest Asia. Bayulken is a strong supporter of close Turkish-American ties. He is also well-connected with Turkish military leaders, who made him Defense Minister last September. Bayulken has a written message from General Evren for President Reagan. He wants a clear sign that the USG will continue high levels of aid, with maximum concessionality, for Turkey in FY-1983 and beyond. We want to stress the importance the USG attaches to meeting the threat to SWA. The Turks are increasingly willing to discuss this issue with us, so long as there is a NATO umbrella and their own defense needs receive priority in our aid program.

The Vice President's meeting will set the stage for Bayulken's talks with Secretary Weinberger on June 10 and with Acting Secretary Stoessel on June 12. The following objectives are common to all these meetings.

1. Convince Bayulken that we are making a best effort to help Turkey.
2. Make him understand the importance which the USG attaches to Southwest Asia.
3. Seek GOT understanding and patience for our defense negotiation with Greece.
4. Persuade him to support a UN-led drive for progress on Cyprus this summer.
5. Encourage Turkey to continue its dialogue with Greece to resolve bilateral differences.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

II. ISSUES

1. Reagan Administration Support for Turkey

The USG is giving strong material and political support to the GOT. Our FY-1982 security assistance proposals for Turkey--$703.5 million--are 56% above FY-1981 levels. We took the lead in putting together the $938 million OECD economic aid package for 1981. Several Western European Governments and political parties, in particular the FRG, are troubled by the absence of democracy in Turkey, and by reports of torture. These trends explain in part a growing Western European reluctance to provide aid to Turkey. We are trying to help the Turks deal with their problems in Western Europe. Bayulken knows this.

Talking Points

-- We take seriously our commitment to make a "best effort" to help Turkey

-- The FY-1982 security assistance levels for Turkey are 56% above those in FY-1981

-- The USG will continue efforts with OECD donors, and with oil-rich Arab states, to drum up more economic support for Turkey

-- We shall do our best to persuade Western Europeans of the vital importance of continued support for Turkey

-- We applaud Turkish efforts to educate influential Western European groups to the realities in Turkey

2. Cooperation in Southwest Asia

The Turks are sending mixed signals on this subject. They recognize the threat to Southwest Asia and are increasingly willing to discuss specific problems with us. However, the Turks are unwilling to commit themselves to do anything outside the traditional NATO area, and they have limited our use of Turkish facilities to NATO-related activities. We want to intensify our political dialogue with the Turks, and assure them that their national defense requirements will receive priority in our aid program.

Talking Points

-- Welcome our enhanced political dialogue on SWA, a matter of top priority for the Reagan Administration

-- Essential that the Allies agree on concrete steps to meet the strategic threat to SWA, directly or by Soviet surrogates

-- Turkey has a major role and responsibility in this effort

-- We are mindful of Turkey's requirements, and we shall find ways to work together to achieve common objectives in SWA.

3. DECA Negotiations with Greece

The Turks have expressed strong concern over certain steps we are taking in our DECA negotiation with Greece. We have kept the GOT informed of progress. The Turks fear that the GOG will use our political side letters and verbal statements to take steps in the Aegean harmful to GOT interests. Secretary Haig recently sent messages to General Evren and to Turkmen asking for GOT understanding of our requirements. The Turkish reaction has been unyielding, but somewhat muted. There may be more problems.

Talking Points

-- We are mindful of Turkey's interests and concerns

-- We ask for Turkish understanding as we seek to conclude an agreement in the interest of the entire Alliance, including Turkey

4. Cyprus

After the June 28 Turkish Cypriot elections, the UN will launch a new drive for progress in the intercommunal talks. The USG will not be out front, but it will throw its full weight behind the UN effort. The Greek Cypriot elections of May 24 did not materially change prospects for progress.

Talking Points

-- Important that Ankara support UN efforts to move the Cyprus talks forward this summer

-- We shall give our full support to the UN effort

5. Turkish-Greek Dialogue

Despite minor occasional incidents which usually involve the Aegean, Turkey and Greece are determined to continue their dialogue to work out bilateral differences. Progress has been slow. Bayulken supports rapprochement with Greece.

Talking Points

-- Applaud Turkish statesmanship in continuing this bilateral dialogue

-- The coming Greek political campaign may produce unhelpful rhetoric

-- I hope that this rhetoric will not affect Turkey's commitment to a productive dialogue with Greece

III. CONTINGENCY ISSUE

1. Turkish Folkloric Ballet

As part of the Ataturk Centennial Year celebration, the Turkish Folkloric Ballet was scheduled to make a six-city tour in the United States this month. The Ballet is an official guest of the USG. Last week, local Armenian pressures forced the cancellation of appearances in San Diego, Anaheim, and Disneyland. The Turks fear that the remaining appearances in San Francisco, Washington, and New York are in jeopardy.

Talking Points

-- Express deep regret for the cancellation in California

-- Note that local authorities make the final decisions in these cases

-- USG is in close touch with those officials to assure the safety of the Turkish Folkloric Ballet, and to enable the remaining performances to take place as scheduled

MEMORANDUM FOR THE VICE PRESIDENT

FROM: RICHARD V. ALLEN Allen

SUBJECT: Meeting with Turkish Defense Minister Bayulken

State has recommended that you schedule a brief meeting with the Turkish Defense Minister during his June 9-12 visit to Washington. You are clearly becoming the White House expert on Southeast Europe, having hosted Turkish Defense Minister Turkmen in March and Cypriot Foreign Minister Rolandis two weeks ago. (C)

I recommend you schedule, if possible, a short (20 minutes) meeting with Minister Bayulken for the reasons cited in the State memorandum: maintenance of the momentum of top-level political dialogue with Ankara. There is simply no question that Turkey is the key to our long-term strategy of opposing the Soviets in Southwest Asia. (C)

Turkish Defense Minister Bayulken will be visiting in two weeks, and State has recommended that the Vice President receive him. A short meeting would be useful in our continuing efforts to reestablish a solid relationship with Turkey. (e)

Attached for your signature is a memorandum to the Vice President forwarding and endorsing State's request. Schweitzer and Kemp both concur with State's recommendation. (e)

On a related subject, Bayulken will make the fifth high-ranking Turkish official who has visited Washington this year. As you know, there used to be a rule that for every Turk received, a Greek would be received. We have broken that iron-clad rule, which is good, but so far have not received one Greek. I anticipate that once the Defense and Economic Cooperation Agreement (DECA) now being negotiated is signed, we will receive requests for visits by President Karamanlis or Prime Minister Rallis. Rallis will especially want the visit in view of his upcoming election struggle with Papandreou. (e)

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. RICHARD V. ALLEN
 THE WHITE HOUSE

SUBJECT: Recommendation that the Vice President Meet with Turkish Defense Minister Bayulken

GOT Defense Minister Bayulken will be in Washington June 9-12, at the invitation of Secretary Weinberger. Bayulken will discuss with State and Defense officials a wide range of security issues, including implementation of the 1980 Defense and Economic Cooperation Agreement. Bayulken is also one of the key GOT policymakers on South-west Asian (SWA) problems. He has discussed SWA on several occasions with us, most recently with Secretary Weinberger at the DPC in Brussels. Bayulken will have a full day of meetings at the Pentagon on June 10. The Turkish Embassy is setting up appointments on Capitol Hill for June 11. Appointments in State are being arranged for June 12.

The Department recommends that the Vice President also receive Bayulken for a brief substantive discussion. Such a meeting would maintain the momentum of our top-level political dialogue with Ankara, and demonstrate again the Reagan Administration's commitment to a close, productive relationship with Turkey. A former Foreign Minister, Bayulken speaks fluent English. He reportedly knows the Vice President from the time they served together at the United Nations.

If the Vice President agrees to an office meeting, the Department will provide briefing material.
