Biography

Biography

Katja Bullock was born and raised in Germany where she experienced the end of World War II and saw the beginnings of the Cold War and the division of Germany.

She immigrated to the United States in 1965. Upon arriving in the States, Ms. Bullock became interested in American politics. She became a citizen and registered to vote so she could participate in American democracy. Since 1976, Bullock has been part of every presidential campaign as a volunteer or paid staffer with Republican candidates. She has accumulated over 30 years of political experience.

Bullock was appointed by the Reagan Administration to the Office of Presidential Personnel where she worked organizing the vast amount of information needed for this Office. She was there for the conversion of most of the information to databases and computerized search and retrieval systems.

Bullock continued with the same position and duties in the George H.W. Bush Administration.

In 2002, Bullock accepted an assignment in Iraq as the Director of Civilian Personnel. Her efforts there helped establish the Coalition Provisional Authority government in Iraq.

In 2017, Bullock joined the Trump Administration as a Special Assistant to the President for Presidential Personnel. As the Operations Officer in the Office of Presidential Personnel, Bullock was responsible for all non-career appointments at the Office of Personnel Management, the General Services Administration, Federal Labor Relations Authority, Merit System Protection Board, and the Government Printing Office. Bullock oversaw the Correspondence Unit, the Resume Management Group, as well as the clearance and nominating process of all presidential appointments in the federal government.
