MEMORANDUM

May 12, 1983

MEETING WITH SENATOR MACK MATTINGLY (R-GEORGIA)

DATE: Friday, May 13, 1983

LOCATION: The Oval Office

TIME: 1:00 - 1:20 p.m. (20 minutes)

FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein K.M.D.

I. PURPOSE

To respond to a request from Senator Mack Mattingly (R-Georgia) for an opportunity to meet with the President on issues dealing with the economy, the budget, and trade.

II. BACKGROUND

Senator Mack Mattingly serves as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, the Banking Committee, and the Joint Economic Committee. For the most part, Mattingly has supported your economic program, although he has, from time to time, expressed reservations about our general economic policy. Mattingly is concerned about the impact our economic program will have on our ability to maintain a Republican majority in the Senate. He has also indicated an interest in discussing general trade issues.

This will basically be a listening session, and when we called Mattingly with regard to his position on the MX, he was most insistent that he have an opportunity to meet with you on economic issues.

WASHINGTON

MEETING WITH SELECT BIPARTISAN HOUSE MEMBERS

DATE: Friday, May 13, 1983
LOCATION: The Cabinet Room
TIME: 11:00 a.m. (45 Minutes)

FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein Kr D.

I. PURPOSE

To discuss the strategic forces proposal (arms control/Midgetman/MX) and to encourage support for it.

II. BACKGROUND

This past Wednesday the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee voted 9-3 to report favorably to the full Appropriations Committee a Resolution of Approval for the release of MX basing funds. The full Committee is tentatively scheduled to act on the Resolution the afternoon of May 17. The vote is expected to be very close.

Last year attempts to delete MX funds were defeated in Subcommittee and full Committee. However, when the Defense Appropriations bill reached the House Floor, an amendment to strike MX funds was adopted.

The Members in attendance at this meeting are generally undecided or leaning in support of the Administration on the strategic forces proposal. Several of the Members present serve on the Appropriations Committee.

This group of Republicans and Democrats represents a good cross-section of the House and their votes will be very important in our effort to build support for the President's strategic forces recommendations in the Congress.

Attachment C

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH SELECT BIPARTISAN HOUSE MEMBERS

- Thank you for coming down. I believe we share a common desire both to enhance the United States' deterrent posture and to pursue arms control agreements that promote stability.

- The MX Peacekeeper missile, on which the legislative clock has begun to run, offers us a significant opportunity to strengthen these twin goals. It was within this context that I endorsed the recommendations of the bipartisan Commission on Strategic Forces.

- The key feature and central value of the Commission's recommendations is its thoughtful integration in a single package of three basic and inseparable elements: modernization, deterrence, and arms control. The Commission concluded that there is a direct relationship between specific modernization programs (like Peacekeeper) and our dual objectives of effective deterrence and arms control. I certainly share this assessment.

- But to give arms control a chance, I need your strong support for the bipartisan package, including deployment of 100 Peacekeeper missiles in existing silos and development of a small, single-warhead missile. If the United States foregoes this package, the Soviet Union would not have any real incentive to agree to reductions. Further, our Western European Allies would be reluctant also to base new Pershing and cruise missiles if we fail to modernize, and such action would undercut our efforts to negotiate intermediate nuclear missile reductions in Europe.

- Some have questioned my commitment to arms control. They are flatly wrong. We will continue to pursue equitable arms reductions with great vigor.

- We will work closely with Congress on this vital issue. We have been meeting with several Members to examine how to integrate recent Congressional recommendations into our overall arms control approach. Let's close ranks and take an essential bipartisan step toward promoting stability and ensuring our national security.

- One last point: Many of your colleagues have expressed concern about the continued vulnerability of our ICBM force when Peacekeeper is deployed in existing silos. The Commission recognizes, as do I, that a degree of vulnerability will remain. However, failure to deploy Peacekeeper will only serve to make our total force more vulnerable, by permitting the Soviets to concentrate on the bomber and submarine legs of the triad.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH SENATOR MACK MATTINGLY (R-GEORGIA)

- Mack, I am glad we have this opportunity to get together today, and I know you have several things on your mind. Before we get down to economic issues, however, I did want to thank you for your vote in support of the MX yesterday. I expect we still have some hurdles to clear when the full Senate debates this issue, and I hope you will be able to continue working with us on this.
- Now I understand you have some issues of an economic nature that you wanted to discuss, and I am anxious to hear what is on your mind.

(general discussion of Mattingly's concerns)

- Mack, I appreciate having the benefit of your thoughts on these issues. I know that as a member of Appropriations, Banking, and the Joint Economic Committees, you have a lot of expertise in this area, and I am anxious to keep a good dialogue going with Republicans in the Senate on these matters.
- Thanks for taking the time to come down here today, and I will certainly give careful thought to the points you raised.

MEETING WITH FATHER VIRGIL BLUM, S.J.

DATE: May 13, 1983

LOCATION: Oval Office

TIME: 2 P.M.

FROM: Faith Ryan Whittlesey

FRW

I. PURPOSE

Presentation of the John Paul II Religious Freedom Award to you and a discussion of the pro-life and tuition tax credits efforts of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights.

II. BACKGROUND

The Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights is a "grassroots", volunteer, private initiative group with no connection to the "official" Church establishment. The League has 26,000 contributing members and is governed by a largely lay board.

Primarily a civil rights group, like the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai Brith, it stands up for the rights of the co-religionists and against bigotry directed at non-Catholics. Its study of 54 inner city private elementary schools, predominately black and Hispanic, found them providing quality education. Many organizations have used this study in support of tuition tax credits and educational vouchers. The League is celebrating their 10th Anniversary in New York on May 21.

This is the first John Paul II Religious Freedom Award. You are receiving the award in recognition of your active defense of the rights of the unborn child and your strong advocacy for parents' rights for religious freedom in their childrens' education. Others receiving the Award are: Cardinal Cooke of New York
Congressman Henry Hyde
Mother Angelica (head of a T.V. satellite from Birmingham)
Judge Donald Halstead ( a Michigan judge who refused to order a minor girl to have an abortion)
Pastor Richard John Neuhaus ( a Lutheran Minister)

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH FATHER VIRGIL BLUM

- I want to thank you for presenting me with the John Paul II Religious Freedom Award. As one of the first recipients of this award it means a great deal to me and I am very honored to accept it.
- Congratulations on your Tenth Anniversary. The Catholic League has repeatedly demonstrated thoughtful leadership and worked strenuously to strengthen the role of the family in our society and to insure the rights of those with strong spiritual commitment.
- I am very interested in the study The League has conducted on the 54 inner city private elementary schools. As you know, we are working hard for the passage of tuition tax credit legislation.
- Let me also reaffirm my total commitment to support all the pro-life measures before the Congress. We must continue to keep national attention on the need for a solution to the tragedy of abortion on demand.
- Thank you for all your efforts and your continued support.
