Dear Mr. Blackwell:

As you may know, an organization titled Interallied Confederation of Reserve Officers (CIOR) has existed since 1948 for the purpose of supporting the principles and objectives of NATO. CIOR consists of the Reserve Officer organizations of the twelve NATO countries which have such organizations. In the United States, The Reserve Officers Association is the member organization.

Each year, an annual Congress is held in a NATO country. The Congress this year will be held in Washington, D. C. from 8-15 August and will bring together Reserve Officers from all of these NATO countries.

We expect Secretary Weinberger, Secretary Haig, SACEUR Gen. Rogers and other international dignitaries to participate. The six past-SACEURS will be honorary chairmen of the Congress.

We cordially invite you to attend this Congress and hope that you will be able to attend all of the activities. It is important for us to affirm our NATO support thru this medium. I have enclosed a list of the major events, indicating those which we would particularly like you to attend. The general registration is $200. Separate tickets for luncheons and the Gala Banquet and Ball are available for those unable to attend the entire Congress.

We will send you a registration packet with further details if you will return the attached coupon or phone us at (202) 479-2243. Because of apparent limited registrations for important U.S. representation, we have extended this lower fee through the month of June. We would be honored to have you participate and I look forward to your early response.

Sincerely,

Ted

Ted W. Sorensen
Maj. Gen. USAF-Ret.
General Chairman

NATO RESERVE OFFICERS

SCHEDULE AUGUST U.S. MEETING

Washington, May 24. - Reserve officers from a dozen NATO countries will meet here in early August for the 35th Congress of the Interallied Confederation of Reserve Officers.

Otherwise known as CIOR, for its French title, Confederation Interalliee des Officers de Reserve, the organization represents the reserve officers of all NATO countries which have reserve forces. Its present membership is 360,000 with the potential for a million. The Reserve Officers Association of the U.S. is the host for this Congress.

More than 1,000 are expected for the August 8-15 sessions. They will be at the Sheraton Washington Hotel with military athletic competitions at Fort Meade, MD.

Meeting simultaneously will be the 36th annual conference of the Interallied Confederation of Medical Reserve Officers (CIOMR). Their sessions also will be at the Sheraton Washington and at area military hospitals.

The tentative CIOR program includes presentations by Caspar W. Weinberger, Secretary of Defense; Army General Bernard W. Rogers, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe; and Navy Admiral Harry D. Train, II, Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic.

Marine Corps Commandant General Robert H. Barrow will host the Marine Barracks Evening Parade during the conference. Guest of honor at the parade will be Army General John W. Vessey, Jr., new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

ROA/CIOR MEETING - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2

The reserve chiefs of all NATO countries will participate in the CIOR sessions while the surgeons general of the Army, Navy, and Air Force will speak to the medical officers' conference.

Events will include ceremonies at Fort Myer, Va., a wreath laying at nearby Arlington Cemetery, and a Reserve Forces day at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. This will feature displays and demonstrations of personnel and equipment presently assigned to the U.S. reserve components.

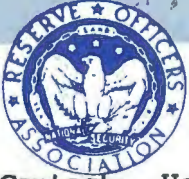

The military competitions at Fort Meade will include marksmanship shooting of the pistol, rifle, and submachine gun; obstacle course and utility swimming; and a day-long land navigation orienteering exercise against an aggressor enemy. About 200 officers are expected to participate in these competitions, both as individuals and as teams representing their parent countries.

CIOR was founded in Brussels in 1948 to promote cooperation between the NATO country reserve officers associations and to strengthen the basic solidarity of NATO. The current international president is Lieutenant Colonel Peter J. Jorgensen of Denmark. CIOR vice president for the United States is retired Army Reserve Major General Richard H. Cooper, Orlando, Fla., assisted by Army Colonel Joseph Gaston, Millersville, Md., Assistant Secretary General for the United States.

President of the medical officers' association, CIOMR, is Surgeon Commander M. J. Allwood of the United Kingdom. Chairman of the U.S. CIOMR delegation is retired Army Reserve Colonel Harry Becker, a doctor from Indianapolis, Ind.

Chairman of the congress and representing ROA as the host is retired Air Force Reserve Major General Ted W. Sorensen of LaGrange, Ill. Information on reservations for the congress is available from his CIOR/CIOMR office at 1 Constitution Ave., N.E., Washington, D.C, 20002.
