Biography

Biography

Eugene J McAllister is a former government official and higher education leader.

Eugene J. McAllister was born on May 20, 1952 in the Bronx, New York City, New York. He received his undergraduate degree in 1972 at Loyola University in Los Angeles, California. He earned an M.A degree at the University of California, Davis in 1976. He went on to earn a Ph.D. in economics at Catholic University in Washington, DC. During graduate school and directly following, he was the Walker Fellow in economics at the Heritage Foundation.

McAllister began his government public service at the Office of Management and Budget as a policy analyst from 1981-April 1983. In spring 1983, McAllister joined the Office of Policy Development where he remained through early 1985 and eventually became the Deputy Assistant Director for Economic Affairs. In this position, he was working closely with Roger Porter and McAllister often acted as the ad hoc executive secretary for the Cabinet Council on Economic Affairs (CCEA).

In early 1985, new Chief of Staff Donald Regan reorganized the cabinet council system of the first Reagan Administration and reduced them to two units: the Domestic Policy Council (DPC) and the Economic Policy Council (EPC). McAllister served as the Executive Secretary for the EPC for nearly all of its existence.

In April 1988, McAllister was appointed Assistant Secretary of State for Economics, Energy and Business Affairs. He remained at the State Department until nearly the end of the George H.W. Bush Administration, resigning on November 4, 1992.

Following his government service, McAllister began working on the administrative side for higher education. His first position was with the University of Jacksonville (Florida) as Vice President for Financial Affairs.

From 2003-2016, McAllister served as the President of the University of Great Falls, Montana. He oversaw the transition of Great Falls from a local institution serving mostly commuters and older students to a residential liberal arts college.

After retiring, McAllister was asked to serve as the interim president of St. John's University in Collegeville, Minnesota - a Catholic, Benedictine liberal arts college. He was initially hired for a single fiscal year, but remained for two years until June of

McAllister has now retired and returned to his family in Montana.
