Dear Shirley,

I can't thank you enough for agreeing to present my hats to Mr. Deaver. As you may guess, I feel very honored to have friends such as yourself, and to know that people such as Mr. Deaver and company are enjoying my gifts.

As mentioned, it would really mean a lot to me to receive a letter from Mr. Deaver, although, I do realize, as you stated, that he is very busy and will understand if a note is not possible.

If there is anything you need, let me know.

Shirley, as you are probably aware, I would like very much to continue with my past involvement as a volunteer in any capacity. As I have mentioned to you in the past, I felt very bad and unjustly treated after having gone out of my way for so many of the staff members and after having put in a month's work, with praise from people such as Mr. Nofziger and Richard Allen, and then never to be called again was quite a let down. I was particularly disappointed because I enjoyed that involvement, which made me feel very special and honored. I am just as competent and reliable as many of the staff members that I have worked with and consider myself a valuable asset. So as you can probably guess I am quite frustrated over the matter. Can you please help? Perhaps a chat with Mr. Studdert or whatever you think might help on my behalf.

Once again, thanks for your valuable time and hope to see you soon.

Sincerely,

Ed Springer

Dear Mike:

Recently, as a result of Elise's activities at the Agency for International Development, I had the pleasure of meeting Douglas Manchester, President and Chief Executive Officer of Torry Enterprises of San Diego. He is a candidate for a Presidential appointment to the board of directors of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, and it is in this connection that I bring his name to your attention.

We had a long chat the other evening, and I came away very much impressed. He has been a longtime personal and financial supporter of the President -- since the President's first gubernatorial campaign in California. His entrepreneurial and practical business experience in banking, insurance, and various other commercial enterprises would serve him well in a position with OPIC. Doug Manchester appears to be precisely the sort of fellow that the Administration should employ in a policymaking position, especially in an area where his professional experience and political commitments could be put to maximum use.

Please pass my comments along to all those who will be making decisions about membership on the board of OPIC. If I can provide any further information I would be glad to do so.

Look forward to seeing you soon.

Dear Mike:

My good friend, Lyn Meyerhoff, has told me that she is being considered for a Presidential appointment to the United Nations.

Lyn has been a good and faithful servant for the Republican Party. She is politically astute, involved in a large number of civic affairs, and I know she would be an asset to the President.

I would be personally grateful if you could put in a good word for her and pass along my strongest support for Lyn.

Many thanks, and best personal regards.

Thank you so much for inviting the Deaver family to join the Boilermakers of Shop 41 for a pre-Thanksgiving dinner.

Although my wife and I truly appreciate your kind invitation, I hope you will understand that previous family commitments during the holidays will prevent us from joining you for your special dinner at the Shipyard.

I do want you, and your other members of Boilermakers (Shop 41), to know how much my wife and I appreciated your kind invitation. I am sure your dinner will be a great success.

MEMORANDUM FOR: BILL SITTMAN
FROM: FRED RYAN FR
SUBJ: INVITATION FROM WORKER AT NORFOLK
NAVAL SHIPYARD

As per Mike's request, we have looked into the boilermakers union. Its members are a pretty rowdy bunch. Most of the workers at the facility are Democrats and federal employees, and have a lot of grievances at this point in time. Although this might be a good blue collar event, the risks seem to outweigh the possible benefits in this case.

If we're looking for a good blue collar event in Virginia, we might want to go to the Newport News Shipbuilding facility. These workers are all union employees as well. But, because they depend on defense contracts for their jobs, they tend to be a little more conservative. They are supportive of a strong defense and this Administration.
