THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

December 3, 1987

MEMORANDUM FOR BILL REESE

FROM: Mark Weinberg

Attached are several items of interest regarding press coverage of Summit events:

- 1) U.S. Press Coverage Arrangements for Presidential Summit Events - This is the general outline of how press coverage at the White House will work. Included are pool compositions and assembly times for U.S. press. This will be distributed to the press corps tomorrow, Friday, December 4.
- 2) Summit Pool Pass Assignments - This is the current list of what pool pass will be used for each event. It corresponds to item 1, above. As other pools are assigned, additional pool pass numbers will be utilized and those responsible will get assignment information to you.
- 3) Exclusive Still Photo Coverage by Day - Marlin Fitzwater, Elaine Crispen and I have developed 14 situations, not included in the general press plan, for special coverage, involving 1 to 3 still photographers. These are "exclusives" and should not be widely discussed. Because of their special nature, we have not assigned them pool numbers or pool passes. A staff member (in some cases a White House staff photographer) will escort in all instances.
- 4) International Press Pool Sizes - This shows where "international" (non US and non USSR) journalists will be granted access to pools and in what numbers. Bob Garrity of USIA is responsible for composing these pools and he has been requested to include only those with a permanent White House press credential. If he is unable to do so, he has been told to have names and affiliations to me 24-48 hours in advance.
- 5) Soviet Press Pool Sizes - This shows where Soviet journalists will be granted access to pools and in what numbers. Mary Masserini is working with the Soviet press officials on composition of these pools. A list of all Soviet journalists will be submitted to the WAVES Control Center.

Dear Ms. Crispen,

In order to give full coverage to the activities of the First Lady and Raisa Gorbachev, The Chicago Tribune will augment Michael Kilian's efforts with those of Lisa Anderson, a member of the Tribune's New York bureau, and an increased photographic team.

We plan a special set of stories for the Tribune's feature sections on this aspect of the historic summit and this letter is to underscore our interest in being included at photo sessions, ceremonial visits and news conferences. Mr. Kilian will be contact person for Mrs. Reagan's activities and Paul Gero, the Washington bureau photographer will be our point man on photo arrangements.

We will be grateful for your assistance. If you require any further information on the Tribune's plans or coverage please call me.

Sincerely yours,

Elaine,

I returned the call to Iona Andronov with Literary Gazette, a Russian weekly illustrated newspaper. He had spoken with Dan Howard a couple of weeks ago about the possibility of interviewing Mrs. Reagan for his publication. He said his publication is not a government paper, although of course it follows the "party line," but he wanted to stress that the paper is a "trade union" publication and is very popular with the Soviet public. It is not "stuffy," and features "more humane" stories. (published on Wednesdays)
like "Pravda" he said,

He is requesting a few minutes with NR to talk about her interests and the president as a husband. He would submit questions in advance. Does not need to talk with her before the summit, he said after would be okay.

The gist of his pitch was that with the thawing of relations, he would like the opportunity to present NR to the Soviet public so they can know her better, in light of the anti-American/hard rhetoric of the recent past.

He'll be in D.C. covering the summit starting later today.

To obtain a Summit credential, members of the press must complete a Press Credential Application (available at the White House Press Office, the State Department Press Office, the Foreign Press Center and cabled to all US Embassies) and return it to the White House Press Office, the State Department Press Office or Foreign Press Center (898 National Press Building, Washington, D.C. 20045 - FAX # 202/724-0122), by the close of business Friday, November 20th. No applications will be accepted after that date and no credentials will be issued to anyone who does not submit an application. Information on credential pick-up will be forthcoming.

Event Coverage Due to space limitations, most events will be covered by pools. In most instances, pools will be composed of three parts: 1) US press, 2) Soviet press and 3) International press. Composition of the US press pool will be by the White House Press Office. Composition of the Soviet press pool will be by the Soviet Embassy. Composition of the International press pool will be by the Foreign Press Center. A special credential will be issued for each event. Only those having a specific event credential and general Summit credential will be admitted to an event site for coverage.

MEMORANDUM FOR WHITE HOUSE STAFF

FROM: HOWARD H. BAKER, JR.

SUBJECT: POLICIES AND PROCEDURES REGARDING ACCESS
DURING U.S./U.S.S.R. SUMMIT MEETINGS

In order to ensure the proper setting for the upcoming Summit meetings and to ensure that various security, access and day-to-day business requirements are met, there are some general procedures which have been developed of which you should be aware.

Soviet visitors to the White House complex will be escorted by Secret Service personnel at all times. Soviet visitors will be allowed into no locations other than those designated as "Summit Areas" (see below). Rooms are being provided to the Soviets for the purposes of meetings and holding areas only.

Activities taking place in the Residence such as the State Dinner and the Signing Ceremony will be governed by existing procedures -- i.e., U.S.S.S., Ushers, State Department Protocol and Social Office policies for access and activities.

Similarly, the State Arrival and Departure Ceremonies will be modeled largely after existing procedures.

Certain rooms have been designated as being within the "Summit Area." Special arrangements have been made regarding access to and use of these rooms:

The Oval Office: Presidential meetings.

The Cabinet Room: To be used for plenary meetings which may take place concurrently with meetings in the Oval Office between the President and General Secretary, limited to high level meeting participants only.

The Roosevelt Room: To be used as a holding area for potential meeting participants (U.S. and Soviet) who need to be close at hand.

The West Lobby: Other approved U.S. and Soviet essential staff (i.e., doctors, Military Aides, translation equipment technicians, personal assistants, protocol representatives, etc.) who are required to be close at hand.

The Map Room: For the personal use of the General Secretary and the Foreign Minister in the event they request a personal, private area for their use during the Summit meetings or to take or receive a phone call over Soviet phone lines. Beyond this contingency, no use of the Map Room by the Soviet side is anticipated.

The Staff Dressing Rooms: Located beneath the Library and Vermeil Room in the Residence. This space is designated as a holding area for "all other" U.S. and Soviet personnel who are authorized to be in the Summit Area (i.e., additional support, communications and security personnel).

As a whole, these rooms, and the hallways and colonnade connecting them, constitute the "Summit Area." To keep this Summit Area orderly and also to avoid disruption in the day-to-day West Wing business, passes will be issued to an approved list of all those U.S. and Soviet personnel who will be required to be in the Summit Area. With the exceptions of the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, the Chief of Staff and the National Security Advisor, everybody in the Summit Area during meeting times will be required to display this pass to gain access to the Summit Area. No one without an approved pass, including members of the senior staff with offices in the West Wing, will have access to these rooms. Conversely, non-West Wing personnel who are issued Summit passes will be asked not to enter parts of the West Wing which are not Summit Areas.

There will be two passes issued, one for U.S. personnel and one for Soviet personnel.

Several other policies deemed necessary to make this system work:

-- All pass holders entering and departing the West Wing during the period December 8 through December 10 will be required to use the West Basement entrance. The West Lobby door will be closed to access during this period.

-- Staff are discouraged from clearing or escorting guests and visitors into the West Wing during this period.

-- The Staff Mess will be limited to members only (no guests) during this period. This is due to extra support requirements imposed on the Mess during Summit meetings.

-- The West Wing will be closed to tours at all times during these dates.

-- The White House Residence/State Floors will be closed to tours on these dates with the exception of Congressional tours on Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

Thank you for your cooperation in helping provide an environment for successful Summit meetings.
