Excerpts from the Russo-Persian Friendship Treaty of February 26, 1921

(Source: League of Nations Treaty Series)

Article Five

Paragraph 2

Not to allow a third party or any organization, whatever it be called, which is hostile to the other contracting party, to import or to convey in transit across their countries material which can be used against the other party.

Paragraph 3

To prevent by all means in their power the presence within their territories or within the territories of their Allies of all armies or forces of a third party in cases in which the presence of such forces would be regarded as a menace to the frontiers, interests or safety of the other contracting parties.

Article Six

If a third party should attempt to carry out a policy of usurption by means of armed intervention in Persia, or if such power should desire to use Persian territory as a base of operations against Russia, or if a foreign power should threaten the frontiers of Federal Russia or those of its allies, and if the Persian Government should not be able to put a stop to such menace after having been once called upon to do so by Russia, Russia shall have the right to advance her troops into the Persian interior for the purpose of carrying out military operations necessary for its defense. Russia undertakes, however, to withdraw her troops from Persian territory as soon as the danger has been removed.
