MEMORANDUM FOR JIM BRADY
FROM LYN NOFZIGER
RE Phil Donohue Show

I have received a call from Dick Mincer (312/281-5210), producer of the Phil Donohue Show, requesting the President be a guest on an upcoming show. The subject would be the President's economic package. The show could be done anywhere in the country, and they would prefer his regular format of approximately 200 people. Mincer says their audience is 8½ to 9 million.

You may not be aware, but during the 1976 campaign when President Ford was calling local media of primary states to the White House for interviews, we couldn't command that kind of coverage. On a Donohue show during the Illinois primary, Donohue asked Reagan that if the Chicago anchormen would get together, would he agree to be interviewed by them. Of course he agreed and subsequently during the campaign Reagan was interviewed the local anchormen in the areas in which he campaigned.

Dear Mr. Etlinger:

I appreciated receiving your letter concerning the proposed construction of a new Veterans Administration hospital in Portland, Oregon. The project was carefully reviewed during the development of the President's Program for Economic Recovery. Our approach to the Recovery Program required that every proposal receive careful consideration.

During the review, the Office of Management and Budget determined that project funds should be deferred for at least the next two years. As a result of the recommendation, $137 million expenditure for the VA hospital in Portland, Oregon will be deferred for the time being and $35 million will be deleted from the budget which would have gone to cover add-on construction costs.

Your letter addressed the question of a pilot mainstreaming alternative for veterans health care. That proposal is being reviewed by the Office of Policy Development. Our people are studying a 1977 report by the National Academy of Sciences which concluded that the present separate VA health care system is duplicative, inefficient and costly. I can assure you that in the months ahead we will review the overall health care situation for our veteran population.

Thank you for sending us your views. As we review our overall long-term health care system, your suggestions will receive strong consideration.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL K. DEEVER

MEMORANDUM FOR MIKE DEAVER

FROM: CRAIG FULLER

SUBJECT: VA Hospital in Portland, Oregon

You forwarded to me correspondence from the Metropolitan Service District in Portland, Oregon, concerning a new VA Hospital. Correspondence registered strong concerns about spending money on a new VA facility and indicated the group's support of a pilot mainstreaming health care alternative for veterans.

Research by the Office of the Policy Development on the matter suggests the following:

1. The funding issue is moot because OMB has proposed the deferral of project funds on the hospital for two years. The deferral amounts to $137 million and the deletion involves an additional $35 million in add-on construction costs. Reportedly, OMB's intention is to force the resolution of existing disagreements with the VA over the size, functions, and costs of the proposed facility.
2. A pilot mainstreaming alternative in Portland would involve the use of existing hospital facilities in place of maintaining a separate VA system. The Office of Policy Development advises that the issue of whether the VA should maintain a separate system of health care is extremely sensitive. Veterans groups enjoying political support on the Hill will strongly resist any attempt to undercut the present two-tier system.

Attached is a letter drafted for you to use in responding to Bruce Etlinger.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I am writing to request your urgent attention regarding the potential savings of rescinding some $170 million for construction of a new VA Hospital here in favor of a pilot mainstreaming alternative using existing community facilities.

In a professional opinion poll taken last March, two-thirds of all Oregon and southwest Washington veterans (the VA regional service area) favored a choice of community facilities for their current health benefits rather than a new VA hospital in Portland. It was particularly noteworthy that 60% of those veterans who had actually used VA medical services preferred having these benefits transferred to the private sector.

An overwhelming majority of local elected officials, medical providers, the business community and health consumers also share this view (see attached letter to former President Carter). A similar approach has been advocated by the National Academy of Sciences and the Reagan Transition Team on VA Policy.

Unless these funds are rescinded, or the VA includes an examination of the mainstreaming option in its Environmental Impact Statement, several local groups with standing intend to seek an injunction against the construction project as relief under the National Environmental Policy Act. We have been assured there is a strong legal basis for such a challenge.

Both improved patient care for veterans, and residency training for physicians could be provided at a much lower cost in our existing community facilities.

Senator Mark Hatfield
U.S. Senate
463 Russell Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Hatfield:

Please consider rescinding previously authorized funds for the new VA Hospital here in favor of a pilot mainstreaming alternative. Besides construction costs of nearly $200 million (including a supplemental appropriation of $34 million now pending) it will cost between $75 and $100 million annually to operate this unnecessary new facility over its projected 50 year lifespan.

The Portland area has a documented excess of between 750-1000 acute care beds presently. Multnomah County has successful experience phasing out episodic care for the medically needy at a public hospital in favor of more comprehensive accessible and cost-effective health plans offered through a brokering mainstream arrangement called Project Health.

A professional opinion poll of veterans in Oregon and Southwestern Washington (the regional VA service area) last spring found that two-thirds favored such a choice of community facilities and physicians for their health benefits rather than a new VA facility in Portland. It is noteworthy this view was held by 60% of those veterans who had actually used VA medical services.

A pilot mainstreaming approach-is supported as well by medical providers, a majority of local elected officials, the press in Oregon, the local business community and health consumers. A 1978 study by the National Academy of Sciences urged Congress to re-focus VA health care by not replacing older acute care facilities in light of significant under-utilization of current VA beds and the excess in private beds. This study found, for example, that over half the veterans now discharged from surgery wards have had no surgery. Because of a declining number of veterans--and their average age of 60--the pressing need is to convert VA facilities and staffing to provide convalescent, chronic and outpatient care. Building a new 490 bed acute care facility and a separate 120 bed nursing home is thus a mismatch of resources when compared to both the needs and preferences of today's veteran population.

To help contain rising hospital costs, avoid wasteful duplication and provide improved patient care for veterans, we recommend rescinding the funds previously authorized for the Portland VA facility and directing VA to work with local jurisdictions, medical providers and veterans groups in designing a pilot mainstreaming project using excess community facilities. Experts in the field of medical education have informed us that there could also be improved residency training, including a better focus on geriatric care, if the VA continued to support such activities in private community facilities.

We appreciate your consideration, and hopefully your leadership regarding what is currently proposed as one of the largest and most ill-conceived public investments ever considered for our State.

Most Sincerely,

President Jimmy Carter
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

We the undersigned -- representing a broad cross section of interest groups, governmental bodies and individuals in the Portland area -- request your urgent consideration regarding a new Veterans Administration hospital here.

To date the City of Portland, U.S. House Committee on Appropriations and the final report of the Joint Conference Committee, among others, have stated a preference for siting this facility by Emanuel Hospital in N.E. Portland. The Veterans Administration appears to support the Marquam Hill location in S.W. Portland.

A third alternative -- mainstreaming veterans into excess community facilities -- has not been examined except in a most cursory fashion. We support re-programming funds presently authorized for this acute care facility in order to initiate a pilot project which will offer veterans more comprehensive and accessible care of equal or higher quality and at a lower overall cost. Rather than constructing, equipping and operating this new acute care facility at a projected cost of over $3.5 billion during its 50 year lifespan, mainstreaming veterans would further both local and national health planning objectives, including your efforts to curb rising hospital costs.

We urge you to direct the Veterans Administration to undertake a full review of this proposed option, including thorough discussions with local jurisdictions, our Health Systems Agency, veterans groups and medical care providers before the VA makes a final decision to construct this hospital.

The Honorable Michael K. Deaver
Deputy Chief of Staff
White House
Washington, D.C. 20025

Sir:

I am writing to you to ask for your support and advice concerning an unresolved legal matter. All my efforts on my own behalf have been futile.

For more than ten years, I have been denied the right to introduce evidence in a court case, in which I am the plaintiff. In the course of trying to obtain justice, I hired two attorneys, both of whom undermined my case.

To fully understand my ordeal, you must be given some important facts. The following is a summary of the situation: In 1968, my then employer requested me to give false testimony in court against a fellow employee, which I refused to do. The matter was heard in court, and the judge refused to let me testify and introduce evidence, claiming I had no status as a party as defined by the law (I am a German Citizen who has lived and worked in this country for twenty years). I appealed, but the higher courts denied me meaningful access, and the right to introduce evidence.

The United States District Court, Eastern District of New York, did grant me the right to testify, only to later falsify the minutes of my sworn testimony. The judge assigned to the case advised me that I may wish to appeal if I felt he acted "heineously or viciously."

The United States Court of Appeals, Second Circuit, denied me due process by claiming it never received my motions and evidence I filed for docketing. The registered mail receipts in my possession prove otherwise.

The United States Department of Justice and the FBI, both refused to investigate my charge that the District Court had tampered with my sworn testimony, and the Court of Appeals tampered with registered mail. The U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear my petitions for a writ of certiorari.

Seeing I was getting nowhere, I retained a lawyer through the Bar Association's referral service to execute my appeal, which was then pending in the Court of Appeals. After receiving the legal fee, said lawyer filed, without my knowledge, a paper with the court requesting dismissal of my appeal. The court promptly dismissed my appeal.

I again turned to said legal referral service to obtain a lawyer to bring action against the first attorney. The new lawyer deceitfully obtained my signature, and drafted a fraudulent and to me damaging affidavit, which he presented in court.

Immediately after I discovered what happened, I discharged this attorney as my counsel of record, and twice petitioned the two justices assigned to the case for leave to file with the court evidence to correct the wrong; these petitions have not been acted upon.

If I were to appeal the case as is, any possible review will be based on the lower court's record, of which previously mentioned fraudulent evidence would be the fulcrum of the entire case.

By now, I feel that I exhausted all venues, and simply can not go it all alone by myself. Hence, I pray that you help me obtain the end of justice. Any assistance your good offices may provide would be greatly appreciated.

I swear to the good Lord that my statement is true.

Very respectfully yours,

Edwin Nachbaur

MEMORANDUM FOR Frank Ursomarso
FROM Mike Deaver Mike
SUBJECT PHIL DONOHUE

Let me have your thoughts on this.

MEMORANDUM

February 29, 1981

MEMORANDUM FOR JIM BRADY
FROM LYN NOFZIGER
RE Phil Donohue Show

I have received a call from Dick Mincer (312/281-5210), producer of the Phil Donohue Show, requesting the President be a guest on an upcoming show. The subject would be the President's economic package. The show could be done anywhere in the country, and they would prefer his regular format of approximately 200 people. Mincer says their audience is 8½ to 9 million.

You may not be aware, but during the 1976 campaign when President Ford was calling local media of primary states to the White House for interviews, we couldn't command that kind of coverage. On a Donohue show during the Illinois primary, Donohue asked Reagan that if the Chicago anchormen would get together, would he agree to be interviewed by them. Of course he agreed and subsequently during the campaign Reagan was interviewed the local anchormen in the areas in which he campaigned.

Dear Greg:

It was good to hear from you and to learn of your new responsibility with Delta Sigma Phi.

I'm pleased you've found the White House legislative staff helpful, especially John Dressendorfer.

We have been putting in long hours with little time for relaxation. I'm sorry we haven't been able to get together, and I hope that the future months don't find us so completely covered-up with work.

Sincerely,

Michael Deaver

Mr. Michael C. Deaver
Deputy Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mike:

I've just taken on a new responsibility with Delta Sigma Phi and thought you might be interested. Allen requested I serve as Registered Agent for the Fraternity as he was in need of someone with a Washington address to attend to the formalities of DSP's incorporation here in D.C..

Since arriving here in late December, things have been extremely busy with the organizing of a new Congressional office. Of course I need not expound on busy days to you. I enjoy the work and find the people and issues I deal with to be most intriguing and stimulating. Your Legislative Staff at The White House, and in particular John Dressendorfer, have been most helpful and cooperative. You should also know that we are finding tremendous support for the President's economic program.

I want to thank you for your nice letter of December 22, 1981. Since then I've read a great deal about your activities with the President. As you suggested in your letter, I have contacted your office a couple of times since the 20th of January but have been unsuccessful in arranging a time that we could have the opportunity to meet.

Should ever you get to Capitol Hill, we are located in the Cannon Building, please stop in. I look forward to our meeting in the future.

Yours In The Bond of Sphinx,

Gregory D. Slapak
Legislative Assistant

Dear Louie:

Thanks for sending along the news clipping and the information about the situation in Kentucky. I appreciate it and will keep our guard up.

I am very aware of the supportive role for President Reagan you've played in your state since 1968. It's certainly appreciated.

Thanks, too, Louie, for your congratulatory messages.

Sincerely,

Michael Deaver

Mike you are a dear and your personal organization has to be phenominal to find time to get responses off from one of the busiest, most important desks in the whole wide world.

....and THANK YOU for routing my material around.

I am pleased that you feel you may get out to Santa Barbara on one of these occasions and "hope to see old friends".

Mike, since you don't have your cottage on Sheffield Drive to operate from, I should be most honored if you could consider my Riviera home as a possible "base" to greet a "clutch" of friends of your choice. It could be an intimate eight or ten for cocktails and dinner--or I could handle anything you might throw at me with a buffet--letting guests spill out onto my decks which overlook the city.

Guy's Wurlitzer still awaits your magic touch!

Hope your family is well and enjoying Washington.

Warm wishes,

Gertrude

Dear Gertrude,

Thanks so much for your interest and helpfulness in my contacts with the Administration. As I indicated over the phone, my resume originally went to Pendleton James from Holmes Tuttle's office, about last October. I had acknowledgements from Mr. James and from Helen Von Damm, Mr. Reagan's secretary, I believe.

A couple months ago Bob Lagomarsino also intervened on my behalf with Secretary Haig, since there is one arm of State that deal with maritime affairs.

The likely routing of the resume would be to those selecting people in the following offices: Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Maritime Affairs; Federal Maritime Commission; and State Department Office of Maritime Affairs. It might also have been referred to Elliot Richardson's group dealing with the Law of the Sea, but that is less likely since he has been in place for some time with his own staff.

I expect to follow up on my letter to Pendleton James with a call the first of next week. It should be interesting to see what happens.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Philip E. Myers
