Dear Mr. Deaver:

Thank you for the assistance you provided on our behalf regarding our request to the FAA for approval to operate service between Burbank and Los Angeles International. On February 2 we had a meeting in Washington on this matter with the FAA's Associate Administrator for Policy and International Aviation, General Counsel, Director of the Office of Aviation Policy and Plans and Acting Chief of the Operations Division of Air Traffic Service.

We are satisfied that the FAA is now giving our proposal the attention it deserves. The FAA has agreed to examine our capability to use special operating procedures that should enable the FAA Los Angeles tower controllers to easily handle our proposed operations. We feel that the FAA recognizes that our airline is sensitive to the difficult issues which confront it, and that we wish to cooperate with it in resolving our mutual problems. We expect an answer by February 15 on whether the FAA will permit us to use special operating procedures at Los Angeles International, and are hopeful we will be able to inaugurate our service on April 25.

Thank you again for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Gordon J. Myers,
President

Dear Mr. Ruddy:

Thank you for your recent letters to James Baker and Michael Deaver, to which they have asked me to reply.

The legislation proposed by the White House regarding tax exemptions relates solely to qualification for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and is directed specifically to private, non-profit educational institutions seeking to qualify for exemption under that section. As you probably know, however, section 501(i) of the Code already prohibits granting tax-exempt status to any social club described in section 501(c)(7) that discriminates on the basis of race, color or religion.

Thank you for expressing your views on this matter; I hope this information is responsive to your inquiry.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

Enclosed is the Report which I have just transmitted to the President.

In light of our earlier talks, I wanted to flag this for your attention so it does not slip through the cracks. The document is carefully framed as posing a unique challenge to an unique problem, but the 75% unemployment rate (moving up to 80%) could readily be used by the media and others to discredit the entire Economic Recovery Plan of the Administration.

I do not want this to backfire or become a cause celebre.

~~If time permits, I would like to discuss the Report and its ramifications with you.~~ Thanks again for taking the time to meet with me in your office several weeks ago regarding "The Night of the First American".

As ever,

Dear President Reagan:

The enclosed report, "A Matter of Life..." is at once the statement of a genuine crisis -- and an affirmation of my belief and that of my people that we are fortunate in having a President who remains genuinely responsive to suffering.

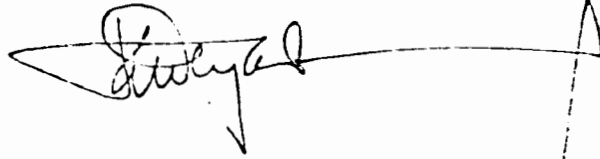

Senator Domenici was kind enough yesterday to convene an informal working session to consider the report and its implications. The turn out of your own top officials, Secretaries Watt and Schweiker, Assistant Secretaries Hardy and Smith and OMB's Deputy Director Khedeuri, speaks to the responsiveness of your top administrators at a time in the budget cycle when I know they are extremely pressed for time.

As an underdeveloped nation within the territorial bounds of the greatest industrial nation in the world, our situation poses a unique opportunity for a creative adaptation of your program for economic recovery. As a group of Americans, where one out of every two males over the age of 18 is a veteran, we claim a record of patriotism and sacrifice that we believe to be unsurpassed.

And as a nation composed of one quarter of the first Americans, we believe we have the capacity to make a unique contribution to the development, the prosperity and the future greatness of this nation.

In that spirit, I officially transmit this report, hoping that you will see fit to consider it personally -- as our President, as our Trustee, and above all, as a person of profound humanity, compassion and vision. I ask you to direct your administration to take prompt and appropriate action and look forward to hearing from you or your designee at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Deaver:

As a long-time supporter of CARE, I am deeply concerned about the proposed Executive Order regarding the Combined Federal Campaign.

The Executive Order as written would reduce CARE income from the CFC by half; the changes in the eligibility criteria as proposed could eliminate CARE from the Campaign.

I am certain that these results were not intended by those who drafted the Executive Order, and ask that it not be signed by the President as presently written. The order as written would not reflect well upon the President, whose philosophy so clearly supports the vital role of private voluntary agencies.

For over 35 years, CARE has had the confidence of American people and has received substantial support from Federal employees through the CFC. Its hardnosed and businesslike, yet compassionate approach to meeting human needs represents some of our country's finest efforts in this direction.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

The Three Man Executive Staff for

The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue

Gentlemen:

It occurred to me that the enclosed editorial by Evans and Novak in our Charleston News and Courier of November 25, 1981 would be of interest to you.

It is entitled, "Sabotage at State". It would seem to me that this is something that would come at a high priority for you gentlemen to solve with your many levers of influence and power to set right. I know that each of you realize the serious mandate the American public gave you on November 4, 1980 to change such things as are being done in the Department of State. The Department of State has long been a source of malrepresentation of authentic American values and there is no measure of the harm they have done the American people, not to mention the enslaved people of the World who are in slavery because of their predispositions or default.

I know it is difficult to get rid of career people and civil servants. However, I do think that if the fate of the Republic is at stake that that is a convincing case to put somebody on retirement or at least in a job where they can't do the harm that is mentioned by this article.

I know your problems are manifold and your duties must be inordinately consuming, not only of ergs of energy, but of psychic attrition. However, what could you possible put in higher priority than the solution of this problem?

I mean this as no criticism of Secretary Alexander Haig. I think he is one of the strongest and finest Secretaries of State that we have had in my lifetime (I am 60 years old). I am certain that there are times when I disagree with him and that you all do. However, I do not think we are ever going to get anyone of more integrity or more feeling for the job or willingness to be a "team player" in the general objectives that President Reagan has for him. I would imagine you would always get his honest creative thoughts, with which everyone would have a right to disagree. However, I do think that a serious effort should be made, in whatever vehicle you all would choose to use to begin to right this most serious situation.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Congresswoman Mikulski:

Thank you for your letter and for the information you provided on your two bills to strengthen voluntarism in this country. As we discussed, the President believes very strongly that voluntarism, the concerted mobilization of private groups to help deal with America's social ills, can reignite the spirit of individual generosity and a sense of communal values so much a part of American heritage. He has made voluntarism a priority for his Administration.

I have forwarded your comments from the Congressional Record and copies of your bills to the Office of Management and Budget for its further review and consideration. On behalf of the President, may I say that we look forward to working closely with you as the Congress deliberates these issues, and as we look together for ways to tap one source of America's abundance--the generosity of her people.

TO: Mike Deaver

FROM: Ken Duberstein KAD

SUBJECT: Letter to Barbara Mikulski re two voluntarism bills

I have checked with Jim Frey's shop in OMB, who indicates these bills are not particularly appealing pieces of legislation; (1) H.R. 767 is inconsistent with voluntarism in that it would give individuals a tax credit for volunteering. (2) H.R. 768 provides a mileage credit -- something Frey is fairly sure is already available in the Tax Code. No official position yet, though.

Dear Mike:

This is further to our conversation at the White House on Sunday evening. I was delighted to have that opportunity to discuss with you the legislation I have introduced to stimulate the concept of volunteerism in this country.

As promised, enclosed is information concerning H.R. 768, the Volunteer Mileage bill, and H.R. 767, Voluntary Services Tax Credit. As you will see, several dozen national organizations of all persuasions support this legislation, as well as approximately 170 members of the House from both parties.

I look forward to hearing your reaction to these proposals. I would be happy to meet with you to discuss this further. We are agreed that volunteerism helped make this country great. Now we must work at further strengthening the volunteer spirit.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
