January 19, 1982

Dear Mr. Deaver,

I am in my fifth year of service in the federal government, employed as an administrative clerk with the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission in Washington. In addition, for the past two years I have been working evenings and weekends as a wine salesman for Rex Wine and Spirits, Inc. It has been a rewarding experience to learn about wine from the retail level, and to be in direct contact with winery representatives and wholesale houses. I read every article on wine I can and never pass up a tasting.

I've decided to end my federal service and pursue a career in the wine industry. Having read the article which featured you in the Washington Post, "Presidential Wine Policy", December 3, 1981, I had hoped that you might be able to provide me with some ideas or suggestions to help me find employment in this field.

Any help and support you might offer would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Jerome J. McNamara

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I am hoping that you and yours did have a most enjoyable holiday.

I just returned from the orient only to find, that in my absence, another serious error has been committed by some over-eager bureaucrats.

Perhaps it is the bigness of government, or the intricacy elements of a very complicated jigsaw-international game.

I see from the news, that you will also be leaving the administration soon. I will not only loose you, but also another friend - Franklyn Nofziger.

I do trust that you will keep in touch with me on this matter, and if ever I can be of some assistance, please do call.

Dear Michael,

Again ... I volunteerTOTALLY GRATIS ... to help Ronald Reagan with his budget. Ronald Reagan will remember very vividly that when he became the Governor of California I volunteered to help him with his budget ... TOTALLY GRATIS. He asked for a detailed study of the public school system of California by business executives who volunteered, againTOTALLY GRATIS.

I volunteered and assembled the team of Top Business Executives including Vice Presidents, Presidents, Chairmen of the Board, Bankers and C.P.A.'s ...a total of over eighty-nine executives whom I invited from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Illinois so that the public school study would be totally objective...and not by educators who have not been in the business world.

The study covered 128 cities of California and lasted over two years. Needless to say, many millions of corporate dollars were donated.

I delivered the confidential report to Governor Reagan which enabled the Governor to save Many, Many Millions of dollars in the business departments of the public school system by installing modern business systems and procedures.

NOT ONE TEACHER LOST HIS OR HER JOB AS A RESULT OF THESE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS OF SAVINGS.

Last year my executive friends donated their time to assist me with a Big Investigation of the public school system of New York City. The school budget of New York City is over three billion dollars alone. We investigated the Business Departments of the public schools and discovered hundreds of millions of dollars of horrendous waste of taxpayers' dollars.

Confidential copies of this investigation were hand-delivered to Governor Hugh Carey of New York; Mayor Ed Koch; Tom Cuite, Vice Chairman, New York City Council; David Rockefeller, Chairman of the Board, Chase Manhattan; Walter Wriston, Chairman of the Board of Citicorp; William Ellinghaus, Chairman of the Board, A.T. & T; Charles Luce, Chairman of the Board, Consolidated Edison of New York; Mike Wallace of "60 Minutes"; and my lifetime friend, Lowell Thomas of Pauling, New York.

In all of the fifty states, especially in the big cities, billions of dollars can be saved in the administration departments of the public schools by using modern business systems. For example, recently over 100 private schools, universities and colleges have done away with their useless and expensive computer departments and have the banks to do all of their payroll and check-writing operations for so many pennies per check. This is ONE of the hundreds of recommendations that the eighty-nine top businessmen recommended.

Billions of dollars can be saved in school administration throughout the nation. If every state was encouraged to cut school administration costs, billions of dollars could be saved for special programs that they are asking the Federal Government to fund.

FORCED

Again I'm volunteering to put together another team of Top Businessmen ALL GRATIS to help the President and Terrel Bell to save billions of administration dollars.

Sincerely,

Bob

The President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

This year the freshmen and transfer students of the Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colorado were asked to read and discuss Sissella Bok's, Lying: Moral Choice in Public and Private Life. We are convinced that this book deals with a critical issue in United States life, the morality of a lie. Of the many types of lies discussed in the book, the one that concerned us the most was the lie told by government to its people. We feel that you, your staff and the Congress should analyze Sissella Bok's discussion of this lie.

Please understand from the outset that by sending you this book, we are not accusing you of lying or implying that you or any member of your administration is a liar. We simply want to provide you with an essay that critically examines the morality of deception in a democracy.

We do realize that under some extraordinary circumstances lies to the United States public may be necessary; for example, we believe that many citizens would accept a lie for national security purposes as necessary. Even though some lies may be necessary and acceptable, truthfulness in government is a critical issue today. We agree with Sissella Bok that criteria which would be used to determine if a lie were necessary in a particular situation should be established, by public debate, prior to any deception. We urge you and your staff to take the initiative to publicly establish those criteria; we urge you to hold fast to those criteria so that United States citizens can accept governmental proclamations with less suspicion.

This is your chance, Mr. President, to lessen the mistrust in the government that has grown in the last few years. Our purpose in sending you these books is to help you toward this end.

Very respectfully yours, Kimie Wurster

My last request for pictures bombed, but I think I'll give it another try. It provides another opportunity to send you the best.

Now I would like to have a good picture of Bill Clark with the President. I'm sure the press office must have some of the two of them--probably taken this week.

We would like to note Bill's latest appointment in the forthcoming issue of The Stanford Magazine, of course. The print should be black and white.

I got inspired to do something practical politically again over the reapportionment referendum. Do hope it works!

You are far too busy to bother with this request, but I did want you to know that we are watching all you are doing with admiration from your old camping grounds.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I have written The President several times and told him The People do not like the way The Press is treating him and that it is embarrassing to all of us. I know whereby I speak because I am in contact still with the thousands of people I organized.....on my own...to work for Ronald Reagan. They are strongly against the way The President is handled by the press. And, it is doing the country no good. In fact, the people would like to see The President make no speeches away from The White House and to stop Press Conferences. The Consitution dictates he must make some reports. Do those on TV and let the rest go.

I am sending youa clipping in which Joseph Kraft lies. Schmidt said he was anxious for Reagan to meet The Soviets to show them how tough Reagan really is.

I hope you can do something about this. And tell The President we all want him to remove himself from this harrassment.

Dear Mr. Deaver -

When I heard the horrendous news
the administration wants to make Medicare Recipients pay 10% of their hospital bills up to $2500 - I couldn't believe such cruelty - How many have $2500 they can raise? Since Medicare ^{REALLY} covers only 35% of hospitalization most of us have to carry supplementary insurance such as Blue Cross + still owe considerable. (And Blue Cross UP)

I can't understand these punitive steps against the elderly citizens
+ poor citizens when A few elderly, etc.
four in + are eligible for SSI,
free medical, food stamps, housing,
etc. It seems to me our Citizens should benefit from our taxes before there handouts to aliens - including the illegal ones - such as are interested

Cutting taxes for the affluent + not for less fortunate - hasn't helped the economy I ever see - We elderly are mostly "small-savers" + the "All-Savers" by-passed us on moderate incomes - Of course, IRA too late for us - Pres. Reagan

The National Forest Products Association is firmly committed to support of the President's Program for Economic Recovery; we applaud and endorse his call for additional cuts from the federal budget. We will continue our efforts to encourage Members of Congress to support the President's program to bring the federal budget into line and enhance economic recovery.

We believe much more could be done by government agencies to eliminate waste, defer spending, reduce red tape and economize in order to relieve the current crisis. Our industry faces the crisis of survival right now. Dear Mike:

Would it be possible for Linda and me to obtain two prints of the picture taken of us with the President in his office on October 19, 1981?

Linda and I both would appreciate very much having the pictures as a memento of our visit to Washington, D.C.

Our sincerest thanks and very best wishes.

Sincerely,

Ralph W. Tarr

Dear Mike:

My warmest appreciation to you for all your help in facilitating last week's New York City Partnership luncheon with the President.

Thanks to the assistance of you and your associates, everyone agrees that the event went beautifully. The President's remarks were very warm and encouraging, and they certainly gave a real boost to all of us concerned with the Partnership. I personally am deeply grateful for the ongoing counsel and support on key projects which you have given to me.

Again, my heartfelt thanks. I look forward to many more opportunities to work with you in the future.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

David

Dear Mr. McConnell:

Mr. Deaver has asked me to respond to your thoughtful gesture of sending the address by William M. Batten, Chairman of the New York Stock Exchange Board, for his review.

Thank you for taking the time to forward this material to Mr. Deaver. He appreciated the input and enjoyed the contents.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I am forwarding the enclosed copy of an address by William M. Batten, Chairman of the New York Stock Exchange Board, for your review.

It occurred to me, in light of the on-going national debate regarding the economy, you might find Mr. Batten's remarks interesting.

Sincerely,

John L. McConnell
