Dear President Reagan:

The achievement of the Rev. Jesse Jackson in making participation of Black Americans in the political arena at the highest level is an accomplishment that all Americans will benefit from.

I am concerned and alarmed that the protection of Secret Service security has been withdrawn from Rev. Jackson, particularly in light of the many threats on his life during the campaign. I do not believe there is sufficient evidence to warrant such withdrawal and believe that Jackson's accomplishments will remain an important victory for most and, unfortunately, a threatening victory to those in our society who are driven by sickness to threaten assassination.
Such an occurence would be a national shame from which it would take years and perhaps generations to recover.

I urge you, as a taxpayer, to ex tend Secret Service protection to Rev. Jackson at least until the national election is over. If for any reason you do not find this a reasonable action, I am interested in knowing your rationale.

Sincerely,

Katherine Skelton-Caban

Dear President Reagan:

I am writing to express my concern that secret service protection has been withdrawn from Rev. Jesse Jackson. Both during and after his campaign for the Democratic nomination, he received numerous threats to his life. I believe that the achievement for all Black Americans made by Rev. Jackson should not be threatened with assassination.
Please restore protection to his life -- an assassination of this man whom has come to represent hope for Black Americans would be a blot of our generation and country that would stain our image badly.

Sincerely,

Victor Caban
