Biography

Biography

Douglas H. Paal is a former U.S. intelligence officer, diplomat, business executive and policy advocate regarding China and Asia.

Paal received a B.A. and an M.A. at Brown University in 1970 in Chinese studies and Asian history. He then was awarded a Ph.D. from Harvard University in History and East Asian languages. He has done further studies at Stanford University. Paal is fluent in Mandarin and Japanese.

Paal served with the U.S. Navy in Vietnam and Japan, where he studied the Japanese language. After leaving the military, Paal worked as a senior analyst and Deputy National Intelligence Officer for the Central Intelligence Agency, 1976-1982.

Paal then joined the Department of State's Policy Planning Staff and served briefly in the U.S. Embassies in Singapore, 1982-1984 and Beijing.

Paal was detailed to the National Security Council in 1986. Mr. Paal remained with the National Security Council until 1993, as director of Asian Affairs, senior director, and rising to the position of Senior Director for Asian Affairs and Special Assistant to former President George H.W. Bush.

After leaving government in 1993, Mr. Paal formed the Asia Pacific Policy Center, a non-profit educational institution offering brief publications on issues of interest regarding the United States and Asia as well as co-hosting international conferences. Separately, Mr. Paal performed consulting services for a number of American firms.

Paal was appointed to be the Director of the American Institute in Taiwan, Taipei in 2002. The AIT is the unofficial U.S. "embassy" for Taiwan, and the Director is appointed by the Secretary of State, Colin Powell at the time. There was some controversy over Paal's appointment and possible abuse of the non-profit status of the Asia Pacific Policy Center and its near-lobbying for many "clients." However, his appointment stood and he served in Taipei from July 2002 to January 2006.

Returning to the United States and private financial management, Paal served as Vice Chairman of JPMorgan Chase International from 2006 to 2008

Paal then joined the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace as Vice President for Studies, concentrating on Asian affairs. He is currently a non-resident scholar for the Carnegie Endowment.

From 2009 to 2017, Paal was on The Asia Foundation's Board of Trustees.

Paal has written and spoken widely on U.S. policy in Asia and Asian affairs, his articles and interviews being published and broadcast by The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, South China Morning Post, The National Interest, Korea Times, The Washington Times, Far Eastern Economic Review, RIA Novosti, World Politics Review, C-SPAN, BBC, PBS, and CCTV. He has also published numerous commentaries and policy papers through the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Paal resides with his wife, Betsy A. Fitzgerald, in Bethesda, Maryland. They have two daughters, Alice, who served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Mauritania, and Victoria, a lawyer in San Francisco.
