PROTESTING VETERANS

The protesting veterans in Los Angeles have been evicted. They say they'll continue the protest and if you won't come to them -- as they demanded -- they'll come to you. What will you tell them?

POINTS:

- Don't need to meet -- I think their demands have been answered. Most were before the protest began. Our veterans' program is better than our performance in publicizing it.
- When the original hunger strikers in Los Angeles heard from VA officials what we are doing, they were satisfied and stopped their protest.
- Three major demands from protesters:
  - Study Agent Orange Effects. This is being done and our budget triples funding for research.
  - Keep Counseling Centers Open for Vietnam Vets. Bipartisan budget doubles funding for these.
  - Provide Disability Compensation for Delayed Stress Syndrome. It is being provided and VA is upgrading doctors' ability to diagnose it.
- Overall, our budget calls for an increase of almost $2 billion in VA spending next fiscal year.

BILL SIGNING CEREMONY -- H.R. 2156, JUNE 17, 1981

I am pleased today to sign into law H.R. 2156. This legislation is aimed at maintaining the quality of medical care for our veterans.

Five state medical schools have been established under the Veterans Administration Medical School Assistance and Health Manpower Training Act of 1972; but, due to some unavoidable delays, they may lose some of the funds allocated to them.

H.R. 2156 ~~is designed to alleviate that problem.~~ It provides an additional year for the medical schools to use the monies allocated by the original Act; these monies, allocated to improve the health care of veterans, will not be withdrawn simply because unavoidable delays prevented the meeting of artificial deadlines set within the original legislation.

~~This Administration is pledged to keep faith with those who loyally served us in the armed forces.~~

We Americans owe more than money to those who wore their country's uniform and sacrificed in our behalf. ~~This Administration~~ will not waiver in our obligation to them.

I am particularly pleased to sign this bill which represents a sound and productive program that will help our veterans as well as all the people of the United States.

MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON HOUSING

DATE: Wednesday, June 17, 1981

LOCATION: Oval Office

TIME: 11:15 a.m. (10 minutes)

I. PURPOSE

To meet with the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the President's Commission on Housing.

To announce the establishment of the Commission and to introduce the Chairman and Vice Chairman.

II. BACKGROUND

During the campaign, you pledged to name a President's Commission on Housing.

This Commission brings together some of the brightest minds in the housing field, including lenders, homebuilders, economists and experts in public policy.

No sector of the economy has been more severely affected by the policies of the previous administration than housing which again is suffering from the roller coaster cycle of the economy. In your campaign speech on housing at Green Bay, Wisconsin, last fall you said your administration would come to grips with this and other problems which repeatedly have beset the housing industry over the past two decades.

Your establishment of this high-level Commission of experts is a significant first step in moving to fulfill that pledge. The Commission will study all aspects of housing and present to you and your administration short-term and long-term options for meeting the challenges the country faces in this field.

The options the Commission will present to you will deal with the cost of housing, housing finance, the issues of how involved the government should be in housing, and the development of a national housing policy.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON HOUSING

William F. McKenna, California
Chairman

Carla Anderson Hills, California
Vice Chairman

The Commission is charged with coming up with ways to strengthen the ability of the private sector to maximize opportunities for homeownership and to analyze the relationship of homeownership to political, social and economic stability in the nation. The Commission also is charged with detailing program options for basic reform of federally subsidized housing.

There are 22 members of the Commission. The Commission will provide you with an interim report by October 31, 1981 and a final report no later than April 30, 1982.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS -- PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON HOUSING, JUNE 17, 1981

- I'm delighted Bill McKenna has agreed to serve as chairman . . . and Carla Hills as vice chairman . . . of this President's Commission on Housing. They and the ~~other~~ 20 members <sup>we are naming today</sup> on the Commission represent an enormous reservoir of expertise and background in the field.

- Housing and home ownership are of fundamental importance to the country. The American home represents far more than shelter . . . or even refuge . . . to our way of life. It is the symbol of the family unit . . . and the neighborhood. It is essential to the social, economic and political stability of the Nation.

- Today the housing industry ~~again~~ is suffering from the misguided economic policies of the past. Housing, especially, has borne the brunt of the roller-coaster ups and downs of the economy for two decades.

- Our economic recovery program holds the key to relieving the current pressures and offers long-term recovery. Consistent with the goals of the program, this Commission will be taking a hard look at all aspects of housing, including: financing, housing costs, construction, and Federal housing programs.

-- In addition, the Commission will be taking up the topic of subject of how involved the Government should be in housing and will present options for the development of a national housing policy. Perhaps the most important function, the Commission will come up with ways to strengthen the ability of the private sector to maximize opportunities for homeownership.

-- As a symbol of this Administration's concern for the needs of housing, the Commission will be located across the street from the White House at Jackson Place. Bill and Carla, you have a big job ahead of you. I look forward to seeing your reports . . . and I thank you and your colleagues on the Commission for taking on this big responsibility.

VISIT WITH BROADCAST PIONEERS GROUP -- TALKING POINTS
JUNE 16, 1981

-- It is certainly a pleasure for me to receive this plaque and this beautiful old microphone. It's held up pretty well -- I hope people are saying the same thing about me.

-- But, this is an honor. I used a microphone like this on my first job. Broadcasting has always been one of my loves; and, one way or the other, I've always been involved in it. Of course, broadcasting is an important part of my current job, too.

-- It is now viewed as an essential part not just of our culture but our political system as well. It gives elected officials an opportunity to talk directly to the people. It was this kind of direct communication that played an important role during the budget battle. And, who knows, we might go to the people again if politics gets in the way of a tax cut.

-- Franklin Roosevelt was the first one to understand the significance of broadcasting as a political force. I'm told that one of your members, Stanley E. Hubbard, actually coached Roosevelt on how to use the radio for the fireside chats.

- The intricacies of modern society has made broadcasting a major force for change. Jerry Lee, a member of your group with us today, for example, is spearheading a drive in coordination with the Ad Council to make the American people aware of the importance of productivity.

- Well, thanks again. Your organization is doing much for broadcasting. Groups like yours -- with fraternal, charitable, professional and educational functions -- keep industry professionals tied to the decent standards -- standards that made this Nation a great place and the broadcast industry the laudable and exciting part of America that it is today.
