SUBJECT:

ATTACHED INAUGURAL DRAFT SUMMARY SCHEDULE

Bill Henkel has not yet reviewed the attached. He asked me to send you this "rough cut" so that you and Mr. Deaver would be able to review it as soon as possible.

Should the possible receptions be shown on this summary schedule (Gala entertainers on Sunday and Governors on Monday afternoon)?

After your input and Bill Henkel's, we will plan to send this up to Camp David.

THE COMMITTEE FOR THE 50TH AMERICAN PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURAL

Washington, D.C.

202/433-7400

MEMORANDUM FOR:

GENERAL CHAIRMAN
CHAIRMAN
DIVISION DIRECTORS

FROM:

JOHN F. W. ROGERS

SUBJECT:

MAINTENANCE OF OFFICIAL COMMITTEE FILES

John F. W. Rogers
Director & General Manager

Each Division of this Committee is urged to maintain complete files documenting its organization, functions, operating procedures, and all essential transactions. Given time restraints and the need for quick action, the maintenance of good documentation is necessary for effective operations and may be needed by other Divisions in carrying out their responsibilities. Also, our Committee's official files will be used by successor committees in planning for future inaugurations; those of you who have used past committees' records know their value in this regard.

The Committee's files will eventually be deposited in the Reagan Presidential Library where they will serve as the primary historical records of the 50th Presidential Inauguration.

All Divisions of the Committee should take the following steps:

1. Establish a file system based on functions and need. In most instances a simple chronological day file and alphabetical subject file, in conjunction with case files, will be sufficient.
2. Document conscientiously activities and operations in record form: incoming and outgoing correspondence, memoranda, directives, progress reports, press releases, minutes of meetings, contracts, requisitions, lists of personnel and of vendors and others outside of the Committee who provide services, newspaper clippings, organizational charts, floor plans, maps, architectural drawings, video tapes, and photographs.
3. Directors should consider designating a staff member to monitor compliance with the above.

Jerry Wallace, Historian-Archivist, is responsible for seeing that this Committee's official files are properly maintained and preserved. If you have any questions concerning your files, please contact him on 433-7486.

Thank you.

DRAFT

M E M O R A N D U M

TO: MIKE DEEVER, RON WALKER
FROM: JIM LAKE
DATE: DECEMBER 11, 1984
RE: A COMMUNICATIONS PLAN FOR CHRISTMAS - INAUGURAL

In order for us to effectively heighten the interest the Inaugural deserves in the weeks immediately prior to it, we've put together a draft plan on what information will be released between Christmas and January 21.

A great deal of information, much of it logistical, some of it more important than others, can be released in the form of news releases, press conferences, and briefings. The best format for that would be to have Mike Deaver be the press person who announces events and details, unless he feels a specific event should be announced by someone else.

The attached week-by-week plan has specific suggestions for Christmas week and the week of New Years Day, because there are limits as to the amount of information that can be released at that time without it disappearing. For the two weeks prior to the Inaugural, however, we have put down suggestions as to what should be released with the exact formats and days to be determined, for there may be the need to put out more than one release a day, or to have press conferences that would highlight the arrangements and events. Please note that this plan is tentative and subject to suggestion. Also, that is predicated on the understanding that there won't be an announcement about the Gala stars or the Super Bowl coin toss until at least Christmas week. Also, we are assuming that this week we'll put out an announcement on parade ticket sales through Ticketron.

CHRISTMAS WEEK PLAN

As Christmas takes up a large chunk of the week, it would be the best that there be no information that week released until Thursday, December 27.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 27

As Christmas week is when Americans focus on football playoffs, this would be the best day to announce the President's participation in the Super Bowl coin toss. It would allow the networks -- specifically ABC -- to hype the event over the course of their weekend football shows. Working with the NFL and with ABC, we should have a press conference, or at minimum, a news release to go out under the joint heading of the PIC, ABC, and the NFL, and we should work directly with ABC to encourage their special attention to the news of this event.

DRAFT

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28

This would be the best day to announce the details on the ball site and which state contingents are going to be there, for interest in this is already developing. We'd like to put out a release on the ball sites and the delegations that will be at each, as well as the entertainment for the balls, and release that not only here in D.C., but to the principle wire service outlet in each state, so that Sunday papers would carry what the people from, say, Idaho can expect just three short weeks away.

NEWS YEARS WEEK PLAN

New Years offers the same trouble as Christmas in terms of making news. However, people do read newspapers on New Years Day, and the press corps will be in town on New Years Eve. Therefore, as people will be focusing on their own parties and entertainment, New Years Eve would be the best day to announce who will be appearing at the Galas. We are assuming that we will not have been forced to release this information earlier because of news leaking out.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 31

In a somewhat lighthearted fashion, we should early in the day put out a release focusing on reporters looking forward to parties. We should state that this is why today we're announcing who will be at the Galas. If Frank Sinatra could hold a press conference on this day, we would be guaranteed coverage. However, if not, because this is a traditional night of festivity, this would be perhaps the best day to spell out who will be the entertainment, and other details of the Galas.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2

We will try to focus coverage from the networks and other news outlets on the role of youth in the Inaugural. This day should be used to either release through a news release or through a briefing of a small amount of the press, all the details on all youth activities. This would include details on all events, the entertainment, on the participants, how they were picked, etc.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3

In preparation for reporters writing their weekend pieces, we should announce on this day an update on all of the events, including our press information packet, if we are able to put this together by this date. This would be a good way to reiterate what events are coming up, as well as to put out any information that has been updated since the initial press conference, on November 29.

WEEK OF JANUARY 7 - 11

On this, the next to last week of the Inaugural, we should release the following information:

- * Details on the Parade, including information about the attendance of the 50 State Governors as Grand Marshals.

- * Details on the successful marketing of commemorative items.

- * Details on press credentialing including how reporters' requests for credentials are being tallied and processed.

- * An explanation of the relationship between PIC and AFIC, the Joint Congressional Inaugural Committee, and the City of Washington. This should pre-empt the inevitable stories about taxpayer financing of the Inaugural.

- * An announcement of the gifts that will be presented to Inaugural Ball attendees.

THE FINAL WEEK

All last minute details and announcements can be put out in the form of releases in this final week, as we are all but guaranteed major coverage. The final week, however, should also be spent trying to arrange interviews for the principles.

In addition, we should:

- * Release information on the foreign dignitaries.

- * Release information on the logistical details of the Inaugural (so many miles of cable will be used, the fireworks weigh so many pounds and are set off by so and so, etc.)

- * Release a re-cap of all events on the calendar, including maps, times and personalities.

DRAFT

* Initiate stories by selected reporters on the PIC organization with details of budget, planning process, and other information to heighten awareness in the press of the organizational effectiveness of the Inaugural Committee.
