WASHINGTON

October 23, 1981

MEETING WITH SENATOR LLOYD BENTSEN (D-TEXAS)

DATE: October 27, 1981

LOCATION: ~~The Oval Office~~ Residence Study

TIME: 10:15 - 10:35 (20 minutes)

FROM: 10:05 - W. 22
Max Friedersdorf M.F.

I. PURPOSE

To discuss the proposed Saudi AWACS sale.

II. BACKGROUND

Senator Bentsen is a co-sponsor of the Packwood resolution and has given little indication that he is willing to change his position. Bentsen is concerned about the technology transfer to a country which he perceives to be unstable and suggests that we simply keep our American AWACS in Saudi Arabia. He has indicated that he might be willing to change his position if there were an agreement on joint command of the AWACS. You have had one phone conversation with Bentsen (September 17), but so far, he has remained opposed. Governor Clements of Texas had a conversation with Bentsen and reported Bentsen's concerns about the security of the technology. Both Clements and Senator John Tower have discussed this with Bentsen.

Bentsen is facing re-election in Texas and is obviously concerned about his Jewish constituency. While there is strong opposition to the sale among many Jewish groups, particularly in the San Antonio area, the Jewish community in Houston (Bentsen's home town) is split on the issue. While it is doubtful that Bentsen will change his position, you should address his concerns about the security of the technology and see if he has any other substantive problems.

Talking Points

President's Meeting with Senators

- Thank you for joining with me today to discuss an issue of vital importance to our national security: the sale to Saudi Arabia of AWACS aircraft and F-15 enhancement items.
- This sale serves our national security interests in two important ways: 1) It strengthens our strategic posture in that vital part of the world; and 2) it provides the cornerstone for initiatives designed to bring Saudi Arabia and other moderate Arab states into the peace process.
- In 1978, the Senate approved the sale to Saudi Arabia of much more sophisticated aircraft -- the F-15s -- at a time when that country did not face the threat occasioned by the Soviet invasion and occupation of Afghanistan, the Iran-Iraq war and Iranian stability, and Soviet advances in Ethiopia, Libya, Chad, and the Yemens.
- I find it inconceivable that the Senate might now disapprove a less-sophisticated package at a time of greater threat to Saudi Arabia and its vital oil facilities.
- The only reasons I could see for this negative action would be if the package presents a risk to Israel or an unacceptable risk of technology compromise. This package presents neither risk.
- As I told Prime Minister Begin, and the American public, I remain firmly committed to Israel's security. I would not have approved this package if it adversely affected Israel's qualitative edge.
- To ensure against misuse and technology compromise, we negotiated with the Saudis a very detailed series of arrangements providing for full U.S. participation in the program, safeguards against sharing data with third countries, and the most detailed security plan ever developed in connection with an arms sales.
- These negotiations were conducted after we had received from Senator Baker and others of you your concerns about this sale. Thus, I believe we have been fully responsive to the Congress, especially the Senate, and that we have gone as far with the Saudis as we can and should go.
- I intend to win this battle and am prepared to use all the means available to me to do so. Success is important both to our Mideast policy and to my goal of reestablishing a bipartisan foreign policy consensus.

FROM: Max L. Friedersdorf M.L.

I. PURPOSE

To discuss the proposed Saudi AWACS sale.

II. BACKGROUND

Senator Wendell Ford of Kentucky has been counted among those who are solidly opposed to the sale from the beginning. He is the counterpart of Senator Packwood on the Democratic side as Chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, but he is not part of the extreme wing of his party. He is reasonably moderate. In view of this role, he is obviously sensitive to political fundraising considerations.

When approached about this meeting, he made it clear that he would not change his mind, but was willing to listen to you. He commented that it is difficult to say no to a President, but said with some pride that he said no to Jimmy Carter and voted against the Panama Canal Treaties. Senator Baker suggested this meeting, recognizing that the odds are against success.

DATE: October 27, 1981

FROM: Max L. Friedersdorf M.L.F.

I. PURPOSE

To discuss the proposed Saudi AWACS sale.

II. BACKGROUND

Senator Paula Hawkins has been opposed to the sale from the very beginning. She has said that she has hoped that Florida and New York Senators would be immuned from White House pressure on this issue and that the White House would understand their difficulty in supporting the sale in view of their large Jewish constituencies. You will have to appeal to her on the basis of Republican solidarity and Republican loyalty to a Republican President. You could point out that she does not face re-election for five years and the Founding Father provided a six year term for Senators in order to permit them to act with some statesmanship and with some freedom from political pressure.

FROM: Max L. Friedersdorf

I. PURPOSE

To discuss the proposed Saudi AWACS sale.

II. BACKGROUND

Senator D'Amato is a co-sponsor of the Packwood Resolution and has opposed the air defense sale to Saudi Arabia from the beginning. He is, however, always uncomfortable when he is on a side that is opposite of yours. He can be counted on to make an appeal to you to let him off the hook on this one with an understanding from you that his large Jewish constituency in New York makes it difficult for him to support you. He should be reminded that he does not face re-election until 1986 and the Founding Fathers provided for a six year term for Senators in the hope that they would demonstrate some statesmanship and act with some measure of freedom from current political pressure.

When informed about this meeting, he made it clear that he does not look forward to it and is dreading having to discuss his position on AWACS with you.

TALKING POINTS: ACCEPTANCE OF SPECIAL CONSERVATION AWARD
PRESENTED BY OUTDOOR LIFE MAGAZINE,
OCTOBER 27, 1981

- Thank you very much for this beautiful book. I will treasure it. Its pages will always remind me of a lesson in the Old Testament: that one generation goes and another comes, but the Earth remains forever. The riches of our environment belong to all generations. We must use them wisely and ensure them for the future.

- All people who understand this responsibility value the contribution you have made, Mr. Gavin. Your work -- your studies -- are widely heralded and this year you received what many consider an environmentalist's highest award. But your greatest reward must be that because of your careful study -- more than 10 years of dedicated work -- men and animals, industry and nature are thriving side by side. Congratulations, from all of us, and thank you.

- The challenge of conservation is to strike just such a balance between use and protection. It requires cooperation, trust and goodwill. I am confident the economic needs of America can be met without jeopardizing our environment.

- Much of the greatness we have achieved as a people and as a Nation sprang from the natural bounty we found here. Mr. Gavin once said about the north slope of Alaska: "It's a fragile country. We have to be very careful." Surely, God intended us to live off our land but, as we do so, let us all pledge to love it, and to be very careful.

-- Thank you very much.
