PRESIDENTIAL DROP-BY TO GREET BUSINESSMEN

DATE: Monday, May 2, 1983
LOCATION: The East Room
TIME: 10:45 p.m. (5 minutes)
FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein Kor D.

I. PURPOSE

To accommodate a request from House Republican Whip Trent Lott (R-MS) and Congressman Mike Oxley (R-OH) who are co-hosting a "Business Day in Washington" for prominent businessmen and women from their respective districts.

II. BACKGROUND

In order to foster a better understanding between the private sector and government, Congressman Trent Lott (R-MS) and Congressman Mike Oxley (R-OH) have invited 250 prominent businessmen and women to Washington to meet and talk with national policy makers. During this one day conference, the business people will hear an address by the Vice President and receive briefings from Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor and Vice Chairman of the Federal Reserve Preston Martin.

This brief Presidential drop-by to greet the participants and welcome them to Washington, will be the highlight of the day. As Republican Whip, Trent Lott has played a vital role in virtually every Administration legislative success during the last two years. Congressman Oxley has also been one of the strongest and most vocal advocates of the President's programs in the House of Representatives.

Greeting this group of Presidential supporters and community leaders from Ohio and Mississippi will serve to assure the continued loyalty and support of these Members.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS

- Greetings and welcome to Washington. It always pleases me when I learn that folks such as yourself are here in town to spread some common sense and practicality around in what many have termed "Disneyland on the Potomac."

- We've been told for too many years that the only logical place to turn for help of any kind is to Washington. I know that many of the programs that have been proposed over the past had the best of intentions. But as business people, you know that when you undertake an important task you had better be sure you know what you're doing. They weren't all that sure.

- It makes me think of an old story that maybe you know, but I am going to tell it again because life not only begins at forty, so does lumbago and the tendency to repeat yourself.

- There was a fellow riding a motorcycle on a cold winter's day, and the wind was coming through the button holes on his leather jacket and chilling him.

Finally he stopped, got off the motorcycle, turned the jacket around and put it on backward. Well, he was all right from the cold, but his arm movement was restricted. Eventually he hit a patch of ice, and skidded into a tree. When the police got there and elbowed their way through the crowd that had gathered they asked what had happened. A voice rose from the the formation with the response, "We don't know -- when we got here he seemed to be all right, but by the time we had his head turned around straight, he was dead."

-- I tell you that story to remind you that when this Administration took office the economy was almost dead after more than twenty years of liberal policies designed to straighten things out. The prime rate was at 21.5%, and inflation had reached 13.1%. Today the prime is at 10.5% and consumer prices fell 0.2 % in February, only the second time since 1965 that a decline has occurred.

-- The economy is now beginning to grow and a sustained recovery without inflation will soon be a reality rather than a wish. Without the hard work of Members like Trent Lott and Mike Oxley, this could not have been accomplished and they rightfully share this success.

-- Much work remains to be done. The deficit is much too high and unemployment and interest rates must come down further. Our critics assert that we should go back to the same old tax, borrow and spend policy that gave us a trillion dollar debt and deficits for nineteen of the last twenty years, plus double digit inflation and the highest interest rates in 100 years.

-- With the continued help of Congressmen like Trent and Mike, we will reject those policies and reawaken the government to the values that make a successful businessman or woman -- determination, responsibility, confidence and common sense. The kind of common sense that says if it ain't broke, don't fix it. We are re-introducing the idea that progress is still an American word and that optimism is still an American trait. I believe if we cling to our hopes and dreams, the future will flower just as it did for the pioneers who settled the great states of Ohio and Mississippi.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT'S TASK FORCE ON INTERNATIONAL PRIVATE ENTERPRISE
MONDAY, MAY 2, 1983

Well, I'm delighted to welcome the members of your newly created task force. I'm very pleased we could assemble such an impressive group to take on this important responsibility.

We do face a very difficult task. As you know, many developing countries must surmount severe economic, social and political barriers to growth. And the international debt problems are of special concern to us.

At the same time, we know that developing countries which trust and draw upon the energy and resources of their people -- they make real progress.

The key question we must address is this: How can we do a better job helping these countries to grow by stimulating opportunity and personal enterprise?

The Caribbean Basin Initiative, a top priority of our Administration, is one example of how we're trying to stimulate economic development in developing nations.

Encouraging growth and development through private enterprise will help us build lasting partnerships with our friends and allies in the developing world. We know that the path to human progress is paved with individual opportunity.

As I said at the Cancun Summit in 1981, it is time for America to help these countries help themselves through the magic of the marketplace. And, as always, the United States will be a friend and an active partner in the search for a better life.

The work of your task force will be crucial if we are to succeed in fostering economic freedom and human progress. I look forward to working with you and to receiving your recommendations on private sector development strategies.

- DELIGHTED TO WELCOME SUCH AN IMPRESSIVE GROUP.
- WE FACE A DIFFICULT TASK BECAUSE THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES MUST SURMOUNT SEVERE FINANCIAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL AND POLITICAL BARRIERS TO GROWTH.
- HOWEVER, WE KNOW THAT THOSE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES THAT DRAW UPON THE ENERGY AND RESOURCES OF THEIR PEOPLE MAKE REAL PROGRESS.

- KEY QUESTION IS HOW CAN WE HELP BY STIMULATING OPPORTUNITY AND PERSONAL ENTERPRISE?
- THE CARIBBEAN BASIN INITIATIVE IS AN EXAMPLE OF HOW WE'RE TRYING TO STIMULATE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.
- ENCOURAGING GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT THROUGH PRIVATE ENTERPRISE HELPS BUILD LASTING PARTNERSHIPS.
- IT IS TIME FOR AMERICA TO HELP DEVELOPING COUNTRIES HELP THEMSELVES THROUGH THE MAGIC OF THE MARKET PLACE.

- WE WILL BE A FRIEND AND PARTNER IN THE SEARCH FOR A BETTER LIFE.
- THE WORK OF THIS TASK FORCE IS CRUCIAL IF WE ARE TO SUCCEED IN FOSTERING ECONOMIC FREEDOM AND HUMAN PROGRESS.
- I LOOK FORWARD TO WORKING WITH YOU AND TO RECEIVING YOUR RECOMMENDATIONS.

MEETING WITH CONGRESSMAN CONNIE MACK (R-FLORIDA)

DATE: Monday, May 2, 1983
LOCATION: The Oval Office
TIME: 4:00 p.m. (10 minutes)
FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein Ken D.

I. PURPOSE

To thank Connie for his efforts in behalf of the Administration's tax policy.

II. BACKGROUND

Connie Mack is a freshman Republican from Florida's Thirteenth District (southwestern part of state). In the House of Representatives, he serves on the Budget Committee and the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. Prior to his election to Congress, Connie was President of the Florida National Bank (1975-82).

Thus far in the 98th Congress, Connie has been a strong and vocal supporter of Administration economic objectives and policies. Most recently, he secured 146 signatures of House Republicans on a letter to demonstrate veto strength on any legislative attempt to repeal the third year of the tax cut or indexing. This letter comes at a time when both the House-passed and Senate Budget Committee Budget Resolutions provide for a $30 billion tax increase in Fiscal Year 1984 -- an increase that only could be accomplished by repealing the third year and indexing.

Mack attended your breakfast meeting with the House Republican freshman class on February 7, 1983 and your meeting with Republican members of the House Budget Committee which was held in the Cabinet Room on March 18, 1983.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH CONGRESSMAN CONNIE MACK
(REPUBLICAN-FLORIDA)

- In welcoming Connie to the Oval Office, indicate that this is one letter you didn't want to entrust to the Post Office.

- Explain that House Republicans presented you with a similar letter two years ago--one which indicated veto support on legislation which was inconsistent with the overall economic recovery effort.

- State the expectation that the letter Connie is presenting today will be very valuable during the 98th Congress in heading off attempts to turn back the clock on tax policy.

PRESIDENTIAL TAPING: NATIONAL REPUBLICAN HERITAGE GROUPS COUNCIL
MONDAY, MAY 2, 1983

I can't think of a group in Republican politics more vital to the success of our party and its message than yours: the Republican Heritage Groups. I was proud to participate in your 10th convention in Cleveland a few years ago and some of you may remember that at my kick-off event in the 1980 campaign -- at Liberty Park in New Jersey -- we stressed the very values and beliefs that your group has espoused since its formation.

Believe me, there is no political gathering I would rather attend than yours. But even though that isn't possible this year please know that you have my best wishes for a successful and fruitful conference.

I'm sure you'll be discussing this weekend what it is that we in the Republican Party want to tell the voters in the upcoming elections. Your group plays a critical role in this. For many years we Republicans had trouble reaching the working people of America; some thought our party was the party of privilege and class while the other party represented the little man and the underdog.

It isn't easy to shake off that image and, as you know, a lot of people are still trying to pin it on us. So, if I might offer you some advice, it is this: Let's go to the people with the issues, let's give them the facts. This Republican Administration has cut inflation and tax rates for the working people from the incredible levels they were at under the other party. This has meant $1,500 more in purchasing power for Americans than they would have had if inflation had stayed where it was. And, because of our tax program, the average family of four in 1983 will pay $700 less in Federal income taxes.

The economy is on the rebound. We've restored business and consumer confidence because we had the courage to say no to special interest politics, to more and more spending and taxation. We're making the economic pie bigger and we all know how much this means to members of racial and ethnic groups in America who are still reaching for a bigger slice of that pie.

There are other issues: We've launched the most comprehensive attack on crime and the illegal drug trade of any administration in the past; we're trying to foster diversity and excellence in our educational system through tuition tax credits; and above all, we're rebuilding our national defenses and returning to America that margin of safety so important to the peace of the world and our country's freedom. And we want to assist those who long for freedom and the democratic process in Central America and everywhere else in the world.

I think that a consciousness is growing in this country. I think Americans are just now beginning to feel much better about our country -- the leadership in Washington, the direction in which it is headed, and its prospects for the future.

So even beyond all these important issues, I hope you'll keep this in mind: What will really win over the American people is not just checklists of "promises kept" or "conditions bettered," but the offer of hope for the future and the simple affirmation of our belief in America and all the values she has traditionally stood for. No one knows better than you that this is the way to the heart of the American electorate.

So again my best wishes for your conference. In one capacity or another, I expect to see all of you on the campaign trail again. I'm looking forward to it. In the meantime, good luck and God bless you.

PRESIDENTIAL TAPING: PHYSICAL FITNESS PROGRAM
MONDAY, MAY 2, 1983

I'd like to take this opportunity to welcome your Association of Physical Fitness Centers to Washington. I wish I could be with you, but I want you to know how much we appreciate what you are doing for America.

Someone once described exercise with just one word -- health. And as we know, good health is one of heaven's best treasures. I was delighted to meet with your Chairman, James Glasper, and your board of Directors when they came to the White House recently. What an honor it was to receive your Association's "Man of the Year" award.

You know, I've been working hard on a physical fitness program of my own for most of my life. There's nothing I enjoy more than those hours when I can horseback ride and split wood back on our ranch in California. But here in the White House you get pretty cooped up. So I've been working out upstairs, lifting a little iron, in a room we've specially designed for that. And when I met with Jim Glasper and your Board, I just couldn't help it. I had to tell them that since I've been doing these new exercises, I've managed to add <sup>ALMOST</sup> two inches <sup>TO</sup> my chest.

I think the American people are coming back to the idea that we can't have sound minds without sound bodies. Exercise and physical fitness are in. That's going to make us healthier, happier and more productive -- and you're the ones who deserve much of the credit. So I'm sorry I can't be with you today, but

PRESIDENTIAL TAPING: ADVERTISING COUNCIL CONFERENCE
MONDAY, MAY 2, 1983

Greetings to all of you attending the Advertising Council's 39th Annual Washington Conference. And by you, I mean: the companies which support the Council with contributions; the volunteer advertising agencies which create the advertising; the volunteer coordinators from business who guide these efforts; and the broadcast and print media which carry nearly a billion dollars of public service messages free each year. If this cooperative effort doesn't tell the world what American voluntarism is all about, I don't know what does.

When FDR first greeted you back during World War II, the Nation's top priority was to secure a lasting victory, and you pitched in wholeheartedly to help in that effort. Today, of course, the challenges are of a different kind, although just as immediate. I'm pleased you're tackling them with the same enthusiasm and dedication as ever. In fact, I'm told you're now conducting the largest number of campaigns in Council history, including seven that are in direct response to requests or suggestions from the White House or other parts of the Government -- campaigns for Drug Abuse Prevention, Youth Exchange, Productivity, Private Sector Initiatives, Anti-Drunk Driving, Health Promotion, and the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial. If someone were to ask me to top that list, I just don't think I could.

Good evening. I am sorry Nancy and I can't be with you in person tonight; it would be one of those special moments when we would find ourselves surrounded by only friends and fellow believers. But since we can't be there, I am glad to be able to speak with you in this way.

First, I want to congratulate you for honoring my close friend and advisor, Bill Clark. I think you all agree that since joining this Administration, at some personal sacrifice, the Judge has brought a steadiness and objectivity we must have for success. I rely on his judgement and trust his instincts. He deserves all the thanks and support we can give him.

I also want to thank the rest of you -- my friends who make up the membership of Citizens for the Republic -- for your loyal support. Most of you have been at my side or campaigning for the conservative cause for a great many years, and it is you I most count on now in this critical period.

Sometimes in the hurly-burly of legislative battles and Washington squabbles we lose sight of all we have accomplished. But our progress has been significant.

As the result of our economic recovery program, inflation has plummeted. Inflation during the last quarter was lower than during any other comparable period in nearly 25 years. Interest rates -- once crippling businesses, jobs and families -- are now less than half what they were. The leading economic indicators

PRESIDENTIAL TAPING: PIK AUDIO TAPE
MONDAY, MAY 2, 1983

Not long ago we offered farm families a temporary program to help them through a difficult period of adjustment. We call it the payment-in-kind, or PIK [pick] program. If farmers take a certain amount of land out of production, they can swap what they don't grow for a certain amount of the commodity already in surplus. In other words, part of the harvest will come from the surplus.

A majority of the Nation's farmers have signed up for PIK -- offering to take more than 80 million acres out of production. That much land is difficult to imagine -- it's nearly as big as the entire state of California.

But this huge amount of land will not be idle. It will be put into soil and water conservation use, protected from erosion, building up natural resources for tomorrow's crops.

We can all be proud of the way farmers are cooperating to move us out of these trying times, benefiting not only their own community but all of us who look to them for food and fiber. They're helping bring us closer to a healthy farm economy that can function without excessive Government support. I would like to thank all of those involved in the PIK program as well as Secretary of Agriculture Jack Block and his team for making this innovative approach possible.

Thank you very much.
