- ✓ 3. Central America-- our package was dealt with roughly in House subcommittee votes yesterday. An assessment of our legislative strategy on this might be in order.

2. Saturday radio talk-- a draft has been circulated on economic recovery.

✓ 3. School prayer-- status of efforts on the Hill. When is a vote likely? Status of Hatch's amendment?

✓ 4. Central America-- news reports state that the aid request for El Salvador will be placed on an African famine relief bill in the Senate Appropriations Committee. Outlook.

✓ 5. Minority business set-asides-- DOJ is challenging the right of Miami to have a local ordinance with a set-aside for minority contractors. This was adopted after 1980 riots there, and is similar to state and federal laws. A 3-judge circuit panel has upheld the law, but Brad Reynolds says Justice will appeal. Are we reversing our policy on minority business set-asides? How can we say only federal or state governments can have such programs?

6. Legislative calendar for the day (Oglesby).

7. Guidance problems (Speakes).

A briefing may be set up for various senators, or a background paper may be distributed, in order to remedy some confusion as to the effect of the President's amendment. Fred Fielding will check into the possibility of an op-ed piece by the Attorney General, and on the status of DOJ plans for a speech on school prayer. We will also seek to involve Secretary Bell in our school prayer efforts.	Oglesby Whittlesey Fielding Fuller

SENIOR STAFF MEETING ACTION ITEMS

ITEM	ACTION
1. Today's Schedule : A photo op will be held with Prime Minister Soares in the Oval Office; the press will also cover departure statements at 1:30.	Speakes
2. School Prayer : Although there is no firm agreement yet, a vote on the amendment will probably take place tomorrow afternoon. Any vote is expected to be close, in part due to the fact that supporters of silent prayer remain adamant for a separate vote on their proposal. Legislative Affairs will forward the names of undecided senators to OPL, and will request that the Vice President make calls on this issue. In addition, Legislative Affairs will consider whether a small White House meeting with various senators should be scheduled.	Oglesby Whittlesey
3. Target Price Freeze : The Senate will try to move this legislation today. The Administration supports the bill, including its farm credit provisions.	Oglesby
4. Water Resources Bill : On Thursday morning, a veto override attempt will be made on this legislation.	Oglesby
5. Central America : A close vote is expected on this issue today in the Senate Appropriations Committee, where we will attempt to attach our aid request to PL 480 legislation. The President has been making calls in anticipation of this vote. It was also noted that Senator Percy has written Senator Hatfield urging that no action be taken on the aid request until the authorizing committee has acted on March 27.	Oglesby McFarlane
In the House, we have been unable to reach an accommodation with Representative Fascell. His Foreign Affairs Committee will probably proceed with their mark-up of a version which we view as unsatisfactory.
6. Export Administration Act : NSC has drafted a decision memo on two key issues involved in this legislation. After appropriate White House staff review, the draft will be forwarded to the President through Darman.	McFarlane Darman
7. Bankruptcy : This legislation will probably not go to the House Rules Committee until next week.	Oglesby Fielding
8. Acid Rain : It was noted that legislation imposing a control strategy has been passed by the Senate Environment Committee by a 16-2 vote. The Administration has a number of objections to the bill.	Oglesby

- ✓ 3. Acid rain-- the Senate Environment Committee has approved a 10 year control plan, 16-2. (The last plan voted out by this committee died on the floor.) What is the outlook for this proposal?
4. Central America-- what are next steps after yesterday's successful vote in the Senate Intelligence Committee? (Senate Appropriations and House Foreign Affairs will both consider the El Salvador request today.)
- ✓ 5. Courtemanche-- a lawsuit has been filed against him in Los Angeles alleging questionable business practices. Suggest Fielding check into the impact this may have on his nomination.
