MEMORANDUM

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

May 1, 1981

TO: MUFFIE BRANDON
RE: PRINCE CHARLES DINNER

I am sending over the wine for the Prince Charles dinner.

White wine should be chilled for approximately two hours.

The red wine should be opened two hours before serving and it would be advisable to swirl the wine in the bottle to get all the sediment off the neck.

The dessert wine which is the Semillon, should be chilled all afternoon. Remember to instruct the waiter to only fill the dessert wine glasses half full, because they are going to have to fill that glass a second time, since it is going to be used for a toast, also.

If you have any questions, please call.

P.S. Please have the usher take the red wine out of the boxes and stand it up straight immediately - unopened.

Dear Mike:

Michael Jackson will be in town May 4-8 to interview famous politicians and personalities for his KABC Radio talk show in Los Angeles.

Michael will be broadcasting, with the help of WMAL, from the Hyatt Regency in Washington. The Michael Jackson Show reaches more than 1.25 million people in the Los Angeles area every day, the largest radio audience in Southern California.

It may be that his office has already been in contact with yours and I know he would be very grateful if you would participate in his program at sometime during the week, even if by telephone.

Kind regards,

Dear Mike,

Less than an hour after I talked to your mother on March 30 about contacting you, television stations were showing you ducking gunfire. I delayed writing in hopes that your daily schedule may by now have become a little less hectic.

My wife and I will be in the Washington area from Friday, May 22, till Sunday, May 31, visiting relatives in Maryland and joining the Antelope Valley Board of Trade delegation for meetings in the capital May 27 through 29.

I would like to do a "hometown guy makes good" interview with you at any time during that period at your convenience.

Please let me know what time would be best for you.
Thanks.

Dear Michael:

A good friend of mine, Charles H. McCabe, Jr., Senior Vice President of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company at 350 Park Ave, New York is an important figure in the Catholic Archdiocese of New York and he does a great deal to help in Cardinal Cooke's annual dinner.

He received the enclosed photograph but he wanted very much to have the President inscribe the autograph. If this could be done we would all be most appreciative.

Cordially yours,

Dear Mr. Anschutz:

Events of recent weeks have made it impossible for me to respond to your letter of March 13, 1981 as rapidly as I should have liked.

I have discussed with my White House colleagues your request that the President write an introduction to the catalogue which will accompany the Anschutz Collection on its upcoming foreign tour. Although they join with the President and me in expressing great personal admiration for the Collection and tour, we have concluded that it will not be appropriate for the President to write the introduction.

As you might assume, the President receives many such requests to support worthwhile projects. Since he cannot honor all, in fairness we have been forced to adopt a policy of honoring only requests that are traditional to the Presidency. Likewise, we have had to adopt a policy not to provide the President's name, implying support, to any private enterprise regardless of its merit.

We regret we cannot honor your request in this instance, but trust you will understand the necessity for the position we feel we must take.

With the best wishes of the President and the White House for success on your tour, I remain,

Very truly yours,

MEMORANDUM FOR MICHAEL K. DEEVER

FROM: FRED F. FIELDING

RE: The Anschutz Collection

*Helene
David Helene had this before she
follow thru?*

You asked for my comments on the request that the President write an introduction to the catalogue which will accompany the Anschutz Collection on its tour of several foreign museums.

Because of the deluge of requests to associate the President's name with various ventures which pass through my office, my instinctive reaction is to say no. This is simply for the reason that it is difficult to support one project and decline another without appearing to be unfair.

Even so, I would not have as much trouble with this request if the collection was owned by a non-profit museum or organization. There is a chance that by lending his name to this collection, the President would be increasing its value as a whole, or the value of some individual work of art in the collection. Since the collection is privately owned, the President's imprimatur might be seen as use of his office to increase the value of Philip Anschutz's investment holdings.

Likewise, like it or not, the association of the President's name and office with a collection that, in a sense, glorifies the "Wild West" and all that it connotes, might not be appropriate so soon after the assassination attempt.

I have prepared and attached hereto a proposed letter for your signature declining the request.

Dear Mr. Elteto:

Thank you for your recent message. I appreciate the confidence in me which prompted you to write concerning your invention.

I am afraid, however, that this response must be a disappointing one. Due to the specialized nature of your inquiry, I believe that it would be inappropriate for me, or any other official in the Administration, to comment on the merits of your invention. Such judgments are best left to those in the private sector whose training and experience brings them in close contact with the problems your invention is designed to deal with.

It is with regret, therefore, that I must return your materials to you. I hope you will understand that this in no way reflects on the merits of your idea.

Dear Mike,

Now that our two major documentary projects on the Reagan Administration have been completed, I want to thank you and many people on the White House staff for the excellent cooperation we received.

A second purpose of this note is to renew our request for an interview with the President. As with the 100 Days program, Roger Mudd would do the interview. We would broadcast it serially on the NIGHTLY NEWS and TODAY programs, and possibly as a nighttime special. The on-air time we would devote to the interview naturally would be related to how much time the President was able to spend with Mr. Mudd. Now that Mr. Reagan is virtually back to normal, we would like the interview to be as wide-ranging as the one we originally envisioned prior to the assassination attempt. Naturally, time and place would be at the President's convenience.

With Congressional action on the President's economic program reaching a critical stage, we would like to do this interview in mid- or late May.

Warm regards,
