Dear Frank:

Thanks for Don Damato's resume.

I've passed it on to Jerry Carmen and our White House personnel shop. I assure you he'll get serious consideration.

Many thanks.

Dear Mr. Deaver: MIKE

Enclosed is a resume of a good friend,
Don Damato. Don has an interest in a position with the administration perhaps with the Small Business Administration. His credentials include that of attorney-at-law and former F.B.I. Agent.

Don is, or shortly will be in a position to relocate if necessary.

I appreciate any considerations your offices can show him.

Cordially,

Frank T. Murphy

Dear Mike:

I am writing on behalf of Helen Delich Bentley who, as I understand it, was very near the appointment of Undersecretary of the Navy when some questions were raised regarding a suit in which she was involved. It is my understanding these legal matters have all been settled amicably, but in the meantime apparently another candidate has been put forward for that position.

As you know, Helen Bentley was a candidate for Congress in a very tough Democratic district last fall in Maryland and garnered more votes than any Republican candidate in recent memory in that area. This followed her distinguished record of service in the Nixon and Ford Administrations as Chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission.

Whether it is warranted or not, this Administration has been taking a beating from the press and women's groups on what is perceived as a poor record of appointing qualified women to high-level positions. This would seem to be a golden opportunity for us to counteract some of that criticism by appointing a woman who is generally agreed to be fully qualified for the position of Undersecretary of the Navy.

Another advantage she has is her ethnic background, and she did some effective work with ethnic groups during the last two Presidential campaigns.

I hope the decision to drop her from consideration for this position will be reevaluated, and hopefully when a more complete review of her background and experience is concluded, she will be appointed to this very responsible post.

Sincerely,

Robert H. Michel
Republican Leader

Enclosed is a copy of a letter of recommendation that Glenn has written to Secretary Weinberger at the request of Dr. James George, a former Public Affairs Fellow of the Hoover Institution. Dr. George, who receives Glenn's strong recommendation, is specifically interested in the position of Deputy Under Secretary of the Navy.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR

May 13, 1981

Dear Cap:

I am writing to you at the request of James L. George, professional staff member in national security affairs for the House Committee on Government Operations. With this letter I would, therefore, like to give him my strong support for the position of Deputy Under Secretary of the Navy.

As you may know, Dr. George was a Public Affairs Fellow at the Hoover Institution in 1972. His resume is attached so I will not review his accomplishments in depth, except to emphasize that he is especially well qualified for this position both substantively and politically.

He was a Republican staff member in the Senate for national security affairs for four years and for the past four years has held a similar position in the House. Following his graduation from the Naval Academy, he served six years as an officer in the Navy from 1961 to 1967. At that time he was discharged following a successful laryngectomy which has left the clarity of his voice somewhat impaired, but he speaks well in meetings and seminars and addresses larger groups with a microphone.

Since his residence at the Hoover Institution in 1972-73, I have remained in contact with Dr. George regularly. On the basis of my own experience and on the basis of the experience of many of my colleagues at Stanford University and in Washington, D.C., his abilities as a scholar and administrator in the field of international relations are superior. Of the almost 150 individuals who have held fellowships at the Hoover Institution since 1971, Dr. George ranks, without any question whatsoever, in the top ten percent. I have respect for his objective judgment and consistent ability to arrive at well-balanced analyses of complex issues in the field of international relations.

Dr. George is committed to maintaining high standards, both personally and professionally. On the basis of my association with him for close to ten years, this letter represents my strong endorsement of his abilities.

I hope that this letter is helpful, and needless to say, I would be happy to provide further information at any time.

Sincerely yours,

SUBJECT: President's Export Council

Dear Mr. Deaver:

It is my understanding that Commerce Secretary Baldrige and Undersecretary Olmer have recommended to the White House that I be appointed to the President's Export Council, and Senator Bill Roth told me that he had contacted Secretary Baldrige to endorse this action.

While I was away on a trip, a telephone call came to my office inquiring about my political credentials. Let me say that I supported President Reagan, starting in the Primary Campaign, as evidenced by the enclosed two letters from him, and changed my affiliation from Democrat to Republican in my home state of Maryland.

In terms of substantive qualifications, I have spent most of my career in the international business field, as shown by the enclosed biographical sketch, and I have served as Chairman or a member on Export Expansion voluntary committees in Pittsburgh, in Chicago for the State of Illinois, and served on Regional Export Expansion Councils for Chicago and for Maryland.

I commend to your reading the enclosed report on "U.S. Export Policy" which, although dated December, 1978, is still fundamentally valid, since most of the disincentives and lack of incentives continue for American exporters, although the Reagan Administration and Congress are now beginning to act to reestablish America's global competitive position in exports and economic affairs. An Assistant Secretary in the Commerce Department has told me that this Report has been his most valuable instrument for analysis and recommendations as how to straighten out the American export situation.

One other enclosure is Testimony that I gave to the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee on the need for improvement in America's international economic position.

Dear Mike:

I agree completely with the Administration's desire to get the Government out of the motion picture and audiovisual field. It has been greatly over-expanded and unprofitable.

There are areas, however, where national security and other reasons make government control and use of audiovisuals essential.

When I was in the Senate, I stopped Secretary McNamara's plan to close Norton Air Force Base. I also was instrumental in making that base the hub of the wheel for all Air Force audiovisual work. Before then it had been all over the lot like a flock of frightened muskrats. For the first time the entire operation from plan to print was in one manageable location.

Now I hear there is a search on for a properly qualified, experienced man to head up this operation. There is a man well qualified from the standpoint of experience and performance record who would like this assignment. He is Robert S. Scott and his official forms and references have been sent to the appropriate offices in the White House and to the Department of Defense. He has been a working Republican since 1952, and I am sure he would do a great job.

Any help will be greatly appreciated by,

Murphy

Dear Mr. Deaver:

For a significant period of time, the National Labor Relations Board has been operating with only three members. I am sure you would agree that the vital work of the Board will be improved and the process of important cases will be expedited with the nomination and Senate consent of competent nominees for the two vacant seats.

I am pleased to join a broad group of individuals and organizations in supporting the nomination of Robert P. Hunter, currently serving as Chief Counsel of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee, for the post of Chairman of the National Labor Relations Board.

Mr. Hunter is admirably qualified for the position by virtue of his professional background, experience, and personal qualities. His previous association with the Board, expertise in labor law, and administrative experience provide him with the depth of knowledge and ability that would be well utilized in the Chairmanship of the Board. Moreover, his broad acceptability by various segments demonstrates both his impartial expertise and the likelihood for swift Senate consent.

Accordingly, I wish to lend my support to the nomination of Mr. Hunter for the position of Chairman of the National Labor Relations Board.

Dear Mike:

Your mail must be running at about the same flood level as the Mississippi after a big winter thaw, but I venture to add to it with one more personnel suggestion -- for one of those positions on the Board for International Broadcasting.

The nominee: Col. Barney Oldfield, USAF(Ret.), who is a well-known-to and longtime associate of the President.

He has many involvements which would seem to match the position well - Trustee of Edward R. Murrow Symposium, Washington State University; was the founder of the Radio and Television News Directors Foundation and administers its endowed scholarships program; is on the Board of Advisors to the Dean of the School of Journalism, University of Nebraska; has lived, worked and done assignments of one kind or another in 69 countries on every continent; and when we had a Litton International Development Corporation he was one of its Vice Presidents. He has been our point of contact in East/West trade, and exchange relations with Communist Bloc countries, so has no illusions about the game-playing. He is widely acquainted with key people, knowledgeable, remembers everybody and they remember him, knows where to go to get answers and has wide access to all kinds of information. He is constantly sought out by professionals for backgrounders on locales, personalities, and how to get from here to there. He has been variously a newspaperman, worked in radio, was a Hollywood publicist at Warner Brothers (where the President was one of his personalities assigned), was the longest timer of regular military officers in public affairs and was the first newspaperman to become a paratrooper when the Army started that branch of service. He is a professional writer, scripts, books, magazine pieces, speeches (frequently picked up in Vital Speeches of the Day and the Congressional RECORD). He wrote many of the one-liners for the President's campaign.

He has been with me now for more than 18 years, is an adept and skilled staff man, a great admirer and respecter of President Reagan to whom he has been dedicated for nearly four decades.

This will give you enough of an idea to make a determination whether to pursue the suggestion further, and I appreciate very much your giving it your attention.

Sincerely,

Charles B. Thornton

Dear Lt. Cdr. Steiner:

Thank you for your letter of recent date recommending Jim Carey for a position in the Navy and Defense Departments.

Needless to say, we always appreciate the information and insight that associates of potential appointees are willing to afford us, as it serves to expedite the evaluation process. I hope that you will feel free to offer us your advice and counsel on similar matters in the future.

Thank you again for your assistance in regard to this matter.

Dear Mike

I spent a few days in Wash. last week working on some National Park Service matters and had a nice couple of hours with Jim Watt. I'm really impressed what he is doing but I am concerned about the bad press he's getting here, courtesy of the Sierra Club & other extreme groups.

Mike - I am a candidate for an appointment to the National Park System Advisory Board. Sec. Watt makes the appointment. I would appreciate any help.

Kindest regards to you and the family.

Ambassadorial

MEMORANDM FOR: The Honorable Michael K. Deaver
Assistant to the President and
Deputy Chief of Staff

SUBJECT: Ambassadorial Candidates

Here are three Ambassadorial candidates that I feel I am obligated to speak up for as a result of their campaign activities. One has Ambassadorial experience and the other two are also well qualified.

Ralph Becker. While we were in California, I enlisted him to follow John Anderson's legal machinations in his effort to qualify in various states--the Carter effort to block him, etc. He had handled the Rocky Mountain States in the Nixon and Ford campaigns and has been politically active since he was President of the Young Republicans in New York State. He worked faithfully and provided counsel on the Anderson developments. After the election he was active in raising money and developing programs for the Inaugural. He's been Counsel for the Kennedy Center since the Eisenhower days and has represented a lot of embassies around town. Jerry Ford appointed him as Ambassador to Honduras and he is anxious to represent the United States in one of the small European nations or, as a second choice, in Latin America.

Bob Evans was a Connally supporter. When Connally dropped out and we weren't bringing in any money, I asked him to do a fund-raiser in Detroit before the Michigan primary. He had a fund-raising dinner in Detroit which the candidate, Ed Meese and I attended. It raised $350,000 and was, I think, the biggest fund-raiser we had outside of California. Then again, at my request, he took on the chairmanship or the thousand-dollar-a-plate dinner at the Detroit Plaza during the Convention. He produced more money for key state committees to fund the grass roots activity during the election campaign. Evans, who is a former President of American Motors, was always ready to do whatever was asked of him. He is interested in becoming Ambassador to Switzerland. There is an American Ambassador to Switzerland at Bern and an Ambassador to the U.N. in Geneva. If Switzerland is not possible, I would like to see him offered some other post.

Jim Davant, another early Connally supporter, pitched in to raise money for us in both the primary and election campaigns. He's just retired as Chief Executive of Paine Webber and is interested in New Zealand, Canada, or one of the small European countries.

David Miller would like to be the U.S. Ambassador to Tanzania. Sec. Balrige thinks the State Dept. will recommend him.

He wanted you to know, when the approval comes to you, that his wife, Molly, "almost single-handedly" ran the executive head of the Reagan Business Committee. This is the National Business Committee, he said. He just wanted you to know that she is very politically active and that she did a great job for the Business Committee.

MEMO TO: Mike Deaver

FROM: Paul Laxalt

DATE: April 27, 1981

I am writing about Ed Weidenfeld and the Federal Trade Commission Chairmanship.

The FTC has an enormous impact on American business. The Commission has become a court of first resort for the fringes of the consumer movement. Its "antitrust" and "consumer protection" responsibilities range from approving business mergers to regulating retail credit disclosures. The FTC also regulates advertising, marketing and sales practices. The FTC is an independent agency. Commissioners cannot be removed. The President names his Chairman, but removing a Chairman could create a public spectacle. All Commission members vote, but the Chairman controls the staff and sets the tone.

Ed Weidenfeld is qualified for the job. He's practiced law before the agency and he's managed a government staff. His work in the campaign demonstrates his commitment to President Reagan. You are familiar with his outstanding background. He could make a major contribution to the President's deregulation program.

WILLIAM A. CLEMENT, JR.

William A. Clement, Jr. is the President of The Dobbs Corporation, an investment brokerage firm in Washington, DC. The firm specializes in developing sources of credit and capital for small business enterprises. Additionally, The Dobbs Corporation provides general management and business counseling to both profit and non-profit organizations.

Prior to forming his own firm, Mr. Clement served in the Carter Administration as the Assistant Administrator of the U.S. Small Business Administration in Washington, DC. He was the agency's top management officer in charge of minority business development and was responsible for the policy and management of SBA's 8(a) Business Development Program. During his tenure at SBA, the program was structured as a more comprehensive business development program which included government procurement, financial assistance, and management and technical support. Mr. Clement was a member of both the agency's Management Board and Executive Committee.

Before serving in the Carter Administration, Mr. Clement was the Vice-President and Senior Loan Officer of the Citizens Trust Bank in Atlanta, Georgia. He started his business career as a credit analyst and commercial loan officer with the North Carolina National Bank in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Mr. Clement was a stockbroker with the Robinson-Humphrey Company and Bache, Halsey Stuart Shields, Inc., member firms of the New York Stock Exchange.

He was a life insurance agent with the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company and received his CLU designation from the American College of Life Underwriters, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

In September 1979, Mr. Clement was appointed by President Carter as a member of the Board of Directors, National Consumer Cooperative Bank, Washington, DC.

Presently, Mr. Clement is an adjunct professor at the Howard University School of Business and Finance in Washington, DC.

He is a member of the Board of Advisors, the National Bank of Washington in Washington, DC, and a member of the Board of Trustees, the Metropolitan Baptist Church in Washington, DC.

A graduate of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia, he received his MBA from the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mike:

Enclosed is a resume on Mr Norman J. Kautz who I understand is one of the individuals being considered for appointment to the Commodity Futures Trading Corporation. It is my understanding that E. Pendleton James or others may already have visited with Mr. Kautz.

Although I am not personally acquainted with Mr. Kautz, he comes highly recommended by Mr. Mort Sosland as well as Mr. Walt Vernon. Both of these gentlemen are well known to me and have my respect and admiration because of their involvement with the Kansas City Board of Trade and the Kansas City agricultural community futures areas. As a matter of fact, I had recommended Mort for the position of Secretary of Agricultural but regrettably he withdrew his name from consideration by reason of the many stringent restrictions relating to the 1978 Ethics in Government Act. I would be most grateful if you would make known to Mr. James our collective interest in the prospective appointment of Mr. Kautz.

Needless to say, we are all gratified that the President is recovering rapidly and feel a sense of shame over the tragic attempt on his life.

Warm personal regards.

MELVIN H. PELFREY
VICE PRESIDENT
GREAT LAKES

April 8, 1981

Mr. Mike Deaver
Deputy Chief of Staff
White House
1600 Penn. Ave. N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. Deaver:

We are writing to endorse the candidacy of John E. Mogk for the Chairmanship of the United States Section of the International Joint Commission (IJC).

A large part of the IJC's function is directed toward problems involving the Great Lakes. We believe Mr. Mogk's residence in the State of Michigan -- which is in the center of the Great Lakes -- would be a positive factor in contributing to his ability to lend to the effectiveness of the Commission.

John Mogk's background of law, specifically in the area of environmental protection and his involvement in energy and resource research, qualifies him to function as Chairman of the IJC.

We strongly urge the selection of John Mogk for this position.

Sincerely,

Melvin H. Pelfrey

Dear Secretary Baldrige:

While I recognize that your office has been inundated with thousands of interested people who would like to serve you in various capacities, I wanted to bring to your attention the name of another outstanding individual, Mr. Robert J. Evers, who has expressed a strong interest in being considered for the position of Director of the Bureau of Industrial Economics.

Mr. Evers has had an extensive background both in the government as well as private industry. I will not review here his extensive accomplishments, all of which are outlined in the enclosed vitae. After your review and evaluation of his qualifications, I am confident that he could make an invaluable contribution to the Commerce Department.

Thank you for your consideration of this recommendation.

My best personal regards,

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. CLINGER, JR.
