Dear Senator Baker

The Radice family was delighted to hear of your recent appointment.

We hope this is the first step towards your "Presidency."

Our daughter Anne was pleased to see Suzanne recently. Anne is very busy being the director of "The National Museum of Women in the Arts." I know she would be delighted to help you in any way possible. My wife & I would also be happy to be your Bubba's Pals.

Good health & Best of Luck

Dear Mr. Baker:

This is the first time I've ever written to a politician but, being a long time admirer of yours, I felt compelled to write just to say "thank you" for accepting your new post. Having read how it may have been a personal sacrifice for you, politically speaking (and I certainly hope not), your acceptance of this position only reaffirmed my belief in you.

I'm sure I'm just one of thousands who feel you are undoubtedly the best man for the job and send my best wishes for your success in a most difficult situation.

I know you won't read this personally, but I hope that it is registered somewhere as an indication of how one appreciative American feels.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Baker

I was so happy to hear of your new appointment by the President. In our brief talk at Dick Redman's dinner in Des Moines, I was very impressed with you as a person, and I was looking forward to helping you in your run for president.

I think you will do a great job and I wish you all the luck in the world.

I hope we can sometime meet and talk again.

Dear Senator Baker,

Congratulations on your new appointment!

I was an intern in your press office while attending the George Washington University when you were the Senate Majority Leader. It was a thrilling and educational experience.

I am proud to have had the privilege to be associated in some small way with you and your successful political career.

My father, Howard W. Bleiman, was responsible for the merger of B. Ray Thompson, Sr.'s company, Elk River Resources with the Sun Company in late 1979. He also played tennis with you in Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico.

My sister was also an intern in your press office in Washington. Needless to say, my family was thrilled to see that you have returned to the political scene.

If you had decided to run for the President, we would have volunteered our services to help you.

We, and the majority of the nation, agree that you are the right person to help President Reagan complete his presidency on a positive basis.

Best of luck with your new responsibilities.

Sincerely yours,

Michael I. Bleiman

Dear Mr. Baker:

I am writing to extend to you my personal gratitude for accepting President Reagan's offer to become his chief of staff.

The country is behind you as you attempt to gather the truth regarding the arms sale to Iran. More importantly, I feel we can now put this episode behind us and move on with the business of the country.

I don't think the President could have made a wiser decision than to offer you the job of chief of staff. Your knowledge, experience, and legal training are exactly what we need right now. As a nation, we cannot afford to become bogged down in another morass similar to that which occurred in the early 1970's. Please use all your ability and authority to get this President back on track. As an amateur historian, I feel that this country needs a successful two-term President very badly right now.

On a more personal note, I want to thank you for putting aside your own electoral goals and choosing to help the country instead. You are a true man of integrity with a sense of national service which is sadly lacking in so many of our public figures today. It takes a truly great man to put aside his own ambition to undertake a higher purpose.

Sincerely,

McGregor W. Scott

Dear Mr. Baker:

Congratulations! There could not be a better choice to fill this void in our government than you with your impeccable integrity, intellectual capacity, your domestic and international expertise, and the political respect of Congressional members and the people of the United States.

For many years I have been an admirer of yours and an advocate of your policies and leadership. The Reagan administration in its first four years, and at times in the last two years, has performed in an outstanding manner, but with you at the helm at this critical time you can not only assist this administration but renew national confidence and reestablish the Republican Party as the party with vision in our nation.

The business community will welcome you as a real leader. In my years on the Board of Directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce and as its former Chairman, I can tell you that the business community always felt your leadership and admired and respected your abilities. I am sure that they will champion your philosophies and continue to support the administration on major public policy issues that truly benefit our entire nation.

If I can ever be of any assistance to you in any manner, please don't hesitate to contact me. Again, good luck and congratulations.

Dear Senator Baker:

I cannot tell you how much I appreciate your personal sacrifice in accepting the job of Chief of Staff.

I was the chairman of the Bell for Senate campaign in 1978, was a Reagan delegate in 1980, and have bona fide right wing credentials that are pristine. You may actually remember me from the Frank Reiche nomination in 1979.

What you did for our guy, when he was down with a nine count, was terrific. Republicans always seem elitist and greedy, and you have clearly foregone a lot of money, a lot of Holiday Inns, and your most probably victorious presidential campaign.

I also remember well the excellent job you did while majority leader in pushing the Reagan agenda in the first term.

Anyway, not all conservatives are mad about this appointment, and one is anxious for your continued success.

Sincerely,
