Biography

Robert E. Linhard was an Air Force major general and special assistant to the Air Force chief of staff, and a public official in the Reagan Administration.

Linhard was born in 1947 in the Bronx, N.Y. He earned a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in English from Fordham University. After receiving a commission in June 1968, he entered active duty in April 1969 as a TITAN II launch officer. He has been a Minuteman airborne missile launch officer, flying in EC-135s, an Air Staff training officer in the directorate of concepts, and a strategic force planner on the Joint Staff.

In addition to his Air Force positions, Linhard also earned three more graduate degrees, a 1973 M.A. degree in public administration at the University of Oklahoma, Norman and a 1975 M.A. degree in business management, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley and a 1979 M.A. degree in political science, Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.

In late 1981, Linhard was detailed to the White House National Security Council staff as the Director of the Defense Programs and Arms Control Directorate, NSC, ultimately commissioned as a White House officer, Special Assistant to the President for Nuclear Issues and Arms Control. He participated at U.S.-Soviet summit meetings in Geneva; Reykjavik, Iceland; Washington; and Moscow and was co-chairman of the U.S. delegation that established joint U.S.-Soviet nuclear-risk-reduction centers.

Later posts took him to Minot Air Force Base, N.D., where he commanded the 57th Air Division, and to assignments as deputy chief of staff for plans and resources and director of plans and policy of the Strategic Air Command. He returned to Washington in 1994 as plans director and deputy chief of staff for plans and operations at Air Force headquarters. Two days before his death, he had taken up a post as special assistant for long-range plans to the Air Force chief of staff.

Robert E. Linhard died after suffering a heart attack at his home in Oakton, VA on August 3, 1996. He was 49 years old.

Linhard was married and had one daughter and grandchildren.
