Dear Ron,

On the eve of my departure from Washington, my wife, daughter and I hasten to express to you and Mrs. Reagan how deeply we appreciate the very warm hospitality you have extended to us during our brief but extremely fruitful stay in Washington. I also would like to convey through you our heartfelt thanks to the members of your Government who contributed in making this visit such a success.

The personal rapport I felt with you, Mr. President, will surely be for me an important source of strength as I continue with a renewed vigor in the task of strengthening Japan- U.S. ties yet even further. As we agreed, the strong bond between our countries will contribute tremendously to the stability and prosperity of the world.

I look forward to meeting with you again in Williamsburg in May.

I will treasure the golf set you so kindly presented to me, and look forward to a time when we can play together.

My wife and daughter join in sending our best regards to you and Mrs. Reagan.
