DRAFT/BILL SITTMANN

Dear Jerry:

I've looked into your letter of June 6 regarding energy tax credits for wind farmers and have been able to ascertain the following.

On February 26, the Treasury Department released to the Congress the general and technical explanations of the tax revision proposals announced by President Reagan in his State of the Union Address. I am enclosing a portion of the proposal regarding the recommendation to repeal business energy tax subsidies after December 13, 1982. However, please note that the proposals contain transition rules intended to protect taxpayers who have relied upon existing law incentives from loss on their investments. I hope this information will be helpful to you.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL K. DEEVER

Dear Mike:

I am sending along some material that pertains to wetland development in the United States, a portion of which is causing some concern among members of the California Waterfowl Association, as per Dan Chapin's letter of June 20, 1982.

There are many unanswered questions pertaining to the regulations, not the least of which is are they now in effect or just being proposed. If possible could you give someone on Vice President Bush's staff a call and have them communicate directly with Dan. I can vouch for him one hundred percent and know that he wouldn't have come to me if he didn't feel there was a very real potential disaster here.

Thanks for your help. Will be in contact soon regarding Thanksgiving, etc.

All the best,

The Honorable George Bush,
Vice President of the United States
Old Executive Office Building, Room 280
Washington, D. C. 20501

Dear Mr. Vice President:

Assistant Secretary of the Army Gianelli has recently sent us the Administrative Reforms to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Regulatory Program. We have reviewed them with interest and care, and have discussed the subject with Assistant Secretary of the Interior Arnett. Sections I-IV appear reasonable and desirable. However, the language in Section V concerning the scope of the program can potentially have an extremely serious impact on our nation's wetlands. Section V does not contain the specific criteria defining the types of wetlands covered and that is the crux of the matter.

I'm sure you are aware that criteria such as those contained in H.R. 393 would remove Corps protection from 123 million of the 148 million acres now covered by the program. Such a step would essentially eliminate federal wetland protection and is totally unacceptable. We are not suggesting an expansion of the current definition of wetlands to include all the types covered by the new USFWS classification. However, we see no reason for abandoning the present definition.

We would appreciate it if you or Assistant Secretary Gianelli would please advise whether or not you propose retaining the present definition of "wetlands" (barring Congressional action, of course) and, if not, what you propose to substitute for it.

Many thanks,

D. Chapin, Chairman
Resources Committee

Dear Mike:

I trust things are going well with you and that we both will be happy about the results of the election being held tomorrow. The Senate and House races do not look very good in Tennessee, but I believe the Governorship is secure.

Mike, so that there will be no misunderstanding concerning a request I made in behalf of the Country Music Association, I would appreciate your taking the time to let me refresh your memory concerning the event.

Next year is the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Country Music Association. This Association has 7,000 members in 25 countries dedicated to the promotion of America's music. The Association will have a gala in Washington on the evening of March 16, 1983, for the production of a major television special sponsored by Kraft and broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System. The producers, who I am told are "the best", are Gary Smith and Dwight Hemion. They are the premier team for music and variety specials. The cast includes Johnny Cash, Alabama, Dolly Parton, Ann Murray, Charlie Pride, Barbara Mandrell, Roy Clark, The Oak Ridge Boys and a number of other stars and legends from the country music field.

The Country Music Association would like for the President and Mrs. Reagan to select a charity which would benefit from the proceeds of this event. The CMA will underwrite all the costs of the television show and the performance itself, so there will be no risk to the charity. There will be approximately 2,500 seats to be sold for the evening, so some worthy cause can truly benefit. In exchange for this hundred or so thousand dollars going to a designated charity, the CMA would like for the President and Mrs. Reagan to attend the event. They would also like to have a White House reception for the cast and the Board of the CMA if such is possible.

Mike, not only will this help a most worthy cause by promoting country music and the Country Music Association, it will also help some local charity, or charities, which might be good politically. I know that the people in the Country Music Association would be most appreciative.

I would appreciate you personally considering this request and letting them know as soon as possible if there is any chance for the White House involvement.

Thanks for your consideration.

Dear Joe:

Many thanks for letting me know about the REACH program. I can assure you that the merits of the program were thoroughly considered by the Department of Labor, but their limited resources did not permit funding beyond December, 1982.

As you are probably aware, the REACH program was part of a three-year Department of Labor demonstration project. The Department usually funds such demonstration projects with the idea that the projects will have to seek other resources once the initial grant expires.

Thanks again for your comments.

Dear Mike:

At the request of our local YWCA, I am writing to ask consideration for the continuation of funding for their program called Rural Job-Readiness and Placement Service (REACH). The attached information will show you the tremendous job this program is accomplishing. I am convinced this is a program that helps others to help themselves. It is not a "giveaway". I also realize we must balance our budget. I do, however, ask that this program be given very thorough consideration as one that should be continued.

Thanks in advance for passing this on to the appropriate people.

Sincerely,

Joe M. Rodgers

YWCA
Rural Job-Readiness and Placement Service (REACH)

Services Offered:

Where: 4 counties: Sumner, Williamson, Robertson and Wilson

Those Served:

Total of over 300 women
155 served in 1982
53% - are high school drop-outs
36% - are minority
75% - are single parents
35% - on public assistance
24% - are less than 22 years old

Program:

1. 40 hours of job readiness training in small group. Skilled group counselors help participants to:
 - identify their own strengths and interests,
 - develop their own employment plan,
 - become more self-confident,
 - develop a support network
 - learn job seeking and interviewing skills
2. Job Advocacy - locate local jobs, establish local employer advisory panels. If necessary, partially subsidize first month of on-the-job training.
3. Follow-up - to assure continued successful job placement

Accomplishments:

78% placed in jobs or training
15% of high school drop-outs receive equivalency diplomas

Job Placement

50% of public assistance mothers receive private-sector employment. $100,000 in welfare payments saved

Low Costs

$733 cost for each client
low overhead-use of volunteers, donated local office space, minimal management costs

Benefit to local community

Counselors are hired from local community. Work closely with local services. Provide pool of job-ready entry-level workers.

National Recognition

Recognized as National Demonstration Model by Department of Labor. One of 2 U.S. programs selected by German Marshall fund to be studied by European fellowship winners. Many testimonials from satisfied employers and clients.

Future:

Is now in jeopardy. Funding by Tennessee Employment Training Council (Labor Department funds) expires on October 1, 1982. Application will be made for Department of Employment Security-Balance of State funds ($35 million available) on September 24. To be eligible for funds, we will offer expanded 8-12 week job training in these 4 counties, including remedial education services. Present costs of $115,000 must be increased close to $200,000. We will continue to focus on serving economically disadvantaged women.

How Can You Help?

*Contact any local, state or congressional officials especially those for whom you have campaigned or know personally. Telephone, telegraph, or write a brief personal note, asking for continued funding of program. If you can't reach your representative, speak with one of his key staff people.
within the next 2 weeks

OR: contact any interested friend who may have influence with this official and ask him/her to call.

YWCA RURAL JOB READINESS AND PLACEMENT SERVICE
August, 1982

The latest Census Bureau statistics reveal that the burden of poverty in Tennessee has shifted dramatically in the last decade to households headed by women. Families headed by women now make up 38.8% of all poverty-level families. In fact, 65,585 Tennessee women household heads - 35.7% of all female heads of households - live in poverty.

Responding to this growing problem, the YWCA Rural Job Readiness and Placment Service has enabled more than 200 rural women to enter the job market or vocational training when they must become the sole support of the family unit. The service, formerly called REACH, began in mid-1980 as a rural adaptation of the highly successful Nashville YWCA Displaced Homemakers Program.

Career advisors in Wilson, Robertson, Williamson, and Sumner Counties refer to local employers job-ready participants who have benefited from forty hours of orientation to the world of work and the employer's viewpoint, interest and basic skill testing, career exploration, self-awareness and motivation building. An on-going base of support for further assistance or counseling is provided to both participant and employer on an as-needed basis for up to a year after placement. Long-term follow-up reveals that 73% of the women placed are still employed at 6 months. Feedback from past-participants reveals that they not only found a job or appropriate training, but they also gained in self-confidence and have begun to form a network of mutual support with other women in their situation.

Employers who have hired through our service have commented:

"I've interviewed a lot of people, and the woman you sent is one of the best. I wish you could send me 10 more like her!" (personnel director, Wilson Sporting Goods Mfg.; Springfield)

"Last year we hired Mrs. B. through your recommendation. Since then she has developed to the point of being a highly skilled printer. I would like to express my gratitude and deep appreciation to you for sending us Mrs. B." (owner, Kirby's Printing Service, Gallatin)

The women with whom these employers are pleased had very real disadvantages in today's job market. Of the women who have participated in the Rural Job Readiness and Placement Service, 53% are high school drop-outs, 75% are single parents, 38% are either under age 22 or over age 45, and 36% are minority. All were living in poverty at the time they enrolled.

Yet 61% have entered employment directly, while another 17% have entered training. Nineteen have obtained GED diplomas. Two have completed LPN training and two are among the 15 who have remained in an LPN class which began as a class of 30.

More than one-third of the women who entered employment had previously been forced to turn to welfare. Twenty-two have now been on the job more than six months and have saved the taxpayers more than $99,000 in welfare assistance, in contrast to the $14,080 it cost for these 22 women to go through job readiness training. An additional $96,304 in welfare assistance is projected to be saved during the next year in regard to the welfare recipients who have more recently been placed in employment through the program. These figures do not include savings represented by program participants who were receiving Food Stamps only before they entered employment. These women are now tax payers, not tax takers and their children have a role model for self-support.

The Rural Job Readiness and Placement Service each year enrolls more than 150 women in four counties, with a projected FY83 budget of $115,965, a cost of $773 per person. As rural women and employers have observed the effectiveness of the program, demand for the service has grown. New enrollment during August, 1982 has shown a 92% increase over the same period last year.

March, 1980 - Sept., 1980: $47,000
Oct., 1981 - Sept., 1982 : 128,850

REACH June, 1980 - August, 1982
325 enrolled
288 terminated
218 to employment or training = 76%

Current REACH Contract (Oct., 1981 - August, 1982)
149 enrolled (contracted for 155 by end of September, 1982)
112 terminated
68 employed = 61%
87 employed or additional positive = 78%
37 currently enrolled

Welfare Statistics:

Statewide average payment per family per year (according to DHS in Nov., 1981):
AFDC: $1,343.16
Food Stamps: 1,302.60
Medicaid: 1,058.86
$3,704.62

48 former AFDC participants have been placed in employment.
2 have been employed 2 years: 4 x $3,704.62 = $14,818.48
5 have been employed 1.5 years: 7.5 x $3,704.62 = 27,784.65
13 have been employed 1 year: 13 x $3,704.62 = 48,160.06
1 has been employed 9 months: .75 x $3,704.62 = 2,778.47
3 have been employed 6 months: 1.5 x $3,704.62 = 5,556.93
Already saved: $99,098.59

Average cost per participant of $773 x 22 = $17,006

26 former AFDC recipients have been in employment less than six months.

Average .25 year x $3,704.62 x 26 = $24,080.03 saved.

Average cost per participant: $773 x 26 = $20,098

If these 26 are employed for a year, savings will be $3,704.62 x 26 = $96,320.12

Another 90 women who were below poverty level, but not receiving AFDC have been placed in employment.

New enrollment during August, 1982: 25

Thank you for your September 7th note alerting me to Burt Chamberlain's Cities in Schools Program.

Last week, the Department of Health and Human Services appropriated a one-time $400,000 grant to Cities in Schools to keep them operational until their private sector funding takes over in January 1983.

The Arco Corporation, Morgan Stanley, and other major corporations, have been very supportive, with both financial and human capital.

If you are still interested in donating to the program, you would be in good company.

Rod Rude of ARCO placed a call to you on August 10, 1982, on my behalf, requesting a meeting. He notified me that you would be out of town, and that you or an aide asked that I put my request in a letter. I will attempt to be brief and to the point.

Bob Anderson arranged a meeting with you, and I met with you on January 14, 1982. The purpose was to inform you of the Cities In Schools program, particularly its pioneering work in establishing private/public partnerships in seven cities across the nation.

You were favorably impressed and suggested that this concept was modeling the President's intent to have the private sector give leadership to public sector needs. Furthermore, you stated that if Bob Anderson agreed, you would contact the White House on our behalf to:

- (1) share the information about CIS with the First Family or a top aide, requesting a meeting so that we might share this program first-hand.
- (2) assist us in asking the White House to use their authority to authorize a discretionary grant for $1 million.

Since January, we have succeeded in maintaining our programs without federal assistance. We now have a desperate need for $406,000 to get us to January 1, 1983. At that time we have pledges from the private sector to cover our budget. We will be forced to shut the doors on our National Office without the $406,000 by October 1, 1982.

SUBJECT: Background on the Cities in Schools Program.

Cities in Schools is an excellent example of a partnership with educational institutions and business involved in getting youth back into the classroom and off the streets. The program finds part time work and skills training jobs for its students.

This office and the Department of Education have had weekly discussions with Burt Chamberlin and the President of Cities in Schools, Bill Milliken for the last six months.

Mrs. Bush has visited two Cities in Schools sites and last week held a fundraiser in Washington, D.C. for the program.

Also, last week HHS appropriated a one-time $400,000 grant to Cities in Schools to keep them in the black until its private sector funding becomes available in January, '83.

The Arco Corporation, Morgan Stanley, and other major corporations, have been very supportive, with both financial and human capital.

If Mr. Dart is interested in donating to the program, he would be in good company.

Be sure if you feel are still interested in donating to the program you would be in good company.

Dear Mike:

I don't really know too much about the attached project other than Bob Anderson did get me to attend a meeting last January.

If it isn't an imposition ~~could you pass this along to someone to see if there is anyone that might be able to see Mr. Chamberlain.~~ I'd be most appreciative and so would Bob.

Kindest regards and thanks,

Mr. Michael Deaver

Dear Mr. Dart:

Rod Rude of ARCO placed a call to you on August 10, 1982, on my behalf, requesting a meeting. He notified me that you would be out of town, and that you or an aide asked that I put my request in a letter. I will attempt to be brief and to the point.

Bob Anderson arranged a meeting with you, and I met with you on January 14, 1982. The purpose was to inform you of the Cities In Schools program, particularly its pioneering work in establishing private/public partnerships in seven cities across the nation.

You were favorably impressed and suggested that this concept was modeling the President's intent to have the private sector give leadership to public sector needs. Furthermore, you stated that if Bob Anderson agreed, you would contact the White House on our behalf to:

- (1) share the information about CIS with the First Family or a top aide, requesting a meeting so that we might share this program first-hand.
- (2) assist us in asking the White House to use their authority to authorize a discretionary grant for $1 million.

Since January, we have succeeded in maintaining our programs without federal assistance. We now have a desperate need for $406,000 to get us to January 1, 1983. At that time we have pledges from the private sector to cover our budget. We will be forced to shut the doors on our National Office without the $406,000 by October 1, 1982.

I am available to answer questions regarding the mechanics of discretionary funds available in several agencies.

Your assistance is needed and most appreciated.

Sincerely,

Burton F. Chamberlin

MEMORANDUM TO JAMES A. BAKER, III

FROM: MICHAEL K. DEEVER M

SUBJECT: White House Liaison for the Arts and Humanities

After much consideration and discussing the choice with John Rogers, I have decided to ask Theresa Elmore, from the Office of Administration to act as our Liaison from the White House for the Arts and Humanities.

It is my understanding that Theresa is very enthusiastic about assuming these additional responsibilities and I hope that you concur with my selection.

*8/6 MKD
I think Theresa's
a very good choice.

Dear John:

Thank you for your Mailgram of September 16th.

As you know, the United States and Israel have an enduring special relationship based on moral as well as strategic interests. As the President said in his speech, "Israel exists; it has a right to demand of its defensible borders; and it has a right to demand of its neighbors that they recognize those facts...In the pre-1967 borders, Israel was barely 10 miles wide at its narrowest point. The bulk of Israel's inhabitants lived within artillery range of hostile Arab armies. I am not about to ask Israel to live that way again."

This Administration is committed to a secure Israel, and as the President stated, this commitment is ironclad. Indeed, improving and guaranteeing Israeli security is the fundamental premise of the President's initiative. The President firmly believes that peace cannot be achieved by the formation of a Palestinian state in the West Bank and Gaza, nor will peace be achieved on the basis of Israeli sovereignty or permanent control over those territories. Peace can only be achieved through open, direct and face-to-face negotiations concerning these areas. The President's initiative embodies principles for negotiations, not preconditions, nor imposed solutions.

Thank you for taking the time to share your thoughts with me.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL K. DEEVER

Dear Mr. DuFour:

I would very much like to have you come to Washington as a guest of the United States to discuss the logistics of the Economic Summit that we will be hosting in Williamsburg, Virginia next spring. Because of the smooth coordination of the Economic Summit that was held in France earlier this year, I feel that your in-put would be most helpful.

If the timing is convenient for you we would like you to arrive in Washington the evening of October 17th and schedule the meeting for the 18th. Please contact Bill Sittmann (202/456-2861) of my staff and he will be happy to make the necessary arrangements.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Goodman:

Thank you for your letter of September 22nd offering the use of your bungalows for the housing of the President and his staff during the Economic Summit next spring.

After much deliberation we have finally decided on Williamsburg, Virginia as the location for the Summit, however, I did want you to know how much we appreciate your generous offer.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Deaver:

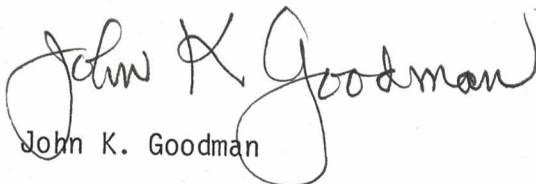

Mr. Larry Lawrence has informed me of the possible use of the Hotel del Coronado for an International Conference in the Spring of 1983.

Should the Hotel del Coronado be selected for this purpose, my sister, Mrs. Eugene Strauss, and I would very much like the President and Mrs. Reagan, and their staff to be our guests in our two bungalows. These bungalows are located directly on the beach and immediately adjacent to the north-west corner of the hotel's property. I am sure the President is familiar with these bungalows because of his many trips to Coronado in the past.

I would be particularly happy to extend this hospitality to a fellow Rancho and collector of Olaf Wieghorst paintings.

At your convenience, I would very much appreciate hearing from you regarding the President's decision.

Sincerely,

John K. Goodman

Dear Mike,

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the White House Staff for the fine job they did, and for the tremendous cooperation they gave to us during the visit of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II and The Prince Philip.

In particular, I would like to commend Mr. Jim Kuhn, Mr. Bill Sitman and Mr. Andy Stringor. Their professional manner and dedication to duty were in great measure responsible for the success of the event.

Most cordially,

George Deukmejian
