Secretary Bell impressed these conservative and profamily leaders with his sincerity and humility. He took full responsibility for mistakes in funding leftist advocacy groups. He was surprised at the extent of knowledge shown by the group of the left wing grantees of the Education Department. Both the Secretary and the visitors were conciliatory. The Secretary announced that former Heritage Foundation staffer, Charles Heatherly has been appointed Deputy Under Secretary for Management which gives Heatherly control of the Department's granting and outside contracting functions. Another excellent piece of news for conservatives was the hiring yesterday of Susan Phillips for a one year consulting position with the job description of ending abuses in the granting and contracting areas.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

FROM:

ELIZABETH DOLE

SUBJECT:

Weekly Summary Report ending April 3, 1982
 Conservative/Limited Government Groups;
 Portfolio Veterans; American Indians;
 Religious Groups; Fraternal Groups
 Manager Morton C. Blackwell

SIGNIFICANT ACTIVITIES

- VFW Voice of Democracy student winners meeting with the President in the State Dining Room.

RED FLAGS

- Reports from supporters in the evangelical community indicate that leaders of old line protestant denominations are having a meeting to plan a joint strategy for the religious leaders meeting with the President on April 13. This meeting for national religious organization leaders is well planned and includes a preponderance of supporters of the President.
- Conservative movement leaders, in a cordial meeting with Secretary Lewis, warned that surfacing any proposal this year to raise gasoline taxes would be politically disastrous, undercutting the President's successes in cutting taxes and reducing gasoline prices.
- Real outrage in protestant fundamental community over Administration's decision not to grant visa to Ian Paisley, Member of British Parliament and Parliament of Europe. Paisley, who has spoken annually at Bob Jones University for 20 years was refused entry into the U. S. for a religious meeting April 3 at Bob Jones University.

MISCELLANEOUS

- Conservative movement's alternative budget to be unveiled next week and pushed by radio commercials funded by Terry Dolan, NCPAC.
- New Right and conservative religious communities pleased but skeptical at indications that Administration may soon move forcefully on behalf of voluntary school prayer.
- Virtually all grass roots groups supporting the President are encouraged at indications that Administration is about to put its weight behind a balanced budget - tax limitation amendment.

Arranged a meeting for conservative organization leaders with Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis. Lewis outlined a proposal for a 4¢/gallon increase in gasoline tax. The conservative leaders unanimously described this proposal as a political time bomb this year. They said that two of the very best things the Administration has to its credit are the tax cuts and the fact that the President's deregulation of oil has resulted in a substantial drop in gasoline prices. They strongly advised that this proposal be deep sixed at least until next year.
