Dear Mr. Sykora:

Mr. Deaver has asked that I arrange a tour for your daughter, Jennifer, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Allovio. If for any reason they are unable to use the tour tickets I have enclosed, please call the office so that I may cancel them.

It is not possible for me to tell you whether or not Mr. Deaver would have any time on his schedule, however, please tell Mr. and Mrs. Allovio to call me when they arrive in Washington so that I may take a closer look at his schedule for that day.

Sincerely,

Dear Mike:

My ten year old daughter, Jennifer, is planning a trip to Washington D.C. with her grandparents, Mr. & Mrs. Joseph M. Allovio of Sacramento and Skyland, Nevada, on April 20 to 23, 1983. I would greatly appreciate any arrangements you can make for a tour of the White House and other tours and sites you might suggest. Being Easter vacation time, crowds and tours are at a peak, and any shortcuts you might direct them to would help. If at all possible, they would like to meet with you, and hopefully President Reagan, sometime during their April 20 to 23rd stay in Washington. Needless to say, that would be the highlight of their trip.

Mr. Allovio, a successful businessman, is an alumnus of Eureka College and a member of its President's Club.

Please let me know if it would be convenient to call you or your secretary during their stay in Washington, and we would certainly understand if your schedule doesn't permit a meeting.

Sorry you weren't able to attend the annual Delta Sig luncheon last December. We missed you.

Sincerely,

Ron Sykora

Dear Mickey:

It was so nice to talk to you on the telephone while we were in Los Angeles with the President.

It was very touching to learn of your devotion to our President and First Lady. I'm sorry that there just wasn't time for him to speak with you personally, but I know he appreciates your support.

I am enclosing a picture signed especially for you. I hope you enjoy it.

Dear Mr. Robitalle:

Thanks again for your wonderful generosity in sharing your candy with the White House Staff while we were in California last week.

Since not everyone gets to travel with the President, we brought back the 36 packages of 8 oz. Creamy Wafer Mints and shared them with staff members, and then took the balance to Mr. Ron Jackson, who runs the White House Staff Mess so that others could share it.

Again, thanks so much for your thoughtfulness.

Dear Mike:

Jason Systems Inc. will be having a Board of Directors Meeting here in Washington on April 8th.

Mary Cunningham is on our Board, and Bill Agee will be in town with her for the meeting.

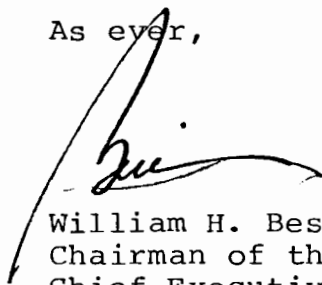

~~Bill and Mary and I would like to come over to meet with you on the afternoon of April 8th if you are going to be in town and available.~~

The subject is high technology and THE JASON PROJECT.

Craig Fuller is, I am told, very interested in what we are trying to do.

Thanks, and cheers to you too.

Your Majesty:

It was a great pleasure to have enjoyed your generous hospitality aboard the Britannia.

As a member of the President's party during your visit to my home State of California, I was deeply impressed by your warmth and by the spontaneous rapport which you established with all the Americans you met. Although, I could have wished for sunnier skies, the unusually inclement weather served but to highlight your own sunny personality. You and Prince Philip transformed adversity into adventure by your wit and graciousness. Please convey my warmest good wishes to Prince Philip also.

I know I speak for the President's party, for my fellow Californians, and, indeed, for all Americans, when I say that we hope you will visit again soon. We'll try to arrange some better weather for you next time.

Thank you for your letter to Mr. Deaver regarding his family tree. He appreciates your thoughtfulness in writing, however, he is the son of Paul Sperling Deaver, who was the son of William Deaver. He was born in Bakersfield, California and his father was born in Whittier, California.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I have been helping my grandfather trace the family tree on the Deaver branches. He is wondering if you would be a distant relative since we have discovered that there are only 1644 Deaver families located in the United States. We found that the Deaver family originated in early Ireland and had the ending "eux" on the name.

Grandpa Deaver (Orville James) of Fowler, Kansas, came with his parents from upper Iowa in the early 1900's. We found that they had lived in southern Nebraska (Guide Rock) before moving and homesteading in Logan County, Kansas. He is very interested in locating any person, who may have knowledge of the lineage of the Deaver family. Can you shed any light on the subject?

My government class will be in Washington, DC on April 13 and 14, 1983 and will tour the capitol. I think it would be great, if you could find, time to look up our group from Hays, Kansas, and we could meet, if not relatives, but as people with the name of Deaver engraved in our present and past lives.

If you could help grandfather with any information would you please send him the information. Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely yours,

Deana G. Elston

Dear Michael,

It was a pleasure working with you and your staff on the recent visit to San Francisco of Queen Elizabeth II and the President. I had the privilege of working with Rick Ahern, Tom Andrews and John Huntsman of your advance staff. I was the Navy's Project Officer for the honors ceremony and assisted Tom with the media at Pier 50 and the airport. We, too, had bigger plans but the rain cancelled a portion of the arrival honors. Thanks to your very professional and quick-reacting staff, the "Royal Visit" was a huge success for all of us!

I have prepared a videotape compiling all television coverage of the arrival, De Young dinner, Davies Hall, and Britannia arrival (with Queen's flyover), Pier 50 dinner aboard Britannia, and airport departure sequences. This footage was assembled from on-air broadcasts of all local Bay Area television stations we monitored during the visit. Should this videotape (one-half inch Beta) be of use to you or the staff, please let me know, and I will forward it to you.

I will be assigned by the Navy to Washington D.C. this June, to take on the duties of running the Navy's Community Relations program from the Pentagon. With my background as Deputy Appointments Assistant (1973-75), and solid public relations background in the Navy (Hollywood motion picture liaison, Apollo-Soyuz Navy Public Affairs Officer, Asst. Public Affairs Officer for the U.S. Pacific Fleet) I would very much like to work on the Reagan Team again. I have enjoyed working with your staff this past month, and feel I could make a contribution again - either full time or on an "additional duty" basis as are some of your staffers. I sent Helene von Damm my resume some months ago, but have heard nothing regarding a possible position.

Again, it was a pleasure serving your staff during the Queen's visit, and I would welcome any opportunity to serve again, in any capacity.

Warm personal regards,

You and the Navy have done a terrific job in helping us to prepare for this historic visit, and we are particularly grateful for your help in meeting the needs of the international media.

We really could not have provided the kinds of top quality services required without your generosity and cooperation. Once again the Navy, and Treasure Island, proved themselves to be vital components of our community--and San Francisco is most grateful.

Thank you, again, for your exemplary services to San Francisco.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

Perhaps you will recall my writing to you a little over a year ago and, among other things, expressing my support for the work of the present administration. I thought the enclosed issue of the Forum might be of interest and provide some important input to the work of the President in the matter of our educational environment today.

Dr. Thomas Kando, author and professor of sociology at California State University in Sacramento, together with several other teachers and students, have been concerned with recent attacks on American traditions and values in our colleges. They are attempting to counter this negative trend by publishing a paper that will provide genuine campus dialogue. My own particular concern is with the apparent decline in quality of the present school curriculum. You will find my comment on page five.

My wife, Florence, and I are still working with the choir at All Saints Memorial Episcopal Church in Sacramento where we had the privilege of meeting you. Please accept our best wishes for your work with the President and for his continued success.

U.S. Secretary of Energy, Donald Paul Hodel was our guest speaker at a fundraising dinner in Reno, Nevada, on March 24th.

I thought you would like to know that this outstanding appointee of yours (and the President's) is a real credit to the Administration.

Hodel gave a timely overview of energy problems and potential solutions as well as an update on OPEC and various power generating sources. He was articulate, intelligent and bright. The guy is a real asset to your team. Hearing Hodel was like attending a seminar at MIT or Stanford. Dynamite!

He is one of your best spokesmen and should never prove to be an embarrassment to the Administration. A very conscientious person. He gets an "A" + in our book. Send him back.

I am finally getting around to returning some of the mail that came in after the visit of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth to California.

I do understand and appreciate your criticism of the guest list for the State dinner in San Francisco. You are absolutely right. We should have been more cognizant of the fact that there were so many Nobel Laureates in San Francisco.

If I ever do it again, believe me, I'll remember your suggestion. Please accept our apology.

Dear Mr. Deaver,

I had the privilege of attending the President's and Mrs. Reagan's state dinner for Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip in San Francisco last week. You and your staff deserve special plaudits for a very elegant evening. The food was outstanding and the wines, which I understand were your personal choices, were superb; these fine examples of America's "premier grande cru" wines topped off a delectable meal service.

There is, however, one complaint that I want to register and that concerns the guest list. The San Francisco Bay area boasts one of the largest (if not the largest) collection of Nobel Laureates in Science, and one of the most important concentrations of biological and physical scientists in the world. Indeed, it is the showplace to which foreign visitors come first to learn about the new advances in biotechnology and the marvels of electronics and computers. And yet, I was the only scientist in the entire party! In my view the presence of one scientist was a gross under-representation of one of the major intellectual forces in our nation.

The President has been outspoken about the necessity to upgrade the teaching of mathematics and science in our Nation's schools and universities. The President has rightly perceived our dependence upon the advances in science and technology and has committed the Nation to achieving leadership in these fields. However, the impact of the President's message, with which I concur, is blurred or diminished if, during such grand occasions, the spotlight is focused on business, sports, entertainment and media figures and ignores the scientific leadership on which we depend to achieve the President's goals.

Very sincerely yours,

Paul Berg
