Dear Tom:

It is a pleasure to invite you to dine with the White House Science Council, whose guest of honor will be Her Royal Highness Princess Chulabhorn of Thailand, on Thursday evening, May 5, at 6 p.m., in the Members Room of the National Academy of Sciences, 2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W.

The Princess will share with the dinner guests her plans, enterprises, and hopes for Thailand. She will speak about the Chulabhorn Research Center, about U.S.-Thai cooperation in research and development, and other Thai science and technology activities. I thought you would enjoy an opportunity to welcome this distinguished scientist to Washington.

The youngest child of Their Majesties King Bhumibol and Queen Sirikit, Professor Dr. H.R.H. Princess Chulabhorn is known by the Thai as their "Ambassador of Science" and has achieved recognition abroad for her research in the chemistry of natural products and their synthesis. Her two-month tour of U.S. scientific foundations, government and university research centers, and private corporate laboratories on the East and West coasts, in the Midwest, and in Texas and Utah will do much to build links between the U.S. and Thailand.

I hope that you will be able to join us.

Sincerely,

Bill

Dear Mr. Prime Minister:

It is a pleasure to write to you on the occasion of the visit of my Secretary of Commerce, C. William Verity. He is visiting Thailand to discuss U.S. trade policy and to encourage expanded exports of U.S. goods and services.

We view Thailand as an increasingly important trading partner. Your economic policies and rapid growth have made your country a model for the developing world.

I hope this visit will help strengthen our already close ties and lead to increased trade between our two nations. I look forward to hearing from Secretary Verity about your discussions.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

Dear Mr. Secretary,

I have the honour to forward herewith a Note dated 21 September 1988 from Major General Chatichai Choonhavan, the Prime Minister of Thailand, addressed to the President. I would be highly appreciative if you would be so kind as to transmit the said Note to its high destination at your earliest convenience.

Yours sincerely,

21 September B.E. 2531 (1988)

Dear Mr. President,

I very much appreciate your kind and most cordial message of September 2, which was personally conveyed to me by Secretary C. William Verity during his recent visit to Bangkok. It was indeed a great pleasure for us to have received Mr. Verity especially since it was the first time that the U.S. Secretary of Commerce has ever made an official visit to Thailand.

I certainly share your great desire to strengthen the already close ties and to further promote trade between our two countries. As I have underscored to Mr. Verity that the relationship between the United States and Thailand is always excellent, I am convinced that the very few issues which still remain pending will undoubtedly be solved amicably and satisfactorily. In fact, the spirit of cooperation and partnership has long been the hallmark of our bonds of friendship.

Please rest assured that I very much look forward to working closely with you and your Administration in making the long - standing cooperation between the United States and Thailand even more meaningful and mutually beneficial to our two peoples.

With warmest personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

Major General

(Chatichai Choonhavan)

Prime Minister of Thailand
