TALKING POINTS FOR THE CABINET MEETING REGARDING:
HIRE ONE YOUTH PROGRAM

---

- The Hire One Youth Program was organized by Reverend Leon Sullivan. Leon Sullivan is President of Opportunities Industrialization Centers of America (OIC).
- I met with Leon Sullivan and was impressed with the Hire One Youth Program. Its purpose is to encourage American businesses to each hire one youth.
- It is one of those programs that can help reduce the problem young people face who are looking for work--and it does it without costing the federal government money.
- Leon Sullivan asked for any help and assistance we might give and I indicated that I would bring this up at a Cabinet meeting.
- I know that the U.S. Chamber has taken a lead in getting businesses to sign-up in an effort to encourage businesses to hire one million young people between 16 and 21.
- I think this is the kind of thing that we should support and encourage. I know that Ray Donovan has been in touch with Leon Sullivan about the program. So has Ed Harper. Maybe they would like to comment.

MEETING WITH SELECT REPUBLICAN MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE
OF REPRESENTATIVES

DATE: Monday, December 6, 1982

PLACE: The Roosevelt Room

TIME: 3:15 p.m. (30 minutes)

FROM: KENNETH M. DUBERSTEIN Kan D

I. PURPOSE

To urge Republican Members to support the FY '83 Defense Appropriation bill as reported by the House Appropriations Committee.

II. BACKGROUND

The FY '83 Defense Appropriation bill is currently scheduled to be considered on Tuesday, December 7, by the full House.

Based on what occurred during Subcommittee and full Committee consideration of the bill, it is reasonable to expect Floor amendments to be offered to delete funding for both MX production and research, B-1, one nuclear carrier and the F-18. Also anticipated is an amendment to reduce the bill's procurement and research and development titles 2 to 5 percent across the board.

The first crucial test on the Defense bill will be an amendment to delete all MX production funds. When an identical amendment was offered in the Defense Subcommittee and in the full Appropriations Committee, it was defeated 7-6 and 26-26 respectively. Amendments negatively impacting on the B-1, the second carrier, and the F-18 were defeated subsequently by substantial margins. The Appropriations Committee did prohibit, however, the expenditure of funds for MX missile production and basing research until March 15 so as to enable the Congress an opportunity to review the Administration's basing proposal.

Last year, during House consideration of the FY '82 Defense Appropriation bill, an amendment to delete all MX research

funds was defeated 264-139. However, earlier this year, an amendment to the FY '83 Defense Authorization bill to defer MX production funds until a basing plan was submitted and approved was defeated 212-209.

The majority of Members attending have previously supported, though not consistently, the MX. Their opposition to anticipated amendments will be key to sustaining the Administration's position.

Talking Points For the President's
Meeting(s) with House Members On M-X

- I have invited you to the White House to discuss the fiscal year 1983 Defense Appropriations bill, which I understand the full House will consider as early as tomorrow. I wish to focus on M-X, but I cannot overemphasize the importance to the nation's defense of Congressional action on my entire request. It is ironic, but forty-one years ago tomorrow was Pearl Harbor Day -- a day when deterrence failed.
- I need your support on M-X, which will help assure that deterrence does not fail again. M-X, now known as Peace-keeper, will both restore the strategic balance and significantly improve the prospects for progress at the arms reductions negotiations in Geneva.
- My approach to arms control is straight-forward. It is based on what works and what does not work. Unilateral constraints, such as President Carter's cancellation of the B-1 program and the United States' decision in the 1960's to halt ICBM production, do not work. The Soviets simply kept building. However, when we demonstrated our resolve -- with Congressional backing -- to build an Anti-Ballistic Missile defense system, it was followed by an ABM treaty with the Soviets.
- The Appropriations Committee language, which I urge you to support, permits us to work on M-X and protects the 1986 initial operating capability, while providing Congress with additional time to conduct a thorough review of my basing plan. This strikes me as a fair approach.
- I am also concerned about amendments to cut defense spending across-the-board, as well as those aimed at other specific programs. The Appropriations Committee has already made deep cuts in my fiscal year 1983 budget request. Any further reductions would deal a serious setback to our modernization plans and could have adverse foreign policy implications. We need your support on the B-1 bomber and the two nuclear carriers. The B-1 is a crucial component of our Strategic Modernization program. We need the carriers to maintain our naval power worldwide.
- Thanks for coming. Let us join together in rebuilding America's defense. Please do not let us down on M-X, which we need both to enhance deterrence and to have any hope for significant arms reduction.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

December 4, 1982

MEETING WITH SELECT REPUBLICAN MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE
OF REPRESENTATIVES

DATE: Monday, December 6, 1982

PLACE: The Cabinet Room

TIME: 4:15 p.m. (30 minutes)

FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein KMD

I. PURPOSE

To urge Republican Members to support the FY '83 Defense Appropriation bill as reported by the House Appropriations Committee.

II. BACKGROUND

The FY '83 Defense Appropriation bill is currently scheduled to be considered on Tuesday, December 7, by the full House.

Based on what occurred during Subcommittee and full Committee consideration of the bill, it is reasonable to expect Floor amendments to be offered to delete funding for both MX production and research, B-1, one nuclear carrier and the F-18. Also anticipated is an amendment to reduce the bill's procurement and research and development titles 2 to 5 percent across the board.

The first crucial test on the Defense bill will be an amendment to delete all MX production funds. When an identical amendment was offered in the Defense Subcommittee and in the full Appropriations Committee, it was defeated 7-6 and 26-26 respectively. Amendments negatively impacting on the B-1, the second carrier, and the F-18 were defeated subsequently by substantial margins. The Appropriations Committee did prohibit, however, the expenditure of funds for MX missile production and basing research until March 15 so as to enable the Congress an opportunity to review the Administration's basing proposal.

Last year, during House consideration of the FY '82 Defense Appropriation bill, an amendment to delete all MX research funds was defeated 264-139. However, earlier this year, an amendment to the FY '83 Defense Authorization bill to defer MX production funds until a basing plan was submitted and approved was defeated 212-209.

The majority of Members attending have previously supported, though not consistently, the MX. Their opposition to anticipated amendments will be key to sustaining the Administration's position.

Talking Points For the President's
Meeting(s) with House Members On M-X

- I have invited you to the White House to discuss the fiscal year 1983 Defense Appropriations bill, which I understand the full House will consider as early as tomorrow. I wish to focus on M-X, but I cannot overemphasize the importance to the nation's defense of Congressional action on my entire request. It is ironic, but forty-one years ago tomorrow was Pearl Harbor Day -- a day when deterrence failed.
- I need your support on M-X, which will help assure that deterrence does not fail again. M-X, now known as Peace-keeper, will both restore the strategic balance and significantly improve the prospects for progress at the arms reductions negotiations in Geneva.
- My approach to arms control is straight-forward. It is based on what works and what does not work. Unilateral constraints, such as President Carter's cancellation of the B-1 program and the United States' decision in the 1960's to halt ICBM production, do not work. The Soviets simply kept building. However, when we demonstrated our resolve -- with Congressional backing -- to build an Anti-Ballistic Missile defense system, it was followed by an ABM treaty with the Soviets.
- The Appropriations Committee language, which I urge you to support, permits us to work on M-X and protects the 1986 initial operating capability, while providing Congress with additional time to conduct a thorough review of my basing plan. This strikes me as a fair approach.
- I am also concerned about amendments to cut defense spending across-the-board, as well as those aimed at other specific programs. The Appropriations Committee has already made deep cuts in my fiscal year 1983 budget request. Any further reductions would deal a serious setback to our modernization plans and could have adverse foreign policy implications. We need your support on the B-1 bomber and the two nuclear carriers. The B-1 is a crucial component of our Strategic Modernization program. We need the carriers to maintain our naval power worldwide.
- Thanks for coming. Let us join together in rebuilding America's defense. Please do not let us down on M-X, which we need both to enhance deterrence and to have any hope for significant arms reduction.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RECEPTION FOR ADMINISTRATION SPOKESMEN
MONDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1982

Now that the tumult and shouting of the election is over, I just wanted to take a moment for a word of thanks to all of you who made a special contribution during the campaign.

I know that with unemployment so high and the economy just starting to turn around it wasn't always easy to get a fair hearing for our point of view. But you gave up a good many evenings and days off to go out to the front lines and get us that hearing -- I wanted you to know we're very grateful to you.

You know better than most that many people were predicting huge losses for us in the House and Senate. It didn't happen and in my view your dedication was one of the principle reasons. We've come through a rocky time together; we've made tough decisions; we've taken some heat for them, but we've kept the people's mandate.

You know, it's a funny thing about campaigns -- they have a habit of coming up all the time. I remember 1976 -- I thought it would be the last time around for me. I wasn't so sure though right after the Republican Convention when I met a gentleman out on the rubber chicken circuit who told me this story. It seems that long after the Civil War, General Lee was seated at one of those veteran's gatherings next to an old campaigner who leaned over and told him, "You know, General if you ever want to give it another go . . . "

Well, we saw a lot of that kind of spirit in 1980 -- and again in 1982 and who knows -- maybe we'll be seeing it again in 1984.

But in the meanwhile I just wanted to say thanks to all of you for what you did this year and tell you to keep up the good work -- we're getting our message over to the American people and I think they're going to reconfirm it for us a couple short years from now.
