DATE: WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1982

LOCATION: OVAL OFFICE

TIME: 11:15 a.m. (10 minutes)

FROM: DAVID B. WALLER

I. PURPOSE

To recognize three champions of last Sunday's New York City Marathon.

II. BACKGROUND

Alberto Salazar, 24, was crowned Sunday the winner of the New York City Marathon for the third consecutive year. He currently holds the world record for the marathon. He was a member of the U.S. Olympic team which boycotted the Moscow games of 1980 and hopes to compete in the 1984 Olympics. Mr. Salazar was born in Cuba, which his family left in 1960 due to religious persecution.

Grete Waitz, 29, of Norway, was crowned Sunday as winner of the women's division of the Marathon for the fourth time in the past five years. She is the former world record holder for the marathon and current world record holder for several shorter distances.

Linda Down, 25, a victim of cerebral palsy, on Sunday became the first woman to complete the Marathon on crutches. She works as a free-lance writer, will soon begin her doctoral studies, and is currently seeking employment in social work.

III. PARTICIPANTS

The President; Alberto Salazar and family members; Grete Waitz and family members; Linda Down; and Leonard Goldenson (Chairman, ABC and Founder and Chairman, United Cerebral Palsy).

TALKING POINTS: MEETING WITH NEW YORK MARATHON RUNNERS WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1982

- -- First, I want to welcome Alberto Salazar, Grete Waitz, and Linda Down to the White House, and say congratulations on your New York Marathon performances. A couple members of the White House staff ran in the marathon also, but they haven't got back yet. We'll just have to go on without them.
- -- Alberto Salazar -- what can you say about a man who runs that fast, that far? Alberto went 26 miles in 2 hours and 9 minutes. That's better than a Studebaker I once had. But what a magnificent combination of determination and training Alberto possesses -- a true athlete with a true spirit of competition.
- -- Grete Waitz won the woman's division and this is her fourth
 New York title in the last 5 years. Her time this year was 2 hours and 27 minutes. That's amazing. When you get to be my age, it takes that long to put on your socks in the morning. But Grete, in spite of previous injuries, won again this year with style and grace.
- -- Linda Down may not have had the speed of Alberto and Grete, but she has the courage and heart only the greatest athletes possess. Linda may be a victim of cerebral palsy but she understands the word victor better than victim. She travelled the entire 26 miles on crutches. She completed the race. Say, Linda, could I interest you in doing some political ads about staying the course?

-- Anyway, it's an honor to receive these young people here today because they're living symbols of the spirit and commitment of a whole new generation -- and that's a source of pride and promise to us all.

THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS WASHINGTON, D.C. 20506

October 26, 1982

Meeting with Professor George Stigler
October 27, 1982
Oval Office
11:30 a.m.

From: Martin Feldstein

I. PURPOSE

To meet with and congratulate George Stigler for his receiving the 1982 Nobel Prize in Economics.

II. BACKGROUND

George Stigler, of the University of Chicago, was recently awarded the Nobel Prize in economics for his studies of industrial organization and government regulation. Professor Stigler, who is 71 years old, is the 11th American and the fourth economist from the University of Chicago to win the prize.

Stigler is best known for his studies of government regulation in the United States, and for his findings that regulation can produce far-reaching unintended side effects. Applying economic theory to the study of regulatory organizations, Stigler concluded that such organizations would often disregard the common interest in favor of strategies which increase their own bureaucratic importance. Milton Friedman, a friend and colleague of Stigler's for more than four decades, called him a "pioneer in the application of economic analysis to problems of political science" and said that Stigler's work has "stimulated a whole series of regulatory studies by many people around the world."

Stigler began studying the effects of U.S. regulatory legislation in the 1940's, concentrating at first on the effects of rent controls and minimum wage laws, and subsequently on the economic impacts of antitrust laws, Federal securities laws, and public utility regulation. In one famous study, Stigler compared the rates charged by regulated and unregulated electric utilities and concluded that regulation had no impact on prices. Stigler has suggested that companies often support government regulation because it helps to insulate them from the rigors of competitive markets.

III. PARTICIPANTS

George Stigler Martin Feldstein George Shultz Kenneth Dam

IV. PRESS COVERAGE

None

V. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

Your meeting with George Stigler should simply provide the two of you with the opportunity for an informal discussion. You might consider asking Stigler for (1) his views on ways to strengthen America's market economy generally, and (2) for his specific suggestions regarding the Administration's deregulation program.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: LUNCHEON WITH TRUSTEES OF THE THEODORE ROOSEVELT ASSOCIATION WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1982

Thank you. You know when I was looking at my calendar the other day, I about jumped out of my chair. There on the schedule was the entry: noon, Roosevelt Room, accept Nobel Peace Prize. Well, even though the award isn't for me, I am honored to accept President Roosevelt's medal on behalf of the Nation. And I'm very pleased to be honorary chairman of the celebration marking the 125th anniversary of his birth.

In many people's minds Theodore Roosevelt is the Rough Rider charging up Kettle Hill at San Juan -- and there's no doubt he relished the triumph of battle. Yet during his 7½ years in the White House we were free from armed conflict. All too often we forget that he was the first American to win the Nobel Peace Prize. We forget his role in ending the Russo-Japanese War.

This year the Nation begins the celebration of the 125th anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birth. By next year at this time, I hope Americans will more fully realize the range of the talents and accomplishments of this man -- a leader who could discuss the medieval period with historians or cutting horses with cowpokes.

Let me read to you a paragraph of the proclamation I am about to sign, because I believe it shows the breadth and depth of Theodore Roosevelt's life. "Born with considerable physical handicaps, Theodore Roosevelt overcame his afflictions and drew strength from his triumph over personal adversity, a strength he would later devote to the public good. Through sheer willpower, he became a rugged outdoorsman and active conservationist, the organizer of the Rough Riders, a fearless crusader against corruption and for law and order, an explorer, a social reformer and author, our youngest President, and the first of our citizens to receive the Nobel Peace Prize. He was truly an American Renaissance man. His life was a voyage of discovery guided by deep principle and private morality."

I believe this year of celebration will increase the people's knowledge of President Roosevelt's contributions to American life, such as this Nobel Prize.

You can be sure we will display this peace medal with honor. And let me add, we will seek peace for this country with the same fervor and energy with which Theodore Roosevelt lived his life. Thank you again for sharing this medal with the Nation. Now, let me sign this bully proclamation, by Godfrey.
