SENATOR PETE DOMENICI (R-NEW MEXICO)

- Tell him that you are told that Gino was the man who counselled with Pete when he was thinking of going into politics. Tell him you further understand that he was one of the main reasons Pete accepted the challenge. Mention that you hope that Pete doesn't regret the decision even though we have put him through some tough times these last 20 months.
- Compliment Gino in his judgment in recognizing the considerable talents Pete has brought to the job. Tell Gino that Pete's judgment and leadership have been absolutely indispensable. We could not have accomplished what we have done without him.

Following the meeting, four ABC members will participate in a press availability in the press room.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: AMERICAN BUSINESS CONFERENCE
SEPTEMBER 28, 1982

- It is a pleasure for me to speak with you, as I did last year, during your annual meeting.

- You've achieved remarkable recognition for an organization established only 18 months ago.

- The pessimists who think that American business no longer has the energy and creativity to lead this Nation into the 21st century should be with us today. Your vitality is proof that given freedom and the profit motive Americans can still work miracles.

- Reflecting your vitality, the American Business Conference earned a reputation for its willingness to take tough stands for the good of America -- even when those positions might hurt your enterprises in the short run.

- I am deeply grateful for all the support you've been to me. In particular, I appreciate the leading role you played in mustering business support for the tax bill. It was a difficult, yet absolutely necessary fight. Arthur Levitt and Jack Albertine, you both were there when it counted, as all of you have been during our struggle to get spending under control and put our economy back on the right track.

- But if we are to find our way out of the economic thicket we inherited, we've got to make economic progress a priority. I am afraid I just don't see that commitment from some on Capitol Hill. Some of them seem to be more inclined to exploit our problems than to pass the legislation needed to set things right.

- I can think of nothing that would do more to reassure our people than if the Congress acted on several vital pieces of legislation before it recessed for the campaign. They could start with appropriations bills. So far I have not received any appropriations bills for the fiscal year that begins in just 3 days.

- The House leadership might also consider bringing to a vote the constitutional amendment which requires a balanced budget. Passage of that amendment would do more to convince the American people we mean business when it comes to controlling Federal spending than any other single measure.

- And in a time of high unemployment, there is no excuse for the delay in passing the Export Trading Company Act which can create up to 640,000 jobs.

- Finally, the Congress owes it to the American people to give immediate attention to our Jobs Training Bill.

- We've come a long way. The economy is poised for recovery, but the country needs leadership and responsible action from the Congress.

- All of us in Washington must prove that there's been a change in the last 2 years. That we can control spending and taxes and that the people making decisions are capable of thinking of the next generation as well as the next election.

- I am confident that with responsible leadership in Washington and men of vision, like yourselves, in the private sector, we can make America great again. Thank you for joining me today.
