MEMORANDUM FOR WHITE HOUSE STAFF

FROM:

FRED F. FIELDING
COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT:

Holiday Season Reminder on Gift Policy

With the advent of another Holiday season, it is especially important for you to review White House policy regulating the receipt of gifts. This memorandum summarizes and supplements material contained in the Staff Manual.

Gifts that may not be accepted

No member of the White House staff may accept a gift from a person who --

- has or is seeking to do business with any part of the Executive Branch,
- is involved in activities which are regulated by the Executive Branch,
- has an interest which would be substantially affected by the staff member's performance of official duties.

If such a gift is received by a staff member either at the office, or at home, the staff member has the obligation to return it to the donor with the explanation that it cannot be accepted. A copy of the letter returning the gift should be retained in your files with a copy to this Office. If for some reason you feel you cannot return the gift (donor unknown, the address of donor unknown, or other) you should advise this Office. If, after analysis, it is confirmed that return is not possible, the gift should be turned over to the Counsel's Office for disposal, with an accompanying memorandum explaining the rationale for not returning the item. Of course, these prohibitions apply to your spouse and immediate household as well.

Gifts between Staff Members

Federal law expressly prohibits gifts from a subordinate employee to his supervisor or others in the office whose pay status is higher than the employee's. This does not prohibit customary exchange of gifts of nominal value between co-workers, but any lavish gifts or gifts to superiors which are not part of a traditional exchange are prohibited.

Gifts that may be accepted

Gifts from family and relatives may, of course, be accepted.

Gifts from friends may also be accepted, but only if it is clear that the motivation is personal and the circumstances are such that no appearance of conflict of interest is created. Thus, for example, if you have traditionally exchanged gifts with a neighbor you may continue to do so even though he happens to be a lawyer with occasional cases involving the government or he is a banker subject to federal regulation. It would be imprudent to accept such a gift, on the other hand, if the neighbor has a specific interest in an issue which is under review in your particular office. While perhaps totally innocent, a gift in these latter circumstances might create the appearance of conflict of interest.

Unsolicited advertising and promotional materials of nominal value may be accepted even if they come from individuals or businesses having business with or regulated by the government. This only extends to such customary items as desk calendars, pens, pocket diaries, etc.; however, by way of example, this rule would not permit acceptance of a case of cognac, a piece of furniture, or other items of substantial value.

Reporting Requirements

In addition to the recordkeeping set forth above, those staff members required to file financial disclosure reports (SF 278) are reminded that they have an obligation to report certain gifts received from persons other than relatives. Any gift over $100 in value must be reported. Also gifts over $35 in value must be reported if the aggregate of such gifts received from the same source within a year totals over $100. Thus, it would be prudent to make a record of all gifts valued over $35 which you receive so that you can determine, at reporting time, whether there is a reporting requirement. The Gift Unit can supply forms for such use. Please note that the $35 reporting limit is not related to the issue of whether a gift may be accepted. The propriety of accepting any gift must be determined without regard to its value, except as provided herein.

Gifts from Foreign Governments or Officials

The United States Constitution and a federal statute generally prohibit government officials from accepting gifts from foreign governments or from foreign multinational organizations. The following general guidelines obtain:

Gifts valued at under $140 may be accepted and retained by the official (note that this is a recent increase in the definition of minimal value for these purposes), unless the acceptance would otherwise violate the regulations pertaining to domestic gifts. These gifts must be reported as any other gift.

Gifts that are valued at $140 or more become the property of the United States. They should be turned over as soon as possible and within sixty (60) days to the White House Gift Unit for recording and the necessary reporting to the General Services Administration.

Gifts for the President or First Lady

Under no circumstances should a staff member accept such a gift intended for the President or the First Lady without first checking with this Office. Any member of the staff who receives a gift intended for the President or the First Lady should ensure that it goes through the security unit before entering the complex. It should then be immediately delivered to the White House Gift Unit so that it can be properly recorded and a decision made as to its disposition.

A Word of Caution

It is an unfortunate, but necessary, reminder that staff members should be particularly cautious about gifts of consumables, and about packages delivered at home. The Secret Service makes it a practice to destroy consumables received at the White House unless both the donor and the source are personally well known. Likewise, all packages and letters received at the White House by mail or delivery are scanned to make sure they are not hazardous. If you receive a package at home from a source not personally known to you, please take it to Room 45 OEOB for scanning before opening. Under no circumstances should you bring it into the Executive Office/White House complex without such screening.

Additional Questions

This memorandum is necessarily summary and does not deal with all questions that may arise. If you are in doubt about the propriety of accepting any gift, please consult with the Counsel's Office.

MEMORANDUM FOR WHITE HOUSE SENIOR STAFF

FROM: FRED F. FIELDING

The White House Staff Manual and various prior Counsel's Memoranda set forth both the limits on acceptance of gifts and the requirements for reporting gifts. This memorandum outlines procedures which may assist you in meeting your obligation in this regard.

As a service to you, the Gift Unit will maintain a log of all gifts you receive throughout the year and will determine the value of the gifts. Use of this service is voluntary on your part except for foreign gifts over $140 in value, but should be a easy way to keep accurate records. Completing the financial disclosure form remains your responsibility.

Please note: the Counsel's Office will continue to advise on the propriety of accepting particular gifts.

The attached form will facilitate the reporting of gifts, evaluation, and the Counsel's Office advice. It will be easier on everyone if you report gifts as soon as they are received; it is also advisable to do so to insure they are not neglected.

We suggest you report all gifts except:

- o gifts from family and relatives;
- o unsolicited advertising materials, such as pens, calendars, sample products;
- o publisher's or author's reading copies of books;
- o gifts that are immediately returned to the sender.

In order to report:

1. Complete the attached form;
2. Forward all copies of the form with the gift to the Gift Unit, room 494, OEOB;
3. The Gift Unit will determine the value and insert it on the form;
4. The Gift Unit will retain one copy of the form with the gift as indentification;

page two

5. The Gift Unit will forward the other three copies to the Counsel's Office for a determination on proper disposition;
6. Counsel's Office will make its determination on the form, return one copy to the Gift Unit and one copy to the office which filed the report for its files.

The gift unit does not have facilities for storing flowers or food stuffs. We suggest you retain them in your office and forward the forms, with a detailed description, in order to obtain an evaluation and, where appropriate, a Counsel's Office recommendation.

CERIMONIAL

MARIO AGOSTINELLI

Mario Agostinelli, pintor e escultor, nasceu no Peru, mas desde cedo radicou-se no Rio de Janeiro. Estudou na Argentina, Brasil, França e Itália. Realizou diversas exposições na Europa e na América Latina. Nos Estados Unidos teve a sua primeira mostra individual de pintura no Berkshire Museum, Massachusetts, e muitas outras em Detroit, Chicago, Dallas, Los Angeles, São Francisco, Pittsburgh, Boston, Miami e Nova Iorque.

Cinco de suas recentes esculturas, entre as quais Moisés e D. Quixote, integram o acervo artístico de Manchete em sua nova sede da Praia do Russel. Agostinelli, carioca nascido no Peru, tem hoje, fama internacional como escultor, mas, até os 40 anos, dedicara-se apenas à pintura. Trocando o pincel pelos modernos instrumentos da escultura - maçarico, solda, ácidos -, ele encontrou sua melhor forma de expressão.

Dear Mr. Ambassador:

Thank you so much for the wonderful books you have provided for my information and enjoyment. Both books are beautiful, and I look forward to the time when I'll be able to give them my undivided attention.

I sincerely look forward to working with you in the future.

The Honorable

Assistant to the President
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. Deaver:

As you may be aware, I have just begun my tour of duty as Ambassador of Mexico to the United States.

Mexico City is one of the most fascinating and controversial cities of the world. I have a great interest in sharing with you a bit of the history of that great city. Therefore, it is a pleasure for me to send you these two books, which I hope will increase your interest not only in the city itself, but also in Mexico as a whole.

The first book, La Ciudad de México, is a portrait of the history of the city. The collection will consist of three volumes, with Volume II covering the XVIII and XIX centuries and Volume III dealing with the XX century. As soon as the other two volumes arrive from Mexico, I will send them to you.

The second book called El Arte del Templo Mayor, is a remarkable achievement of the National Institute of Anthropology and History, which presents information about the recent discoveries of an ancient Aztec site buried for centuries in the heart of Mexico City. An exhibit of some of these objects is now open in New York at the Museum of Natural History.

Allow me to take this opportunity to express my best wishes and my hope that during my tour of duty we can work together in furthering the friendship and cordial relations which exist between our two countries.

Sincerely yours,

B. Sepúlveda

Dear Ambassador Finckenstein:

Thank you for your supportive comments in your letter of June 22nd.

I also want to thank you for the souvenir of our visit to Bonn. I am very pleased to have the official protocol tie and shall wear it proudly.

Words cannot express our appreciation for the assistance and cooperation we received from you and your people when we visited the Federal Republic of Germany. I eagerly look forward to our next meeting.

Dear Mr. Deaver,

I would like to thank you once again and most cordially for your kind cooperation in preparing the visit of Their Excellencies the President of the United States of America and Mrs. Reagan to the Federal Republic of Germany. It was indeed a great pleasure to work with you and I enjoyed your professional skill and reliability. Looking back at the whole summit it appears to me that you have been some sort of rock in the surf! And I think we both can be satisfied with the results of our work.

Please, accept as a token of my gratitude and as a little souvenir of your visit to Bonn the official protocol tie, which I am sending you with this letter. It is only worn by a few people who have shown professional understanding of the protocol work, and who have given their help and assistance to us. So I hope you will enjoy it.

With all good wishes and looking forward to seeing you again soon either here or in Washington I remain yours sincerely
