DATE: July 20, 1982
LOCATION: East Room
TIME: 1:30 - 1:50 p.m.
FROM: ELIZABETH H. DOLE

I. PURPOSE

To provide your Hispanic appointees and supporters with an update on Administration initiatives of interest to Hispanics.

II. BACKGROUND

The briefing in the East Room will be comprised of about 250 key Hispanic supporters from across the country, including approximately 70 of your Hispanic appointees. They will be briefed by Cabinet and sub-Cabinet members on immigration, civil rights, employment, the economy and Latin American affairs.

A key component of the audience is the Hispanic Coalition for Economic Recovery, a group of 40 Hispanic leaders who have organized to support your economic initiatives. As soon as this group is fully briefed, they will launch an effort which will include mailings, media appearances and lobbying.

DROPBY: BRIEFING FOR HISPANIC APPOINTEES
JULY 20, 1982

Buenas tardes. Thank you all for being here and welcome to the White House. I know you will be briefed by members of my staff later so I will try to make my remarks short to give us some time to talk together.

Your presence here today should assure you that we do not take the Hispanic community for granted. I would be less than candid if I didn't admit that there is an election coming up and that we want to see the healthy bipartisan trend in the Hispanic community continue; but, at the same time, I don't want anyone to get the idea that we've adopted the tactic used by the other party of rediscovering blocks of voters every election year.

No, that's not our way. Hispanic Americans are playing a major role in this Administration and have been doing so since day one. Recently, at the United Nations, I talked about the need for deeds and not words. Well, the record shows that while we may not have matched the rhetoric of the other party, we've more than matched them when it comes to deeds.

Our appointment record, for example, shows that we've brought more Hispanics into the Executive Branch at higher levels than any previous Administration. By the end of our first year, there were 17 Hispanic Americans in policy-making positions requiring Senate confirmation. After the first year of the last administration, there were only 10. Of course, we did not stop at the end of the first year. Since then we have continued to make significant Hispanic appointments. Just recently, I nominated Everett Alvarez to be Deputy Administrator of the Veterans Administration. Elizabeth Flores Burkhart, when confirmed by the Senate, will be a member of the National Credit Union Administration and Tony Gallegos (Gah-yeh-ghos) has been confirmed as a commissioner of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Closer to home, we've also brought Hispanic Americans onto the White House Staff as never before. Some of you may already know this -- news has a way of leaking out around here -- but I am appointing a new Special Assistant to the President for Public Liaison to be our outreach person to the Hispanic community. His name is Henry Zuniga (Zu'-nee-gah). Henry has been doing a fine job, and I have the utmost confidence that he will continue to be an indispensable link between us -- bringing your concerns and ideas into the inner circle of the White House as well as bringing some of our concerns to you.

I don't want to belabor this point, but there are many fine Hispanic Americans throughout the Executive Branch and on the White House staff. Velma Montoya was appointed just a few weeks ago to a major policy formulation position in the White House. Many of you know Rafael Capo (Ca-po') who is one of Vice President Bush's closest advisors. And two weeks ago Susan Alvarado was made Vice President Bush's chief assistant for Legislative Affairs. Certainly, you're all aware of Diana Lozano, who plays a major role coordinating our outreach program not only to Hispanics but to other groups of citizens with special concerns, such as women's organizations, veterans, blacks, and conservative groups.

Significantly, the Hispanic members of this Administration were picked because they're skilled, intelligent people who have a contribution to make -- and not because of their ethnic background. Perhaps that is one difference between our approach and that of the other side. They talk about equality and we practice it.

We realize that a tough battle will be fought in the Hispanic community this election year. The words get pretty thick out there when the demagogues get going. So today we thought we would provide you some ammunition for the coming months.

First, it is widely recognized that the basic values held dear by this Administration, values we spoke about in the last campaign and long before, are values identified closely with Hispanic Americans. With this in mind, our political compatibility on many issues is no mere coincidence.

We seek to reaffirm basic institutions which during the last decade came under such severe attack. Hispanic Americans, with strong family ties and an admirable sense of community, share those concerns. Knowing this, we believe our tuition tax credit plan should have natural appeal to Hispanics, who feel so strongly about the moral values maintained by this country's religious school systems. Already many Hispanics send their children to these private schools in great numbers, and our plan will give them relief from the double taxation of supporting both private and public schools.

Speaking of moral and religious values, it seems to me that many Hispanics who have children in public schools should support our efforts to permit voluntary prayer in those schools.

We have no reason to hang our heads on issues that may be of special concern to your community. Perhaps you can remind others that this Administration did support the voting rights bill, and that we've developed a new rapport with Mexico -- a rapport based on mutual respect -- that is better than at any time in the history of our two proud nations.

The issues I've talked about are, of course, of concern to all Americans. The fact that they may have particular appeal to Hispanics only suggests that Hispanics are darn good Americans -- and we should never forget it. This has been no secret in the military, where Hispanic Americans have served with exceptional courage and valor, achieving a memorable record for acts of courage. Just last year, I was honored to present Roy Benavidez with this country's highest military award for his service in Vietnam.

Now I could go on like this all day, but I think it is about time I heard from you. So thank you again for being here; and if you have any questions or concerns, I'd like to hear them.

Meeting with House Republican Whip Trent Lott (R-Miss)
and Members of the Whip Organization

Date: Tuesday, July 20, 1982
Location: Cabinet Room
Time: 4:15 p.m. (30 minutes)
From: Kenneth M. Duberstein K. D.

I. PURPOSE

To provide an informal meeting which will give the President an opportunity to assure these Members that they are an important part of his team.

II. BACKGROUND

The Whip Organization, led by Republican Whip Trent Lott (R-Mississippi), is the principal Republican vote-getting team in the House. Regional Whips and Assistant Regional Whips are assigned specific Members to contact on any key vote.

During the opening salvos of this year's budget battle the Members of the Whip Organization were some of the most loyal to the President and most supportive of his program. Recently, these Members were instrumental in assuring that the President's veto of the urgent supplemental appropriations bill was sustained in the House. The continued hard work of this group will also be a major factor in bringing future spending fights and vetoes to a successful conclusion.

A continued good working relationship with the Whip Organization is, therefore, essential. This informal meeting will provide the President an opportunity to thank these Members for their diligent efforts and thereby assure their continued support and hard work.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS

- Thank the Congressmen for their past support and their hard work as Members of the Republican Whip's Organization. Acknowledge the importance of the Whip Organization efforts during the budget battles of last year and this year and on the sustaining of the vetoes on the urgent supplemental appropriations bills.

- Stress that this year's battles have just begun and that the continued support and hard work of the group will be necessary to hold the line on federal spending.

- Point out that you will need their help on budget reconciliation, the tax bill, and when the House considers the various appropriations bills.

- It is imperative that House Republicans support our foreign policy initiatives. The Security Assistance bill and the Caribbean Basin Initiative are vital to the implementation of our foreign policy. Many Republicans have knee-jerk reactions against "foreign aid." If we are going to shift the emphasis away from economic assistance to security assistance, we must have Republican support.

-- Ask them for their help this week as the House considers the Defense Authorization bill. We need their help in assuring full funding for such vital programs as the MX, the C-5 transport and the B-1 bomber; and we need their support to defeat efforts to cut defense across the board.

-- Thank them again and ask Republican Whip Trent Lott to comment.
