FROM: ELIZABETH DOLE

SUBJECT: Weekly Summary Report ending July 10, 1982

SIGNIFICANT ACTIVITIES

- Washington Times Editorial Board--School Prayer Amendment

RED FLAGS

MISCELLANEOUS

- Growing conservative interest in flat rate tax, provided it is tied to passage of strong tax limitation amendment in order to prevent demagogues from jacking the tax rates back up after eliminating most deductions.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

MEMORANDUM FOR: JAMES A. BAKER III

FROM: ELIZABETH DOLE

SUBJECT: Weekly Summary Report ending July 3, 1982
Indians, Conservatives, Christian,
Portfolio Veterans, Service Organizations

Manager Morton C. Blackwell

SIGNIFICANT ACTIVITIES

- Sunday 1 A.M. to 2 A.M. Spoke by phone to radio talk show on WSMB, New Orleans, on topic of President's Voluntary School Prayer Amendment.
- Thursday 9:30 A.M. Introduced VA Deputy Administrator designate Everett Alvarez to top staffers of American Legion, VFW, and Disabled American Veterans.

RED FLAGS

- Boiling unrest among conservatives over report of State Department proposals giving the President options either to reduce or to reduce and eventually terminate arms sales to Free China.
- Despite President's endorsement of Tuition Tax Credit Bill, widespread perception among supporters that top Administration officials have no intention of pushing vigorously for either Tuition Tax Credit Bill or School Prayer Amendment.
- Despite welcome resignation of Secretary Haig, conservative and New Right groups see no indication Secretary designate Shultz will make Reaganite changes in State Department soft-line personnel and policy.
- Conservative political action groups urging President to recapture political initiative with offensive based on successful issues of the 1980 campaign.

MISCELLANEOUS

- Vigorous coalitions on Tuition Tax Credit and Voluntary School Prayer Amendment ready to exert massive grass roots pressure if the Administration takes vigorous steps to get Republican Congressional Leadership in line.
- Enthusiastic conservative response to President's strong support of Secretary Donovan.

ADMINISTRATION PARTICIPANTS:

SUMMARY: Discussed new draft of Presidential statement on Indian Policy.

The policy group agreed to recommend a study commission composed of tribal leaders, business leaders and free market economists to come up with innovative, non-governmental solutions to Indian economic development problems. It was agreed that the Indian oriented Federal bureaucracy has built in biases against non-governmental solutions to Indian problems and thus would probably be incapable of recommending the legislative and policy changes required to create a private economic infra-structure needed on Indian reservations.

ADMINISTRATION PARTICIPANTS: same

SUMMARY: Meeting with anti-pornography coalition organized by Father Morton Hill, S.J., Morality in Media. See attached list on event of evening before.

This is a high-powered coalition. In attendance were Cardinal Crowell, Pat Robertson, Richard Viguerie, and other religious and pro-family leaders.

Attorneys and other experts produced evidence that Justice Department policy is to not prosecute Federal anti-pornography offenses unless they involve child pornography. Their urgent request was to meet with President Reagan and get him to agree to meet with them to agree to direct the Justice Department to change its policy. They want the Justice Department to inform the FBI, the Post Office, and the U.S. Customs that they are prepared now to fully enforce all the Federal anti-obscenity statutes. Assistant Attorney-General for Legal Policy Jonathan Rose was surprised at some of the documentation they produced and expressed a willingness to work with them to resolve legal questions prior to any subsequent meetings for them with the President or other Administration officials.

Very constructive meeting.

ADMINISTRATION PARTICIPANTS: Morton C. Blackwell

SUMMARY:      Appeared live on ABC Network's Good Morning America. Appeared opposite John Lofton and William Rusher on topic of conservative criticism of Reagan Administration. I emphasized that the problems of half a century of almost total liberal Democratic control of the White House or the Congress or both could not be reversed overnight. I suggested that the tax measure now being considered was much smaller in magnitude than the Reagan tax cuts enacted into law last year.

I noted it is much easier to criticize than to praise and that public misconceptions would be less if the media, including conservative media, would run some feature stories on this Administration's success in dramatically lowering the high inflation rate President Reagan inherited from President Carter.

SUMMARY:

Discussion centered on Indian employees in H.U.D. regional offices. Sanders agreed to produce analysis of numbers and percentages of Indian employees at these offices, comparing January numbers with July numbers.

Driving Hawk agreed to submit proposals which would protect the current percentages of Indian employees as the planned reduction in force at H.U.D. progresses.

Sanders also expressed his personal support for eliminating H.U.D.'s housing authorities which are often in conflict with tribal governments. Sanders is pushing for having Indian housing funds, albeit reduced, provided directly to tribal governments.

Driving Hawk heartily endorses this concept and left the meeting quite pleased.

Participants included Richard Mellon Scaife, Paul Weyrich, Howard Phillips, Ed Feulner, Congressman Newt Gingrich, Congressman Bob Walker, and leaders of most conservative organizations.

PLACE: Paul Weyrich's office

PROJECT OFFICER:

NUMBER OF GUESTS:      approximately 8
(Attach list)

ADMINISTRATION PARTICIPANTS:      Morton C. Blackwell

SUMMARY:

Meeting with Paul Weyrich, Connie Marshner, Phil Crane, and conservative union leaders affiliated with the Industrial Society of Skilled Trades led by Henry Shickling and Joe Dennebeck. These are strong Reagan supporters who urged Administration action on school prayer, right to life, right to keep and bear arms and pro-family issues. They also want to change a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) ruling which prevents them from recognition as unions separate from CIO production unions such as United Auto Workers and United Rubber Workers.

During the campaign the President agreed to appoint one of them to NLRB. Lee Hamilton of the N.A.M. says they represent about 50,000 workers in Midwestern and Midatlantic states. Bob Bonitati estimates their membership at 500.

After consulting with Bonitati I checked with White House Personnel and found that Joe Dennebeck's resume has not been received for consideration for any position. I notified Dennebeck of this and he admitted none had been sent. He said he would draft one and submit it. There is no NLRB vacancy until December of 1982.
