Dear President Reagan:

As a member of the staff of St. Catherines parish, I read with interest about your recommendation for Helen Marie Taylor to serve on the board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting System (PBS).

This seems to be an important recommendation for Mrs. Taylor seems to believe in wholesome, constructive and value oriented television which is sorely needed.

I urge you to set aside any petty politics that could thwart a step forward in prioritizing more responsibility for good television programming.

Please lend your support.

Sincerely,

JoCele McNany

Education

Dear President Reagan,

First, off, I would like to commend you on your word at straightening America out. People are so busy griping about what's wrong, they don't seem to see that things are improving. Inflation is coming down! I voted for you before, I would be proud to do so again, people I know, feel much the same.

I am a supporter of the National Federation for Decency and would like to strongly urge you to help in the removal of these "blocks" that are keeping Mrs. Helen Taylor from being nominated to the CPB board. We need to have someone like her to try to help stop the flow of "filth" that seems to be dominating our broadcasting systems.

I am also, concerned with the fact that the FCC is so unconcerned with the obscenity being allowed on cable T.V. We do love obscenity laws, shouldn't they be fully enacted to "protect" our country. "Porno" will only drag "us" down.

God bless you, you are in our prayers!

Dear President Reagan,

The following is a letter of personal appeal for you to support Mrs. Helen Taylor to serve on the board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

The congregation which I serve has begun to realize the importance of the media, and its influence on young people. Because of that realization and the realization that TV programming is steadily becoming less family oriented, and is straying further and further away from any sense of morality, we believe it is time for us to begin taking some kind of action to correct these areas of influence. Having Mrs. Taylor on the CPB Board, we believe, would be a step in the right direction.

Once again, we encourage you to support Mrs. Helen Taylor as one to serve on the CPB Board.

Sincerely,

Rev. Paul M. Wilkins

Dear President Reagan,

We want to go on record as supporting Helen Marie Taylor to serve on the board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. We request that petty politics be removed from this process & that her nomination proceed with haste.

We need someone on this board that believes in the old fashioned morals & integrity on which our country was founded. Most of our T.V. programs are so biased & morally corrupt that a person just has to turn it off - It's especially bad for our children.

We are behind you, President Reagan 100%.

President Reagan

Dear Sir:

I was elated to learn of the qualifications of the person (Helen Marie Taylor) whom you have nominated for the board for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. Of all the TV viewing our family is able to enjoy, Public TV to date is the most enjoyable and satisfactory and I'd like to see that continued. Mrs. Taylor represents an outlook for families with which I am much in accord and I urge you to ^{continue to} press for her acceptance with all your very persuasive influence.

Dear Sir:

I am sorry to see that the appointment of Mrs. Helen Marie Taylor to the Board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting is still being held up.

I know Mrs. Taylor's standards and know she is well qualified to serve on this Board. People in Florida are very concerned about the quality of TV and radio programs, and more people of Mrs. Taylor's calibre should have influence.

Please use your influence to see that your appointment of Mrs. Taylor is fulfilled. You will find no one better.

aide for liaison with state and local governments, to be promoted to the top job. Medas was in line for the post until he came under scrutiny during a congressional hearing because of a meeting he held with former EPA Assistant Administrator Rita Lavelle, who is under investigation for political use of EPA funds. Although Medas is not suspected of any wrongdoing, simply being mentioned in the hearing made him too controversial for promotion. The governors now fear that Medas will resign rather than continue in the No. 2 job.

The Wrong Woman for the Job

President Reagan recruited former ambassador to Switzerland Faith Whittlesey to be his ambassador to women, but she has been anything but diplomatic in the job. Since becoming assistant to the president for public liaison in March, Whittlesey has alienated feminists with her opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment and her tepid support of such administration initiatives as equalizing pension benefits for men and women. In a political-strategy session with the president last week, Whittlesey stunned her male colleagues with the assertion that the "gender gap"—the disproportionate displeasure with Reagan among female voters—is overrated. White House planners who believe otherwise have vowed to limit Whittlesey's role in policy decisions on that sensitive issue during the campaign. A new working group on the women's vote has already been formed, with deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver in charge.

The feminists are a minority of the women of our country!

A Trade Dispute Within the Administration

The Reagan administration is involved in another dispute over trading with communist countries—but unlike last year's squabble over the Soviet natural-gas pipeline, this problem is strictly intramural. Officials of the U.S. Commerce Department have been trying for more than a year to persuade the Defense Department to drop the licensing rules Communist-bloc countries must follow to buy American-made items such as personal pocket computers, electrocardiograph machines and digital thermometers. Although all the products contain sophisticated computer chips, the Soviet Union and its allies can purchase similar goods from other countries with little trouble. In addition, Commerce has asked Defense to abolish licensing requirements for such nonstrategic materials as baby formula, disposable diapers, panties, sausages and commercial refrigerators. But the Defense Department refuses. A senior Commerce Department official attributes the problem to institutional stubbornness. "They just won't decontrol. It's mindless."

Miss Whittlesey sounds great to me!

Panama's Alarming Cash Flow

Senate investigators have discovered that in recent months Panama's central bank has shipped hundreds of millions of dollars in U.S. currency to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. William Roth, chairman of the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, has launched an inquiry to determine who is moving the money and why. One strong possibility is that Panama has become a new stop on the laundry route for South American drug-trade profits. Roth will hold hearings on the results of the probe later this summer. He is also preparing legislation designed to help U.S. enforcement agencies penetrate the secrecy of Caribbean and South American banks used by drug dealers and white-collar criminals to mask their financial transactions.

I am writing to encourage you in the strong enforcement of obscenity laws.

I also am very much in favor of Helen Marie Taylor's nomination for the board of the Corp. for Public Broadcasting being approved. I understand it is being blocked because of politics, specifically because Sharon Rockefeller doesn't want Mrs. Taylor's views represented on the CPB board.

Mrs. Taylor believes in the traditional value system and I urge she be nominated.

Thank you.

Dear President Reagan;

I was very impressed with the emphasis you gave to the Bible, God's Word, at the prayer breakfast earlier in the year. I appreciate your faith in God and the Bible as you have expressed it on other occasions. I appreciate it because you are an American, but I appreciate it even more because you are my president, the president of these great United States.

America was founded by men (people) who believed in God. I am confident that America is great because our leaders have been men who believed in God, and its people have for the most part believed in God. Sad indeed will be the day, if and when its leaders and people no longer believe in God.

I have been and will continue to pray for you and all our leaders. May the Lord continue to bless you in every good way as you continue to lead our nation. I'm just an humble citizen who believes in God and try to serve Him faithfully.

With faith in God,

J. V. Copeland, Jr.

11 P.S. My attention has just been called to your nomination of Mrs. Helen Marie Taylor to the board of Corporation for Public Broadcasting. Because of recommendations I have of her, I would like to urge you to proceed with haste in the due process of the nomination without petty politics being involved.

Thank you.
