Ronald Reagan Presidential Library Digital Library Collections

This is a PDF of a folder from our textual collections.

Collection: Reagan, Ronald: 1980 Campaign Papers, 1965-1980

Series: XV: Speech Files (Robert Garrick and Bill Gavin)

Subseries: A: Bob Garrick File

Folder Title: 10/06/1980, New Haven, CT

Box: 434

To see more digitized collections visit: https://www.reaganlibrary.gov/archives/digitized-textual-material

To see all Ronald Reagan Presidential Library Inventories, visit: https://www.reaganlibrary.gov/archives/white-house-inventories

Contact a reference archivist at: reagan.library@nara.gov

Citation Guidelines: https://reaganlibrary.gov/archives/research-support/citation-guide

National Archives Catalogue: https://catalog.archives.gov/

Last Updated: 10/06/2023

Reagan & Bush

Reagan Bush Committee

901 South Highland Street, Arlington, Virginia 22204 (703) 685-3400

NEWS RELEASE

FOR RELEASE UPON DELIVERY:

Monday, October 6, 1980

CONTACT:

Lyn Nofziger or

Ken Towery 703-685-3630

REMARKS BY GOVERNOR RONALD REAGAN

NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

This visit to Wooster Square has been one of the most exciting of my campaign this year. Your neighborhood has old and rich tradition. You have a fine parish church, dedicated to St. Michael by your ancestors from Amalfi and Atrani who followed in the wake of Columbus to build a new life in a new land.

You have worked hard to preserve your culture, symbolized by your annual Summer Feast of St. Mary Magdalen which ties so many generations together as you keep in touch with your rich heritage.

Your senior citizens live close to their families. You have a fine parish school, where your teachers can join with parents in passing on your values and your faith to your children. To me, private education is a vital part of America, for it strengthens character and faith and promotes excellence. That's why I think the parents of children who attend private schools should be given a tax credit to help them pay the rising costs of tuition.

I am told that the fine restaurants and food shops here attract diners from all over this part of the state, because of their excellence and their strong family tradition. I don't say that one cannot eat well in a restaurant owned by some far-flung corporation, but there is something special in a family-owned restaurant, with a tradition of excellence that may go back two or three generations. You know the owner lives in the neighborhood. You know he prizes his reputation. You know the honor of his family rides on every pizza or calzone he sets before his customers. If someone is not satisfied, he does not get a form letter in the mail from New York or Chicago. He gets the owner at his tableside. That, to my mind, is the greatest virtue of small business in America: an owner who places his reputation beside his menu or his product, an owner who cherishes his neighbors, who supports the improvement of his community, who is not in business merely to earn a profit, but also to make his community fine and proud and respected.

I wish every neighborhood in America had the strong community ties that exist in Wooster Square.

But while your culture, heritage and traditions have prospered, your regional economy has not. Too many families around here and too many across the country are struggling to improve things for themselves. In many cases, they are struggling against their own government which uses their tax dollars to finance projects they don't want.

But there is a bigger threat to those people in government which is unresponsive to their needs and too eager to take their tax dollars. That threat is a government which so mismanages the nation's economy that nearly 8 million Americans are out of work. A government whose economic policies have produced a dollar worth 32¢ less than it did when Jimmy Carter took office less than four years ago. A government which has made its people forget about improvement, merely to concentrate upon economic survival.

Is there any greater tragedy, any greater waste, than a willing worker out of work? Look at what happened to the shirt company here in your neighborhood. When it closed down, six hundred of your neighbors lost their jobs.

That is bad enough when the people out of work are young workers, without families, still living with their parents at home. But just think what it means to the older, skilled worker who gets laid off. It could be the wife or sister or aunt of many of you here today. For twenty years, she labors with dedication and skill to produce a quality garment. And then, all of a sudden—out of work. Now I know there is unemployment compensation. I know there is Trade Readjustment Act Assistance. These are safety nets for unemployed, and we must make sure they are always there.

But look at what happens to that lady's pension. She's not old enough to retire. She badly needs to work a few more years to get full pension rights.

She has the skills--she is eager to put them to work--her family needs the income. What will she do?

Chances are, she won't do much of anything for the next four years if the President who made this economic disaster stays in office.

The damage to the economy around here has extended to key job producing plants all over. A division of U.S. Steel has closed; Pond Lily is closed; Armstrong Rubber will be closing. Not only are skilled factory workers losing their jobs, but this also has the effect of heavily undercutting the trucking industry.

This country simply cannot tolerate another four years of willing workers standing idle as our nation's needs go unmet.

We cannot tolerate the economic mismanagement that leaves the skilled working women of Wooster Square wondering how they will survive—how their families will survive—how they will ever have enough to retire after a long working life.

No, we cannot tolerate that, in what was once--and what can be again--the most productive economy in the world.

America must be governed once again by dedicated men and women who will implement the sound economic policies that will put the brakes on inflation—and that will create decent jobs and reliable paychecks for millions of men and women who have lost their jobs, thanks to Jimmy Carter.

The direction of those policies is clear: cutting out waste and fraud and foolish federal spending. Cutting taxes, so the private sector can once again invest in new job-creating enterprises. Cutting back on paperwork and regulation that strangles productive people.

We need to reverse the tragic errors of the Carter economic policy and bring back to America sound money, effective government, freedom of enterprise, new investment and new jobs for our people.

That's my program for America. And if I can come back, as your President, to Wooster Square four years from now, perhaps for the Festival of St. Mary Magdalen or St. Andrew the Fisherman--I am confident that I will see here not only the fine restored houses, not only the family-owned businesses, not only the civic pride and the community leadership--but also the confident faces of men and women who are working, bringing home decent paychecks and cashing them in honest dollars.

I can think of no greater reward, for any President of the United States, than that he kept his country at peace, and the people of his country at work. That he helped to strengthen the family and preserve the freedoms of his people. That he did his part to replace tension with confidence, despair with hope, anger with love, and spiritual desolation with a new faith in ourselves—in our country, and in the God who has looked over our fortunes these many years of our glory.

And with your help, and God's, I will do my best to earn that reward.

* * * * *

FROM:

BOB GARRICK

OUT AT:

2:00 PM

Sat. 4 October

Senator Paul Laxalt

Ambassador Anne Armstrong

Bill Casey

Ed Meese

Jim Baker

Bill Brock

Dean Burch (For Ambassador Bush)

Peter Dailey

Mike Deaver

Drew Lewis

Lyn Nofziger

Verne Orr

Bill Timmons

Dick Wirthlin

Congressman Tom Evans

Richard Allen

Martin Anderson

Jim Brady

Ed Gray

Others

Ray Bell

Bob Gray

Bill Morris

INFORMATION

Attached is a speech RR

will deliver in New Haven,

Conn. on Monday, 6th Oct.

(tomorrow) Please give me

your comments by Noon, Sunday

5 October.

Thank you.

This visit to Wooster Square has been one of the most exciting of my campaign this year. YOur neighborhood has old and rich tradition. You have a fine parish church, dedicated to St. Michael by your ancestors from Amalfi and Atrani who followed in the wake of Columbus to build a new life in a new land.

Your have a fine parish school, where your teachers can pass on your faith and values to your children. Your community school is a focus for activity for all ages, day, night and weekends. Your Sons of Italy preserve your culture. Your senior citizens have decent places to live close to their families. How wonderful it is when the elderly who have worked to build this fine neighborhood, can live here in their golden years honored by their children and grandchildren!

I am told that the fine restaurants and food shops here attract diners from all over this part of the state, because of their excellence and their strong family tradition. I don't say that one cannot eat well in a restaurant owned by some farflung corporation. But there is something special in a family owned restaurant, with a tradition of excellence that may go back two or three generations. You know the owner lives in the neighborhood. You know he prizes his reputation. You know the honor of his family rides on every pizza or calzone he sets before his customers. If someone is not satisfied, he does not get a form letter in the mail from New York or Chicago. He gets the owner at his tableside. That, to my mind, is the great virtue of small business in America: an owner who places his reputation beside his menu or his product, an owner who cherishes his neighbors, who supports the improvement of his community, who is not in business merely to earn a profit, but also to make his community fine and proud and respected.

I wish every neighborhood in America could flourish like

Wooster Square. There are thousands that do - and there are thousands whose people more / are struggling to improve things for themselves and their families. IN many cases they are struggling against their own government which uses their tax dollars to finance projects

they don't want.

But there is a bigger threat to those people than a government which is unresponsive to their needs and too eager to take their tax dollars. That threat is a government which so mismanages the nation's economy that nearly eight million Americans are out of work. A government whose economic policies have produced a dollar worth 32¢ less than it did when Jimmy Carter took office less than four years ago. A government which has made its people forget about improvement, merely to concentrate upon economic survival.

Is there any greater tragedy, any greater waste, than a willing worker out of work? Look at what happened to the shirt company here in your neighborhood. When it closed down, six hundred of your neighbors lost their jobs. That is bad enough when the people out of work are young workers, without families, still living with their parents at home. But just think what it means to the older, skilled worker who gets laid off. It could be the wife or sister or aunt of many of you here today. For twenty years she labors with dedication and skill to produce a quality garment. And then, all of a sudden --- out of work. Now I know there is unemployment compensation. I know there is Trade Readjustment Act assistance. These are safety nets for unemployed, and we must make sure they are always there.

But look at what happens to that lady's pension. She's not old enough to retire. She badly needs to work a few more years to get full pension rights. She has the skills -- she is eager to put them to work -- her family needs the income. What will she do?

Chances are, she won't do much of anything for the next four years if the President who made this economic disaster stays in office.

This country simply cannot tolerate another four years of willing workers standing idle as our nation's needs go unmet.

We cannot tolerate the economic mismanagement that leaves the skilled working women of Wooster Square wondering how they will survive - how their families will survive -- how they will ever have enough to retire after a long working life.

No, we cannot tolerate that, in what was once - and what can be again - the most productive economy in the world.

America must be governed once again by dedicated men and women who will implement the sound economic policies that will put the brakes on inflation -- and that will create decent jobs and reliable paychecks for millions of men and women who have lost their jobs , thanks to JImmy Carter.

The direction of those policies is clear: cutting out waste and fraud and foolish federal spending. Cutting taxes, so the private sector can once again invest in new job-creating enterprises. Cutting back on paperwork and regulation that strangles productive people.

We need to reverse the tragic errors of the Carter economic policy and bring back to America sound money, effective government, freedom of enterprise, new investment, and new jobs for our people.

That;s the Reagan program for America. And if I can come back, as your President, to Wooster Square four years from now, perhaps for the Festival of St. Marie Magdelene or St. Andrew the fisherman, I am confident that I will see here not only the fine restored houses, not only the family owned businesses, not only the civic pride and the community leadership - but also the confident faces of men and women who are working, bringing home decent paychecks and cashing them in honest dollars.

I can think of no greater reward, for any President of the United States, than that he kept his country at peace, and the people of his country at work. That he helped to strengthen the family and preserve the freedoms of his people. That he did his part to replace tension with confidence, despair with hope, anger with love, and spiritual desolation with a new faith in ourselves, in our country, and in the God who has looked over our fortunes these many years of our glory.

And with your help, and God's, I will do my best to earn that reward.

MASTER

FROM:

BOB GARRICK

OUT AT:

2:00 PM

Sat. 4 October

Lenator Paul Laxalt

Ambassador Anne Armstrong

Bill Casey

Ed Meese

Jim Baker

Bill Brock

Dean Burch

(For Ambassador Bush)

LPeter Dailey

Mike Deaver

Drew Lewis

Lyn Nofziger

Werne Orr

Bill Timmons

CDick Wirthlin

Congressman Tom Evans

Richard Allen

Martin Anderson

Jim Brady

Ed Gray

Others

Ray Bell

Bob Gray

Bill Morris

INFORMATION

Attached is a speech RR

will deliver in New Haven,

Conn. on Monday, 6th Oct.

(tomorrow) Please give me

your comments by Noon, Sunday

5 October.

Thank you.

TO: Jim Brady/ Lyn Nofziger/ Marty Anderson/ Mike Deaver

FROM: Bob Garrick

I need confirmation that you have the New Haven speech sent to Wexford yesterday Sat. 4 Oct. at 2 P.M. (1400). This is an inser

New Haven speech - alternative second paragraph for page 1 JMc 10/5

Your Sons of Italy preserve your culture. Your senior citizens have a decent place to live, close to their families. / You have a fine parish school, where your teachers can join with parents in passing on your values and your faith to your children. Private education is, to me, a vital part of America, for, far more than the public schools they strengthen character and faith and the idea of excellence. That;s why I think the parents of private and parochial school children should be given a tax credit to help them pay the rising costs of tuition. That way, it seems to me, your government can best encourage the voluntary actions of millions of parents across this land who have sacrificed to help their children get the best and most fulfilling kind of education. A private school tuition tax credit bill will be one of my early legislative priorities if I'm elected in November.

4 October / Sat.

Jim Brady, Lyn Nofziger, Martin Anderson, Mike Deaver.

FROM: Bob Garrick /

RR WOOSTER SQUARE, NEW HAVEN CT 10/6 Draft 1 JMc 10/4 1200

This visit to Wooster Square has been one of the most exciting of my campaign this year. YOur neighborhood has old and rich tradition. You have a fine parish church, dedicated to St. Michael by your ancestors from Amalfi and Atrani who followed in the wake of Columbus to build a new life in a new land.

Your have a fine parish school, where your teachers can pass on your faith and values to your children. Your community school is a focus for activity for all ages, day, night and weekends. Your Sons of Italy preserve your culture. Your senior citizens have decent places to live close to their families. How wonderful it is when the elderly who have worked to build this fine neighborhood, can live here in their golden years honored by their children and grandchildren!

I am told that the fine restaurants and food shops here attract diners from all over this part of the state, because of their excellence and their strong family tradition. I don't say that one cannot eat well in a restaurant owned by some farflung corporation. But there is something special in a family owned restaurant, with a tradition of excellence that may go back two or three generations. You know the owner lives in the neighborhood. You know he prizes his reputation. You know the honor of his family rides on every pizza or calzone he sets before his customers. If someone is not satisfied, he does not get a form letter in the mail from New York or Chicago. He gets the owner at his tableside. That, to my mind, is the great virtue of small business in America: an owner who places his reputation beside his menu or his product, an owner who cherishes his neighbors, who supports the improvement of his community, who is not in business merely to earn a profit, but also to make his community fine and proud and respected.

I wish every neighborhood in America could flourish like

Wooster Square. There are thousands that do - and there are thousands whose people
more / are struggling to improve things for themselves and their families. IN many cases they are struggling against their own government which uses their tax dollars to finance projects

they don't want.

But there is a bigger threat to those people than a government which is unresponsive to their needs and too eager to take their tax dollars. That threat is a government which so mismanages the nation's economy that nearly eight million Americans are out of work. A government whose economic policies have produced a dollar worth 32¢ less than it did when Jimmy Carter took office less than four years ago. A government which has made its people forget about improvement, merely to concentrate upon economic survival.

Is there any greater tragedy, any greater waste, than a willing worker out of work? Look at what happened to the shirt company here in your neighborhood. When it closed down, six hundred of your neighbors lost their jobs. That is bad enough when the people out of work are young workers, without families, still living with their parents at home. But just think what it means to the older, skilled worker who gets laid off. It could be the wife or sister or aunt of many of you here today. For twenty years she labors with dedication and skill to produce a quality garment. And then, all of a sudden --- out of work. Now I know there is unemployment compensation. I know there is Trade Readjustment Act assistance. These are safety nets for unemployed, and we must make sure they are always there.

But look at what happens to that lady's pension. She's not old enough to retire. She badly needs to work a few more years to get full pension rights. She has the skills -- she is eager to put them to work -- her family needs the income. What will she do?

Chances are, she won't do much of anything for the next four years if the President who made this economic disaster stays in office.

This country simply cannot tolerate another four years of willing workers standing idle as our nation's needs go unmet.

We cannot tolerate the economic mismanagement that leaves the skilled working women of Wooster Square wondering how they will survive - how their families will survive -- how they will ever have enough to retire after a long working life.

No, we cannot tolerate that, in what was once - and what can be again - the most productive economy in the world.

America must be governed once again by dedicated men and women who will implement the sound economic policies that will put the brakes on inflation — and that will create decent jobs and reliable paychecks for millions of men and women who have lost their jobs , thanks to JImmy Carter.

The direction of those policies is clear: cutting out waste and fraud and foolish federal spending. Cutting taxes, so the private sector can once again invest in new job-creating enterprises. Cutting back on paperwork and regulation that strangles productive people.

We need to reverse the tragic errors of the Carter economic policy and bring back to America sound money, effective government, freedom of enterprise, new investment, and new jobs for our people.

That;s the Reagan program for America. And if I can come back, as your President, to Wooster Square four years from now, perhaps for the Festival of St. Marie Magdelene or St. Andrew the fisherman, I am confident that I will see here not only the fine restored houses, not only the family owned businesses, not only the civic pride and the community leadership - but also the confident faces of men and women who are working, bringing home decent paychecks and cashing them in honest dollars.

I can think of no greater reward, for any President of the United States, than that he kept his country at peace, and the people of his country at work. That he helped to strengthen the family and preserve the freedoms of his people. That he did his part to replace tension with confidence, despair with hope, anger with love, and spiritual desolation with a new faith in ourselves, in our country, and in the God who has looked over our fortunes these many years of our glory.

And with your help, and God's, I will do my best to earn that reward.

Rick Alearn 203777 1329

EVENT FACT SHEET

Date: Monday, October 6, 1980

Location: New Haven, Conn.

EVENT Statement on arrival -- 5:00 pm Visit to Italian neighborhood -- 5:20 pm

REQUIRED:

Talking points
Statement	X Airport
Brief Remarks	X Neighborhood
Rally Remarks
Prepared Remarks
Speech
Other

BACKGROUND:

Purpose:

Event/Setting:

Airport Arrival -- Brief statement - Democrats for Reagan--more info to follow.

Neighborhood -- See attached.

Audience/Size:

- :

Other:

Balzano 612 7234

Political Background: To be provided by Rick Messick x. 3675

Issues Background: To be provided by John Morgan x 3705

cc: R. Garrick, G. Newell, R. Walker.

10/2/80

Update on New Haven neighborhood visit. 1:30 p.m.

Information came from Mike Balzano, approved by Greg Newell.

The Governor's motorcade will arraive at Wooster Square where the Governor will get out of his car, lay a wreath at the Columbus Statue, and then proceed on foot for a block to the meeting place of the Society of Saint Marie Magdeline. (The Governor will not go into the Catholic Church at the square which is one of the oldest, if not the oldest Catholic church in N. Am.) The Governor will go into the Society to meet with a group of clergy, Italian leaders, and labor leaders, and then go out to the portico at the same building for remarks.

Mike Balzano assures us that there will be no problems with raising a big crowd.

cc: Sally Susie

tradition - notified Ro

Small Bus Parish Festivals